S. CHAND'S Seal of Trust

In our endeavour to protect you against counterfeit/fake books we have put a Hologram Sticker on the cover of some of our fast moving titles. The hologram displays a unique 3D multi-level, multi-colour effect of our logo from different angles when tilted or properly illuminated under a single source of light.

Background artwork seems to be "under" or "behind" the logo, giving the illusion of depth. A fake hologram does not give any illusion of depth.

PREFACE

Encouraged and enthused by the popularity of our books among the candidates appearing in various competitive examinations, and a continuous demand from them for bringing out a book of similar nature on Objective General English, prompted us to take up this project.

The subject matter in this book is comprehensive, rigorous and yet very simple. Even an average student will find no difficulty in understanding the various concepts.

The book has been divided into six units, namely :

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|----------------------------|
| I. Vocabulary Usage | IV. Error Detection |
| II. Comprehension Ability | V. Rearrangement |
| III. Selecting Phrases / words | VI. General Usage |

The salient features of the book are :

- Its coverage of all types of questions asked in various entrance examinations.
- Huge collection of practisable questions (over 10,000).
- References given on memory basis shall help to know the types of questions being asked in various competitive examinations.

The requirements of the candidates has been a major factor kept in mind during the compilation of this book. We are sure that the book will serve the purpose of leading the readers to success.

For taking all pains and interest in the publication of this book, we are thankful to Shri Ravindra Kumar Gupta (Director) & Shri T.N. Goel (Manager), S. Chand & Company Ltd., New Delhi. For good type-setting we are thankful to Mr. Amit Maheshwari, Director of Brilliant Computers, Meerut.

One of the authors Monika Aggarwal conveys her gratitude to husband Devendra and son Kunal for their kind co-operation during the project.

Dr. Aggarwal conveys his sincere thanks to his son Vikas Aggarwal for working day and night with him to complete the project.

1. SYNONYMS

What are Synonyms ?

Words with nearly the same meaning but used differently, are called Synonyms.

Example : Abstain and Refrain are two words that seem very nearly the same. But, we abstain from a thing and refrain from a habit or an action.

The following sentences make it clear.

- (i) We should abstain from wine.
- (ii) We should refrain from drinking.

TYPE 1 : CHOOSING THE CORRECT SYNONYM OF THE GIVEN WORD

In this type of questions, generally a word is given, followed by four or five alternatives. The candidate is required to choose the word which is nearest in meaning to the given word.

Example 1 : Choose the correct synonym of the given word :

IMPLICATE

- (a) Include (b) Entreat (c) Suggest (d) Imply

Solution : The word 'Implicate' may be used in a sentence as :

The man implicated him falsely in the case.

Clearly, the word means 'involve' or 'include'.

Hence, the answer is (a).

Example 2 : Choose the word which best expresses the meaning of the given word :

DILIGENT

- (a) Intelligent (b) Difficult (c) Laborious (d) Quick

Solution : 'Diligent' means 'hard-working'. So, another word for it could be 'Laborious'. Hence, the answer is (c).

2. ANTONYMS

What are Antonyms ?

A word which is opposite in meaning to the given word is called its Antonym.

Example : The word 'Autonomy' means 'Independence'.

So, its antonym would be 'Dependence'.

TYPE 1 : CHOOSING THE CORRECT ANTONYM OF THE GIVEN WORD

In this type of questions, generally a word is given, followed by four or five alternatives. The candidate is required to choose the word which is nearest to the opposite in meaning of the given word.

Example : Choose the correct antonym of the given word :

OBSCURE

- (a) Pedantic (b) Implicit (c) Explicit (d) Obnoxious

Solution : 'Obscure' means 'secret'. So, the antonym would be 'Explicit'.

Hence, the answer is (c).

3. VOCABULARY TEST

This section deals with questions on general vocabulary. In this type of questions, a word is given, followed by some alternatives. The candidate is required to choose either the synonym or the antonym, whichever is present, for the given word from among the alternatives provided.

Directions : Pick out the word that is either most nearly the same in meaning or opposite of the word printed in capitals.

Ex. 1. EXHORT

- (a) Condemn (b) Urge (c) Prevent (d) Waste

Sol. Clearly, 'urge' is a synonym of 'exhort'.

Hence, the answer is (b).

Ex. 2. ERUDITE

- (a) Unfamiliar (b) Illiterate (c) Unknown (d) Ignorant

Sol. 'Erudite' means 'Knowledgeable'.

So, its antonym is 'ignorant'.

Hence, the answer is (d).

PRACTICE SET 1

Directions : In each question below, a word is given in capitals. Against this word there are some alternatives, one of which is either same in meaning (synonym) or opposite in meaning (antonym) of the word printed in BOLD TYPE. Find out which of the given alternatives is either a synonym or an antonym of the word printed in capitals.

7. COMPREHENSION—I (Long Passages)

To comprehend means 'to understand and grasp'. A comprehension exercise is, therefore, meant to test a candidate's ability to understand and retain the contents of a given passage.

Trend of Questions :

In this type of questions, generally a long passage consisting of certain paragraphs is given, followed by 10—15 questions based on it. The questions may be based on :

- (i) Theme of the passage
- (ii) Choosing the correct or wrong statement on the basis of the given passage
- (iii) View of the author regarding the main point discussed in the passage
- (iv) Synonyms or Antonyms of some selected words in the passage.

Technique of Solving :

1. Read the passage carefully once and detect its theme.
2. Note what the questions are about.
3. Answer the questions.

*In questions on Synonyms & Antonyms, what is to be remembered is that the answer is to be given according to the sense in which the word has been used in the passage, not just on the basis of its literal meaning.

Example : Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

Nature is like business. Business sense dictates that we guard our capital and live from the interest. Nature's capital is the enormous diversity of living things. Without it, we cannot feed ourselves, cure ourselves of illness or provide industry with the raw materials of wealth creation. Professor Edward Wilson, of Harvard University says, "The folly our descendants are least likely to forgive us is the ongoing loss of genetic and species diversity. This will take millions of years to correct."

Only 150 plant species have ever been widely cultivated. Yet over 75,000 edible plants are known in the wild. In a hungry world, with a population growing by 90 million each year, so much wasted potential is tragic. Medicines from the wild are worth around 40 billion dollars a year. Over 5000 species are known to yield chemical with cancer fighting potential. Scientists currently estimate that the total number of species in the world is between 10—30 million with only around 1.4 million identified.

The web of life is torn when mankind exploits natural resources in short-sighted ways. The trade in tropical hardwoods can destroy whole forests to extract just a few commercially attractive specimens. Bad agricultural practice triggers 24 billion tonnes of top soil erosion a year losing the equivalent of 9 million tonnes of grain output. Cutting this kind of unsuitable exploitation and instituting "sustainable utilisation" will help turn the environmental crisis around.

1. Why does the author compare 'nature' to business?
 - (a) Because of the capital depletion in nature and business
 - (b) Because of the similarity with which one should use both
 - (c) Because of the same interest level yield
 - (d) Because of the diversity of the various capital inputs
2. "The folly our descendants are least likely to forgive us." What is the business equivalent of the folly the author is referring to?
 - (a) Reducing the profit margin
 - (b) Not pumping some money out of profits into the business.
 - (c) Eroding the capital lease of the business
 - (d) Putting interest on capital back into the business
3. Which of the following statements is false in context of the given passage?
 - (a) The diversity of plant life is essential for human existence.
 - (b) Scientists know the usefulness of most plant species.
 - (c) Chemicals for cancer treatment are available from plants.

- (d) There are around ten times the plant species undiscovered as compared to the discovered ones.
4. Which of the following correctly reflects the opinion of the author to take care of hunger in the world?
- (a) Increase the number of edible plants being cultivated.
 (b) Increase cultivation of the 150 species presently under cultivation.
 (c) Increase the cultivation of medical plants.
 (d) Increase the potential of the uncultivated edible plants?
5. Which of the following is mentioned as the immediate cause for the destruction of plant species?
- (a) Soil Erosion (b) Destruction of habitat
 (c) Cultivation (d) Agricultural practices

Directions : Choose the word which is nearly same in meaning to the given word as used in the passage.

6. WASTED
 (a) Consumed (b) Squandered
 (c) Unutilised (d) Unprofitable
7. TRIGGERS
 (a) Starts (b) Makes
 (c) Results (d) Causes
8. WORTH
 (a) Cost (b) Purchase
 (c) Deserving (d) Sell

Directions : Choose the word which is nearly opposite in meaning to the given word as used in the passage.

9. CUTTING
 (a) Uniting (b) Increasing
 (c) Joining (d) Combining
10. GUARD
 (a) Demolish (b) Relieve
 (c) Consume (d) Release

Solution :

1. (b) : According to the author, just as in business, capital is kept safe and its interest is utilised, similarly man should increase the potential of available diversity for his benefit and not destroy the bounties of nature.
2. (c) : Same clue as Q. 1.
3. (b) : The author's statement that some plant varieties are edible, some have medicinal uses, some varieties yield cancer fighting drugs, uses, some varieties yield cancer fighting drugs etc. Confirms (a).
 The author's statement that over 5000 species are known to yield chemical with cancer fighting potential verifies (c).
 According to the passage, the total number of plant species is 10-30 million and that of those identified is 1.4 million. Thus, (d) is correct.
4. (d) : The author says that out of 75,000 edible plant species, only 150 are cultivated. So, to take care of hunger in the world, the potential of uncultivated edible species should be increased.
5. (b) : The last paragraph of the passage gives us the answer
6. (c) : The author talks about cultivating only 150 species out of 75,000 as 'wasted potential'. Thus, 'wasted' means 'utilised'.
7. (d) : 'Triggers' as used in third paragraph means 'causes'.
8. (c) : 'worth' as used in second paragraph means 'deserving'.
9. (b) : 'Cutting' as used in last sentence means 'reducing'. So, opposite of it is 'increasing'.

10. (a) : 'Guard' as used in first paragraph means 'protect'. So, opposite of it is 'demolish'.

PRACTICE SET

Directions : Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words/phrases in the passage are printed in italics to help you to locate them while answering some of the questions.

Today the import duty on a complete machine is 35% for all practical purposes, whereas the import duty on the raw materials and components ranges from 40% to 85%. The story does not end here. After paying such high import duties on components, once a machine is made, it suffers excise duty from 5% to 10% (including on the customs duty already paid). At the time of sale, the machine tools suffer further taxation, i.e., central sales tax or state sales taxes which range from 4% to 16%. This much for the tax angle. Another factor which pushes the cost of manufacture of machine tools is the very high rate of interest payable to banks ranging, upto 22%, as against 4%-7% prevailing in advanced countries.

The production of machine tools in India being not of the same scale as it is in other countries, the price which India's machine tools builders have to pay for components is more or less based on pattern of high pricing applicable to the prices of spares. The above represents only a few of the extraneous reasons for the high cost of Indian machines.

The machine tool industry in India has an enviable record of very quick technology absorption, assimilation and development. There are a number of success stories about how machine tool builders were of help at the most critical times. It will be a pity, in fact a tragedy, if we allow this industry to die and disappear from the scene.

It is to be noted that India is at least 6000 km away from any dependable source of supply of machine tools. The Government of India has always given a great deal of importance to the development of small scale and medium scale industries. This industry has also performed pretty well. Today, they are in need of help from India's machine tool industry to enable them to produce quality components at reduced costs. Is it anybody's case that the needs of this fragile sector (which needs tender care) will be met from 6000 km away?

Then, what is it that the industry requests from the Government? It wants level playing field. In fact, all of us must have a deep introspection and recognise the fact that the machine tool industry has a very special place in the country from the point of strategic and vital interests of the nation. Most important, it requests for the Govt's consideration and understanding.

- According to the passage, assembling imported components into machines proves ultimately
 - cheaper than importing complete machine
 - costlier than importing machine
 - more cost effective than importing machine
 - on par with the cost of imported machine
 - a very stupendous and unmanageable task
- According to the passage, all the following factors are responsible for high cost of Indian machines except
 - higher import duty on spares
 - excise duty
 - bank's rate of interest on loans for manufacture
 - high profit margin expected by manufacturers
 - sales tax
- If the bank's rate of interest in India is made on par with that in advanced countries, the cost of manufacture of machine tools
 - may go up by about 4 to 7%
 - may increase by about 22%
 - may decrease by about 4 to 7%
 - may decrease by about 15 to 18%
 - will remain the same due to import duty
- The availability of Indian machine tool industries' help to small scale industry is most likely to result into

- (a) increase in the demand of imported machine tools
 (b) deterioration in the quality of components manufactured by them
 (c) further increase in the customs duty on imported machines
 (d) enhancement in the quality and quantity of their production at a cheaper cost
 (e) severe competition among the small and medium scale industries
5. Which of the following is true in the context of the passage?
 (a) India's machine tool industry has a praise-worthy record of performance.
 (b) In critical times, the machine tool builders allowed the industry to perish.
 (c) In the case of machines, the excise duty is levied only on the cost price.
 (d) India's quantum of production of machine tools is more than that of other advanced countries.
 (e) None of these
6. The disparity in the quantum of machine production in India and that in other countries leads to
 (a) the development of small scale and medium scale industries
 (b) lethargy in the process of absorption and assimilation of new technology
 (c) a need to pay higher for components and spares.
 (d) overproduction of machines as compared to the actual need.
 (e) the necessity to export the machine from India to other countries
7. Which of the following statements is definitely true in the context of the passage?
 A. The vital role of India's machine tool industry has not been duly recognised by the Government.
 B. Small scale industries' performance can be further improved with the help from Indian machine tool industry.
 C. The author of the passage has not discussed all the factors which are responsible for high cost of Indian machines.
 (a) A & B (b) A & C (c) B & C
 (d) All of these (e) None of these
8. Which of the following best explains the sentence 'It wants a level playing field' as
- used in the passage? The machine tool industry in India
 (a) wants to adopt novel marketing strategies for sale promotion
 (b) seeks to have small scale industry as its patron
 (c) needs freedom to import the desired components at a low cost
 (d) needs land for opening more factories
 (e) None of these
9. Why do small and medium scale industries look for help from India's machine tool industry?
 (a) To produce low cost components without dilution in quality
 (b) To produce cheaper components notwithstanding the poor quality
 (c) To remain in Governments' focus of attention
 (d) To improve their poor financial status
 (e) None of these
10. Which of the following inferences can be drawn from the content of the passage?
 (a) The Govt. of India has duly recognised the role of machine tool industry.
 (b) Levying heavy custom duty is absolutely necessary.
 (c) The Govt. of India was not considerate to the difficulties faced by machine tool industry.
 (d) India should not waste its precious resources on the production of machine tools.
 (e) Banks in other countries are running in loss owing to a low interest rate.
11. Which of the following is the principal focus of the content of the passage?
 (a) Reduction in rate of interest on loans to machine tool industry
 (b) Indian machine tool industry and its vital role in country's development
 (c) Encouragement to small and middle scale industries
 (d) Unrealistic strategy of development of technology
 (e) Exorbitant sales tax

Passage 2

Motivations for ruralism in under developed countries are understandably different from those in developed countries. There, it is a sheer physical necessity for the very act of man's survival. In the Third World countries, which are predominantly rural, the only lever that can lift human life above its present subhuman level, is rural development. Rural life in such countries has been stagnating for centuries on end. Nothing worthwhile has been done to ameliorate the conditions of the rural population which is only slightly different from that of their quadruped counterparts. Ignorance, ill health and poverty have become synonyms of rural life in the undeveloped and underdeveloped countries. But the worst tragedy is that the concerned human populations have taken this state of affairs for granted, as something unalterable, something for which there is no remedy. Every ray of hope has gone out of their lives. In such countries, Rural Development is the inevitable condition of any material or non-material advancement. As such, enlightened sections of all such countries have been taking ever growing interest in the question of Rural Development.

This was also part of the legacy of their freedom struggle. In countries like India, it is well-known that attempts at Rural Development were an inseparable part of the Independence movement. Leaders like Gandhiji realised quite well that Real India lived in her stagnating villages. Cities, which were mostly the products of Western colonialism, were just artificial showpieces. Even there, there were two worlds. The posh areas, where the affluent few, mostly the products and custodians of imperial interest lived, were little islands engulfed by the vast ocean of dirt, represented by the vast majority of people.

Cities were by no means unknown to India, but in ancient India, they were integral parts, organically related to the rest of the country and society. But, modern cities are exotic centres of commercial and industrial exploitation. Cities in ancient India were the flowers of cultural and artistic excellence of the nation, modern cities are just parasites, preying on and debilitating the country.

Hence, Gandhiji started the 'Go to Village Movement' which alone, according to him, could bring freedom to India and sustain it. Rural Development had the pride of place in his strategy for the nation's freedom. Thus, it had its origin in the freedom struggle.

1. People are taking growing interest in Rural Development because
 (a) nothing worthwhile can be done in the near future.
 (b) they have now become optimistic about it.
 (c) they have realised the indispensability of it.
 (d) they have been suffering from severe health problems.
2. Which of the following is the 'lever' according to the passage?
 (a) Upliftment of the rural masses
 (b) Enlightenment of certain sections of the society
 (c) Non-material advancement
 (d) Stagnation of rural life
3. Which of the following is the worst tragedy according to the author?
 (a) Lack of realisation of the importance of rural development
 (b) Exploitation of the rural people by the city-dwellers
 (c) The subhuman condition of the people
 (d) The pessimism of the rural people about their own conditions.
4. Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
 (a) Most of the rich people dwelling in modern cities are genuinely concerned about rural development.
 (b) Rural development is a pre-requisite of any other advancement and progress.
 (c) The rural folk in the Third World countries feel that their subhuman condition cannot be improved.
 (d) Only rural development can raise the standard of living of people in the Third World countries.
5. Rural Development was considered as a part of India's freedom movement because
 (a) Gandhiji was against the Western colonialism.
 (b) real India was then under the British rule.
 (c) imperial interest lived only in villages.
 (d) the country comprised of mainly villages.
6. The standard of living of human beings in the Third World countries is

- (a) subhuman despite best efforts for improvement
 (b) not far better than that of animals
 (c) improving very rapidly
 (d) immune to any improvement
7. In which of the following aspects were the ancient Indian cities different from the modern ones?
 (a) Wealth (b) Growing population
 (c) Trade and Commerce
 (d) Oneness with the society
 (e) Posh localities
8. Which of the following best describes the two divergent worlds of the modern cities?
 (a) Commercial and industrial exploitation
 (b) Patrons of western products and custodians of imperial interests
 (c) A few rich people and many poor people
 (d) Posh area and affluent people
9. Which of the following statements is true in the context of the passage?
 (a) The rural folk are very optimistic about improvement in their condition.
 (b) In the present context, ignorance, poverty and ill health are inseparable parts of rural life.
 (c) Most of the Third World countries are undergoing fast urbanisation.
 (d) India's struggle for freedom has been considered as a part of rural development.

Directions (Questions 10-12) :

Choose the word which is most nearly the same in meaning as the given word as used in the passage.

10. PREDOMINANTLY
 (a) extra-ordinarily (b) mostly
 (c) forcefully (d) undoubtedly
11. ENLIGHTENED
 (a) clearly visible (b) shining brightly
 (c) economically privileged
 (d) fully awakened
12. SECTIONS
 (a) groups of people
 (b) combination of units
 (c) collection of thoughts
 (d) assembly of spectators

Directions (Questions 13-15) :

Choose the word which is opposite in meaning to the given word as used in the passage.

13. AMELIORATE
 (a) Expedite (b) Hasten

- (c) Worsen (d) Lessen
14. ENGULFED
 (a) Disfigured (b) Dislocated
 (c) Different (d) Detached
15. DEBILITATING
 (a) Inhabiting (b) Strengthening
 (c) Enfeebling (d) Occupying

Passage 3 (Bank P.O. 1994)

Although cynics may like to see the government's policy for women in terms of the party's internal power struggles, it will nevertheless be churlish to deny that it represents a pioneering effort aimed at bringing about sweeping social reforms. In its language, scope and strategies, the policy document displays a degree of understanding of women's needs that is uncommon in government pronouncements. This is due in large part to the participatory process that marked its formulation, seeking the active involvement right from the start of women's groups, academic institutions and non-government organisations with grass roots experience. The result is not just a lofty declaration of principles but a blueprint for a practical programme of action. The policy delineates a series of concrete measures to accord women a decision-making role in the political domain and greater control over their economic status. Of especially far-reaching impact are the devolution of control of economic infrastructure to women, notably at the gram panchayat level, and the amendments proposed in the Hindu Succession Act of 1956 to give women coparcenary rights.

An enlightened aspect of the policy is its recognition that actual change in the status of women can not be brought about by the mere enactment of socially progressive legislation. Accordingly, it focusses on reorienting development programmes and sensitising administrations to address specific situations as, for instance, the growing number of households headed by women, which is a consequence of rural-urban migration. The proposal to create an equal-opportunity police force and give women greater control of police stations is an acknowledgement of the biases and callousness displayed by the generally all-male law-enforcement authorities in cases of dowry and domestic violence. While the mere enunciation of such a policy has the salutary effect of sensitising the administration as a whole, it does not make the task of its implementation any easier. This is because the changes it envisages in the political and economic status of women strike at the root of power structures in society and the basis of man-woman relationships. There is also the danger that reservation for women in public life, while necessary for their greater visibility, could lapse into tokenism or become a tool in the hands of vote seeking politicians. Much will depend on the dissemination of the policy and the ability of elected representatives and government agencies to reorder their priorities.

1. Which of the following can be inferred from the passage?
 (a) Most of the government's policies are formulated through participatory process.
 (b) There is need for stricter legislation.
 (c) The policy recommends reservation for women.
 (d) Domestic violence is on the rise.
 (e) Women already had coparcenary rights.
2. Which of the following is true about the policy?
 (a) This is another pronouncement by the government.
 (b) It is a pioneering effort.
 (c) It is not based on the understanding of woman's needs.
 (d) It has made many big declarations.
 (e) In its formulation, participatory approach was not followed.
3. According to the passage, which of the following is a consequence of rural-urban migration?
 (a) Legislation is not enforced properly.
 (b) Many women migrate to urban areas leaving their family in the rural areas.
 (c) Industries do not get sufficient manpower in rural areas.
 (d) Development programmes are not effective.
 (e) None of the above
4. Which of the following is one of the far-reaching impacts of the policy?
 (a) Give women coparcenary rights
 (b) Reservation for women
 (c) Creating an equal-opportunity police force
- (d) Accord women a decision making role in political sphere
 (e) None of the above
5. According to the passage which of the following is not true?
 (a) The policy gives a blue print for programme of action.
 (b) The women should be given greater control of police stations.
 (c) There is no law-enforcement bias in cases of dowry.
 (d) For effective implementation, the government agencies will have to reorder their priorities.
 (e) The policy is based on the understanding of the needs of women.
6. Which of the following has the danger of becoming a token?
 (a) Socially progressive legislation
 (b) Policy for women
 (c) Coparcenary rights to women
 (d) Man-woman relationships
 (e) Reservation for women
7. Which of the following is opposite in meaning to 'lofty' as used in the passage?
 (a) Sublimated (b) Humble
 (c) Inferior (d) Exalted
 (e) Undignified
8. Which of the following words is the most opposite in meaning to 'sweeping' as used in the passage?
 (a) Limited (b) Half-hearted
 (c) Acceptable (d) Incomplete
 (e) Inconclusive
9. Which of the following is nearly the same in meaning as the word 'devolution' as used in the passage?
 (a) Relegation (b) Succession
 (c) Deployment (d) Decentralisation
 (e) Revolution
10. Which of the following words is most nearly the same in meaning as the word 'enunciation' as used in the passage?
 (a) Suggestion (b) Formulation
 (c) Recommendation (d) Proclamation
 (e) Recognition
11. According to the passage, which of the following aspects has been identified as, it alone would not bring change in the status of women?
 (a) Coparcenary rights to women
 (b) Decision making role in political area
 (c) Greater control over economic status
 (d) Creating equal-opportunity police force

- (e) Enactment of socially progressive legislation
12. Which of the following is the most nearly the same in meaning to 'callousness' as used in the passage?
 (a) Prejudice (b) Insensitivity
 (c) Obliquities (d) Casual
 (e) Superiority
13. Which of the following is nearly the same in meaning to the word 'delineates' as used in the passage?
 (a) Discusses (b) Demarcates
 (c) Suggests (d) Outlines
 (e) Propagates
14. At which stage were the grass-root level organisations involved for the policy?
 (a) After the interim report
 (b) From the start
 (c) At the final stages
 (d) Not mentioned in the passage
 (e) None of these
15. According to the passage, which of the following is the basic block in the effective implementation of the policy?
 (a) Prevalent power structure in society
 (b) Inadequate legislation
 (c) Insensitive administration
 (d) Lack of political will
 (e) Male dominated law-enforcing authorities.

Passage 4

A great deal of discussion continues as to the real extent of global environmental degradation and its implications. What few people challenge however, is that the renewable natural resources of developing countries are today subject to stresses of unprecedented magnitude. These pressures are brought about, in part, by increased population and the quest for an ever expanding food supply. Because the health, nutrition and general well-being of the poor majority are directly dependent on the integrity and productivity of their natural resources, the capability of governments to manage them effectively over the long term becomes of paramount importance.

Developing countries are becoming more aware of the ways in which present and future economic development must build upon a sound and sustainable natural resource base. Some are looking at our long tradition in environmental protection and are receptive to US assistance which recognises the uniqueness of the social and ecological systems in these tropical countries. Developing countries recognise the need to improve their capability to analyse issues and their own natural resource management. In February 1981, for example AID funded a National Academy of Sciences panel to advise Nepal on their severe natural resource degradation problems. Some countries such as Senegal, India, Indonesia and Thailand, are now including conservation concerns in their economic development planning process.

Because so many governments of developing nations have recognised the importance of these issues, the need today is not merely one of raising additional consciousness, but for carefully designed and sharply focussed activities aimed at the establishment of effective resource management regimes that are essential to the achievement of sustained development.

1. Some of the developing countries of Asia and Africa have
 (a) formulated very ambitious plans of protecting habitat in the region
 (b) laid a great stress on the conservation of natural resources in their educational endeavour
 (c) carefully dovetailed environmental conservation with the overall strategy of planned economic development
 (d) sought the help of US experts in solving the problem of environmental degradation
2. Technical know-how developed in the USA
 (a) cannot be easily assimilated by the technocrats of the developing countries
 (b) can be properly utilised on the basis of developing countries being able to launch an in-depth study of their specific problems
 (c) can be easily borrowed by the developing countries to solve the problem of environmental degradation
 (d) can be very effective in solving the problem of resource management in tropical countries
3. There has been a pronounced deterioration of habitat all over the globe because of

- (a) rigorous operation of the Malthusian principle
 (b) unprecedented urbanisation and dislocation of self contained rural communities
 (c) optimum degree of industrialisation in the developing countries
 (d) large scale deforestation and desertification
4. The poor people of the developing world can lead a happy and contented life if
 (a) there is a North-South dialogue and aid flows freely to the developing world.
 (b) industries based on agriculture are widely developed.
 (c) economic development takes place within the ambit of conservation of natural resources.
 (d) there is an assured supply of food and medical care.
5. How much environmental pollution has taken place in the developing and the developed world?
 (a) There has been a marginal pollution of environment in the developed world and extensive damage in the developing world.
 (b) There has been a considerable pollution of environment all over the globe.
 (c) There has been an extensive environmental degradation both in the developed and the developing world.
 (d) The environmental pollution that has taken place all over the globe continues to be a matter of speculation and enquiry.

(Bank P.O. 1994)

A leading Indian industrialist in a recent article on ways to strengthen India's economy has drawn attention to the problems of inflation and industrial sickness among other things. One of the main reasons for industrial sickness in our country has been the fact that business and industrial managers, have not been able to look beyond the immediate future. They have been too preoccupied with their attempts to report favourable results for the current year - higher profits and larger dividends to the share holders. The planning horizon has hardly ever exceeded five years. Investments have been inadequate for new plants and towards diversification and expansions. Modernisation and asset creation has seriously lagged behind. In business, growth is needed for survival; one has to grow if one does not want to be wiped out. This is particularly true today with liberalisation of imports and increasing competition. More over, growth and higher productivity create employment and higher employment creates larger markets both for industrial and consumer products. It was Henry Ford who brought home the need for the creation of a larger and a more stable middle class, that is, a larger number of people who can afford more and more of goods and services. Even after forty years of independence our industrialists have not been able to shed the petty shopkeeper's mentality and our highly educated management has tagged along merrily and without concern. (Bank P.O. 1994)

1. Which of the following short comings of Indian industrialists has been highlighted by the author?
 (a) They invest unreasonable high amount on diversification and expansion.
 (b) They are more concerned for immediate net gains than for developmental activities.
 (c) They are reluctant to maintain the shopkeeper mentality.
 (d) They are less concerned for payment of dividends to shareholders.
 (e) None of the above
2. The leading industrialist attributes industrial sickness mainly to
 (a) lacunae in five-year plans
 (b) preoccupations of managers with matters unrelated to business
 (c) higher profits and larger dividends to shareholders
 (d) lack of foresight among managers
 (e) inflation and other economic problems
3. According to the passage, growth and increasing productivity lead to
 (a) imposition of restrictions on imports
 (b) employment and thus provide an outlet to industrial and consumer products
 (c) encouragement to export of excess consumer goods
 (d) disproportionate surplus of commodities

- (e) None of the above
4. Why did Henry Ford stress the need for a more stable middle class?
 - (a) They are mostly service oriented.
 - (b) They do not have shopkeeper mentality.
 - (c) They can afford to buy more and more expensive goods.
 - (d) They are most unstable.
 - (e) None of these
 5. The 'planning horizon has hardly ever exceeded five years' implies
 - (a) Planning should not be for a period of less than five years.
 - (b) The planning process is very time consuming.
 - (c) The planners are not inclined to think of future.
 - (d) Planning should take care of all probable ups and downs in the next five-year period.
 - (e) Five-year period is too short for successful implementation of plans.
 6. According to the passage, the net gains pursued by managers are at the cost of
 - (a) Diversification, modernisation and asset creation
 - (b) Availability of markets for industrial and consumer products
 - (c) Inflation and industrial sickness
 - (d) Liberalisation of imports and increasing competition
 - (e) Higher profits and larger dividends to shareholders
 7. In order to improve the condition of Indian industries, the industrialist should do all of the following except
 - (a) giving up the narrow mentality which very small shopkeepers generally have
 - (b) striving to earn long term profits
 - (c) encouraging competition from industrialists within the country and from abroad
 - (d) resorting to long-term planning for industrial growth and expansion in diverse fields
 - (e) adopting strategies for diversification and modernisation

Passage 6

The public distribution system, which provides food at low prices, is a subject of vital concern. There is a growing realisation that though India has enough food to feed its masses two square meals a day, the monster of starvation and food insecurity continues to haunt the poor in our country.

Increasing the purchasing power of the poor through providing productive employment leading to rising income, and thus good standard of living is the ultimate objective of public policy. However, till then, there is a need to provide assured supply of food through a restructured, more efficient and decentralised public distribution system (PDS).

Although the PDS is extensive—it is one of the largest such systems in the world—it has yet to reach the rural poor and the far off places. It remains an urban phenomenon, with the majority of the rural poor still out of its reach due to lack of economic and physical access. The poorest in the cities and the migrants are left out, for they generally do not possess ration cards. The allocation of PDS supplies in big cities is larger than in rural areas. In view of such deficiencies in the system, the PDS urgently needs to be streamlined. Also, considering the large foodgrains production combined with food subsidy on one hand and the continuing slow starvation and dismal poverty of the rural population on the other, there is a strong case for making PDS target group oriented.

The growing salaried class is provided job security, regular income, and social security. It enjoys almost hundred percent insulation against inflation. These gains of development have not percolated down to the vast majority of our working population. If one compares only dearness allowance to the employees in public and private sector and looks at its growth in the past few years, the rising food subsidy is insignificant to the point of inequity. The food subsidy is a kind of D.A. to the poor, the self-employed and those in the unorganised sector of the economy. However, what is most unfortunate is that out of the large budget of the so called food subsidy, the major part of it is administrative cost and wastages. A small portion of the above budget goes to the real consumer and an even lesser portion to the poor who are in real need.

It is true that subsidies should not become a permanent feature, except for the destitute, disabled widows and the old. It is also true that subsidies often create a psychology of dependence and hence is habit-forming, killing the general initiative of the people. By making PDS target group oriented, not only the poorest and neediest would be reached without additional cost, but it will actually cut overall costs incurred on large cities and for better off localities. When the food and food subsidy are limited, the rural and urban poor should have the priority in the PDS supplies. The PDS should be closely linked with programmes of employment generation and nutrition improvement.

1. Which of the following is the main reason for insufficient supply of enough food to the poorest?
 - (a) Mismanagement of foodstocks
 - (b) Absence of proper public distribution system
 - (c) Production of food is less than the demand
 - (d) Government's apathy towards the poor
 - (e) None of these
2. What, according to the passage, is the main purpose of public policy in the long run?
 - (a) Reducing the cost of living index by increasing supplies
 - (b) Providing enough food to all the citizens
 - (c) Good standard of living through productive employment
 - (d) Equalising per capita income across different strata of society
 - (e) None of these
3. Which of the following is true of public distribution system?
 - (a) It has improved its effectiveness over the years.
 - (b) It has remained effective only in the cities.
 - (c) It is the unique in the world because of its effectiveness.
 - (d) It has reached the remotest corner of the country.
 - (e) None of these
4. The word 'square' as used in the passage means
 - (a) rich
 - (b) sumptuous
 - (c) sufficient
 - (d) quality
 - (e) None of these
5. Which of the following words is the same in meaning as 'power' as used in the passage?
 - (a) vigour
 - (b) energy
 - (c) influence
 - (d) capacity
6. What, according to the passage, is the main concern about the PDS?
 - (a) It has not been able to develop confidence in the people at large.
 - (b) It has not been able to utilise the entire foodgrains stock available.
 - (c) It has effectively channelized the foodgrains to all sectors.
 - (d) It has not been able to provide sufficient food to the poorer section of the society.
 - (e) None of these
7. What should be an appropriate step to make the PDS effective?
 - (a) To make it target group oriented
 - (b) To increase the amount of food grains per ration card
 - (c) To decrease the allotment of foodgrains to urban sector
 - (d) To reduce administrative cost
 - (e) To increase the amount of foodgrains available for distribution
8. Which of the following, according to the passage, is compared with dearness allowance?
 - (a) Food for work programme
 - (b) Unemployment allowance
 - (c) Food subsidy
 - (d) Procurement price of food grains
 - (e) Poverty Alleviation Programme
9. Food subsidy leads to which of the following?
 - (a) Sense of insecurity
 - (b) Increased dependence
 - (c) Shortage of foodgrains
 - (d) Decrease in foodgrains production
 - (e) None of these
10. What, according to the passage, would be the outcome of making the PDS target group oriented?
 - (a) It will abolish the imbalance of urban and rural sector.
 - (b) It will remove poverty.
 - (c) It will give food to the poorest without additional cost.
 - (d) It will motivate the target group population to work more.
11. Which is the same in meaning as 'system' as used in the passage?
 - (a) routine
 - (b) mechanism
 - (c) machine
 - (d) procedure
 - (e) collection
12. Which, according to the passage, consumes the major part of the allocated food subsidy?
 - A. Urban population
 - B. High administrative cost
 - C. Wastage
 - (a) A only
 - (b) A & B
 - (c) B & C

- (d) B or C (e) A & C
13. What does 'cut', as used in the passage, mean?
 (a) damage (b) cease
 (c) destroy (d) reduce
 (e) none of these
14. Which is the same in meaning as the word 'point'?
 (a) extent (b) direct
 (c) tip (d) position
 (e) none of these
15. The author's writing style is
 (a) simplistic (b) argumentative
 (c) verbose (d) descriptive
 (e) analytic

Passage 7 (Bank P.O. 1995)

Amnesty International's charge that 'tens of thousands' of political prisoners, including prisoners of conscience, are languishing in Indian jails and that prisoners are routinely tortured in this country has to be seen in a much wider context than the organisation's annual report cares to do. In its overall appraisal of 151 countries, Amnesty has accused 112 of torturing prisoners, 63 of harbouring prisoners of conscience, 61 of resorting to political killings and 53 of detaining people without a trial. Of these apparently overlapping categories, India seems to have been excluded from the list of the 61 which undertake political killings. The report has however, pointed out that scores of people in India die of torture in police and military custody and that many also simply disappear. Clearly, only a thin line separates the 61 charged with political murder from the rest. Before coming to such conclusions, however, it may also be necessary to classify the various countries according to their political systems. Torture by the security forces and killings at the behest of the government make no difference to the victims whether they are in a democratic country or a totalitarian one. It is also nobody's case that a democratic country is less culpable than a dictatorship in the event of human rights violations. But the point perhaps still needs to be made that torture or 'disappearances' represent a failure of the system in a democracy in contrast to being an integral part of state policy in a country ruled by an autocrat who is answerable to no one.

India may be guilty of keeping 'tens of thousands' behind bars and of the other human rights abuses mentioned by Amnesty, but it still remains a qualitatively different place from a totalitarian country. It is in this respect that Amnesty has been less than fair. It has chosen to ignore the distinctions between the good, the bad and the ugly. The openness of Indian society will be evident to anyone who spends half an hour in one of its chaotic market-places or visits the law courts or watches a political rally or reads a newspaper or strikes up a conversation with any person on the roads. There is no sense of fear in India, as in a dictatorship. There is also scope for securing relief from the heavy-handed behaviour of the authorities, even if the human rights commission has not yet lived up to expectations. Unless such points are recognised, Amnesty's assessment will seem to be a dry recital of statistics which may pillory India simply because of its larger population. Mercifully, Amnesty nowadays at least notes that the terrorists also indulge in human rights violations and that India has to cope with several insurgencies fomented by a country where the military does not always seem to be under the control of the elected government. True, there is much that is wrong in India's prison system and with the way the terrorist challenge is sometimes met, but the stress should be on activating the self-correcting mechanism within a democracy and not merely on painting a grim, even biased, picture.

- In the report, India has been excluded from which of the following categories of violating human rights?
 (a) Torturing prisoners
 (b) Detaining without trial
 (c) Political killings
 (d) Harbouring prisoners of conscience
 (e) None of these
- Which of the following is not true in the context of the passage?
 (a) India is guilty of some human rights abuses.
 (b) Amnesty International appraised all the democratic countries.
 (c) There is overlapping of cases in the categories of human rights abuses.

- (e) The report notes that the terrorists also violate human rights.
- According to the passage, through which media or forum Amnesty International has hurled the charges?
 (a) Seminar on Human rights
 (b) Its Regional Meet
 (c) Its Annual Report
 (d) Its International Meet
 (e) None of these
 - The author of the passage
 (a) agrees with the report
 (b) disagrees with the report
 (c) disagrees that conditions of prisons in India is bad
 (d) supports the totalitarian approach
 (e) disagrees with report on terrorists
 - The Amnesty International's report is based on the information of how many countries?
 (a) 63 (b) 112 (c) 131
 (d) 115 (e) None of these
 - The author suggests classification of various countries on one additional dimension. Which of the following is that dimension?
 (a) Economic progress
 (b) Human Rights
 (c) Industrial progress
 (d) Political systems
 (e) None of these
 - According to the passage, what does political murder in a democratic country signify?
 (a) Failure of system
 (b) Policy of the country
 (c) Need for autocratic rule
 (d) Openness of society
 (e) Heavy-handed behaviour of the authorities
 - Which of the following human rights violation is most prevalent among the countries?
 (a) Killing with political motive
 (b) Detaining without trial
 (c) Torturing prisoners
 (d) Harbouring prisoners of conscience
 (e) None of these
 - Which of the following is the meaning of the phrase 'strike up' as used in the passage?
 (a) hit sharply (b) initiate
 (c) discussion (d) protest
 (e) undertake
 - Which of the following seems to be the main purpose of writing this passage?
 (a) To highlight the sufferings of prisoners

- (b) To condemn political killings
 (c) To highlight the role of Amnesty International
 (d) To further the cause of human rights
 (e) None of these
- According to the author, among the good, the bad and the ugly, what at worst is the situation in India?
 (a) Good (b) Bad
 (c) Ugly (d) Good or ugly
 (e) Bad or Ugly
 - Which of the following is true according to the passage?
 (a) There is a need to check political killings in India.
 (b) The Human Rights Commission has done commendable service.
 (c) There is a need to improve India's prison system.
 (d) India is not at all guilty of human rights violation.
 (e) None of these

Directions (Q. 13-16) : Choose the word which is most nearly the same in meaning as the given word as used in the passage.

- SCORE
 (a) many (b) majority
 (c) a few (d) grudge
 (e) variety
- FOMENTED
 (a) suppressed (b) instigated
 (c) faced (d) disturbed
 (e) formed
- CULPABLE
 (a) cynical (b) troublesome
 (c) capable (d) imputable
 (e) adulatory
- LANGUISH
 (a) hold grudge (b) become sick
 (c) torture (d) remain neglected
 (e) terrorize

Directions (Q. 17-18) : Choose the word which is most nearly the opposite in meaning of the given word as used in the passage.

- OVERLAPPING
 (a) different (b) override
 (c) dependent (d) coincidental
 (e) independent
- PILLORY
 (a) penalise (b) damage
 (c) appreciate (d) exclude
 (e) include

Passage 8

Ironically enough, the very 'Success' of Operation Flood which is to make the cities flush with milk, has proved its undoing. Farmers in Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Kerala are now faced with a surplus of supplies for which there are no takers. Indeed, some experts in the Union agricultural ministry are even going so far as to suggest that the country should export to neighbouring countries—Bangladesh, for example, which imports milk and dairy products. Does this mean that the needs of consumers at home are met? Far from it. The fact that a dairy technology mission was created to improve the nutritional status of the rural poor speaks for itself. The protagonists of Operation Flood argue that the per capita consumption of milk has gone up from 108 gm in 1967 to 158 gm in 1987 and an expected 196 gm in 1995, when the third phase of the programme comes to an end. But it is clear that consumption has been limited to the cities and that too to the relatively better off households. Four out of every ten citizens in larger cities, officially estimated to be living in slums, are unable to afford sufficient milk for all their needs. What the much-vaunted 'surplus' thus amounts to therefore is a saturation of the market comprising the other half. Even in Bombay, the most affluent metropolis, housewives find it difficult to meet their milk bills because it is priced the highest in the country.

The inadequate offtake of milk is thus related to its price. The anomaly should be sufficient to prompt a thorough revaluation of Operation Flood, which is based on improving technology in the dairy industry to increase yields though at higher costs. Somewhat like the Green Revolution in cereals, the 'White revolution' has its share of critics who argue that instead of concentrating on increasing the supply of milk in a few pockets (though the co-operatives are inherently preferable to private suppliers), the authorities ought to spread the benefits of improved dairying throughout the countryside. Like the Green Revolution which demands capital-intensive inputs and energy, Operation Flood requires genetically superior cattle which in turn have to be provided with fodder, now in extremely short supply all over the country. What is more, schemes such as Operation Flood only sharpen the urban-rural divide, instead of narrowing it, which should surely be the objective of any development scheme.

- Which of the following has the same meaning as the word 'protagonist' as used in the passage?
 - opponent
 - intellectual
 - supporter
 - preserver
 - practitioner
- Which of the following is true according to the passage?
 - Certain states in India have excess production of milk.
 - Operation Flood does not operate in Karnataka.
 - Gujarat cities have less milk than cities in Maharashtra.
 - Certain states are producing excess raw material for milk production.
 - None of these
- Which of the following, as can be inferred from the passage, is not an outcome of 'Operation Flood'?
 - The urban areas are benefitted by improved milk supply.
 - Nutritional standard of rural poor has gone down.
 - It has hiked up the price of milk.
 - Milk output has increased in the country.
 - It has improved the per capita milk intake.
- Which of the following is true regarding the price of milk?
 - It is high because of middlemen.
 - It is high because cost of production is high.
 - It is low because of establishment of co-operatives.
 - It is high only in metropolitan areas.
 - None of these
- What is the charge being levelled against Operation Flood by its critics?
 - It is benefitting only in certain areas.
 - Milk is being sold at high prices.
 - It is not increasing the milk production.
 - Milk products have limited export market and hence it is useless.
- Which of the following has the same meaning as 'divide' as used in the passage?
 - partition
 - cut off
 - disagreement
 - difference
 - separate
- Which of the following is true according to the passage? That people living in slums
 - get half their requirement only

- get sufficient milk
 - buy some milk
 - do not buy milk at all
 - are not affected by milk prices.
- Which of the following, according to the author, should be the main objective of schemes like Operation Flood?
 - To increase the availability of milk products in urban areas
 - To make use of surplus inputs available in plenty in the country
 - To increase the production of milk in rural areas
 - To decrease the poverty in rural areas and bring down differences
 - None of these
 - The word 'sharpen' as used in the passage means
 - prepare
 - provide
 - force
 - widen
 - surmount
 - Which of the following can be inferred from the passage?
 - Milk needs of the urban group are being met.
 - Six out of ten people in urban areas buy milk.
 - Milk needs of only the affluent people in urban areas are being met.
 - Milk needs of the entire country are being met.
 - None of these

Passage 9 (Section Officers, 1993)

Democratic societies from the earliest times have expected their governments to protect the weak against the strong. No 'era of good feeling' can justify discharging the police force or giving up the idea of public control over concentrated private wealth. On the other hand, it is obvious that a spirit of self-denial and moderation on the part of those who hold economic power will greatly soften the demand for absolute equality. Men are more interested in freedom and security than in an equal distribution of wealth. The extent to which Government must interfere with business, therefore, is not exactly measured by the extent to which economic power is concentrated into a few hands. The required degree of government interference depends mainly on whether economic powers are oppressively used, and on the necessity of keeping economic factors in a tolerable state of balance.

But with the necessity of meeting all these dangers and threats to liberty, the powers of government are unavoidably increased, whichever political party may be in office. The growth of government is a necessary result of the growth of technology and of the problems that go with the use of machines and science. Since the government in our nation, must take on more powers to meet its problems, there is no way to preserve freedom except by making democracy more powerful.

- The advent of science and technology has increased the
 - freedom of people
 - tyranny of the political parties
 - powers of the government
 - chances of economic inequality
- A spirit of moderation on the economically sound people would make the less privileged
 - unhappy with the rich people
 - more interested in freedom and security
 - unhappy with their lot
 - clamour less for absolute equality
- The growth of government is necessitated to
 - make the rich and the poor happy
 - curb the accumulation of wealth in a few hands
 - monitor science and technology
 - deploy the police force wisely
- 'Era of good feeling' in sentence 2 refers to
 - time of prosperity
 - time of adversity
 - time without government
 - time of police atrocities
- 'Tolerable state of balance' in the last sentence may mean
 - an adequate level of police force
 - a reasonable level of economic equality
 - a reasonable amount of government interference
 - a reasonable check on economic power

Passage 10

Educational planning should aim at meeting the educational needs of the entire population of all age groups. While the traditional structure of education as a three layer hierarchy from the primary stage to the university represents the core, we should not overlook the periphery which is equally important. Under modern conditions, workers need to rewind, or renew their enthusiasm, or strike out in a new direction, or improve their skills as much as any university professor. The retired and the aged have their needs as well. Educational planning, in their words, should take care of the needs of everyone.

Our structures of education have been built up on the assumption that there is a terminal point to education. This basic defect has become all the more harmful today. A UNESCO report entitled 'Learning to Be' prepared by Edgar Faure and others in 1973 asserts that the education of children must prepare the future adult for various forms of self-learning. A viable education system of the future should consist of modules with different kinds of functions serving a diversity of constituents. And performance, not the period of study, should be the basis for credentials. The writing is already on the wall.

In view of the fact that the significance of a commitment of lifelong learning and lifetime education is being discussed only in recent years even in educationally advanced countries, the possibility of the idea becoming an integral part of educational thinking seems to be a far cry. For, to move in that direction means such more than some simple rearrangement of the present organisation of education. But a good beginning can be made by developing open university programmes for older learners of different categories and introducing extension services in the conventional colleges and schools. Also these institutions should learn to cooperate with the numerous community organisations such as libraries, museums, municipal recreational programmes, health services etc.

1. What is the main thrust of the author?
 - (a) Traditional systems should be strengthened.
 - (b) Formal education is more important than non-formal.
 - (c) One should never cease to learn.
 - (d) It is impossible to meet the needs of everyone.
 - (e) There is no substitute for the extant system of education.
2. Which of the following best describes the purpose of the author?
 - (a) To criticise the present educational system

- (b) To strengthen the present educational practices
 - (c) To support non-conventional educational organisations
 - (d) To present a pragmatic point of view
 - (e) None of these
3. According to the passage, the present education structures assume which of the following?
 - (a) All people can be educated as per their needs.
 - (b) Present educational planning is very much practical.
 - (c) Education is a one time process.
 - (d) Simple rearrangement of the present educational system is a must.
 - (e) Discussions on lifelong learning should continue for some more time.
 4. What should be the major characteristic of the future educational system?
 - (a) Different modules with same function
 - (b) Same module for different groups
 - (c) No modules but standard compulsory programme for all
 - (d) Rearrangement of various course contents
 - (e) None of these
 5. According to the author, educational plan should attempt to
 - (a) train the people at the core
 - (b) encourage conventional schools and colleges
 - (c) decide a terminal point to education
 - (d) overlook the people on the periphery
 - (e) fulfil the educational needs of everyone
 6. According to the author, what measures should open university adopt to meet modern conditions?
 - (a) Develop various programmes for adult learners.
 - (b) Open more colleges on traditional lines.
 - (c) Cater to the needs of those who represent 'core'.
 - (d) Primary education should be under the control of open universities.
 - (e) De-recognition of various community organisations.
 7. According to the author, what should be the basis for awarding credentials?
 - (a) Duration of the course
 - (b) Competence of the course teachers
 - (c) Diversity of the topics covered

- (d) Real grasp of matter or skill
 - (e) Participation in community activities
8. Which of the following is not true in context of the given passage?
 - (a) Lifelong learning is a recent concept.
 - (b) Workers' knowledge and skills also need to be updated constantly.
 - (c) 'Learning to Be' defends that there is a terminal point to education.
 - (d) Schools and colleges should open extension services.
 - (e) Needs of aged and retired should also be considered.
 9. According to the author, the concept of 'lifetime education' is
 - (a) as old as traditional education
 - (b) still in formative stages
 - (c) in vogue in advanced countries
 - (d) not practical
 - (e) not desirable
 10. Integrating the concepts of lifelong learning with the educational structure would imply
 - (a) closing down conventional schools and colleges
 - (b) longer durations for all formal courses
 - (c) simple rearrangement of present educational organisations
 - (d) more weightage for actual performance than real understanding
 - (e) None of these
 11. In the context of the passage, what is the meaning of the sentence 'The writing is already on the wall'?
 - (a) Everything is uncertain now-a-days.
 - (b) Changes have already taken place.
 - (c) The signs of change are already visible.
 - (d) You cannot change the future.
 - (e) It is a mysterious process.
 12. Which of the following is most nearly the same in meaning as the word 'meeting' as used in the passage?
 - (a) approaching
 - (b) contacting
 - (c) introducing
 - (d) representing
 - (e) satisfying
 13. Which of the following is most opposite in meaning to the word 'integral' as used in the passage?
 - (a) essential
 - (b) independent
 - (c) major
 - (d) minor
 - (e) unwilling
 14. Which of the following is most opposite in meaning to the phrase 'a far cry' as used in the passage?
 - (a) A reality
 - (b) A theoretical suggestion

- (c) Very funny
- (d) Next to impossible
- (e) None of these

Passage 11

(R.B.I. 1990)

Recent advances in science and technology have made it possible for geneticists to find out abnormalities in the unborn foetus and take remedial action to rectify some defects which would otherwise prove to be fatal to the child. Though genetic engineering is still at its infancy, scientists can now predict with greater accuracy a genetic disorder. It is not yet an exact science since they are not in a position to predict when exactly a genetic disorder will set in. While they have not yet been able to change the genetic order of the gene in germs, they are optimistic and are holding out that in the near future they might be successful in achieving this feat. They have, however, acquired the ability in manipulating tissue cells. However, genetic mis-information can sometimes be damaging for it may adversely affect people psychologically. Genetic information may lead to a tendency to brand some people as inferiors. Genetic information can therefore be abused and its application in deciding the sex of the foetus and its subsequent abortion is now hotly debated on ethical lines. But on this issue geneticists cannot be squarely blamed though this charge has often been levelled at them. It is mainly a societal problem. At present genetic engineering is a costly process of detecting disorders but scientists hope to reduce the costs when technology becomes more advanced. This is why much progress in this area has been possible in scientifically advanced and rich countries like the U.S.A., U.K. and Japan. It remains to be seen if in the future this science will lead to the development of a race of supermen or will be able to obliterate disease from this world.

1. Which of the following is the same in meaning as the phrase 'holding out' as used in the passage?
 - (a) catching
 - (b) expounding
 - (c) sustaining
 - (d) restraining
 - (e) controlling
2. According to the passage, the question of abortion is
 - (a) ignored
 - (b) hotly debated
 - (c) unanswered

- (d) left to the scientists to decide
(e) already settled
3. Which of the following is true regarding the reasons for progress in genetic engineering?
(a) It has become popular to abort female fetuses.
(b) Human beings are extremely interested in heredity.
(c) Economically sound and scientifically advanced countries can provide the infrastructure for such research.
(d) Poor countries desperately need genetic information.
4. Which of the following is the same in meaning as the word 'obliterate' as used in the passage?
(a) wipe off (b) eradicate
(c) give birth to (d) wipe out
(e) very literate
5. Which of the following is the opposite in meaning to the word 'charged' as used in the passage?
(a) calm (b) disturbed
(c) discharged (d) settled
(e) peaceful
6. Which of the following is not true of the genetic engineering movement?
(a) Possibility of abuse
(b) It is confronted by ethical problems.
(c) Increased tendency to manipulate gene cells
(d) Acquired ability to detect genetic disorders in unborn babies
(e) Acquired ability to manipulate tissue cells
7. Which of the following is the same in meaning as the word 'feat' as used in the passage?
(a) process (b) focus (c) fact
(d) possibility (e) goal
8. Why, according to the author, is genetic misinformation severely damaging?
A. The cost involved is very high.
B. Some people are unjustly branded as inferior.
(a) A only (b) B only
(c) Both A and B (d) Neither A nor B
(e) Either A or B
9. In the passage, 'abused' means
(a) insulted (b) talked about
(c) killed (d) misused
(e) changed
10. At present genetic engineering can rectify all genetic disorders. Is it?
(a) Yes (b) No
(c) It can do so only in some cases
11. Which of the following, according to the author, are the short-comings of genetics in becoming an exact science?
A. Technicians will not be able to determine the time when genetic disorder will set in.
B. Technicians have not been able to manipulate germ cells.
(a) A only (b) B only
(c) Both A and B (d) Either A or B
(e) Neither A nor B
12. Which of the following is the same in meaning as the word 'squarely' as used in the passage?
(a) rigidly (b) firmly
(c) directly (d) at right angle
(e) straight
13. Which of the following is not true, according to the passage?
(a) Society is not affected by the research in genetic engineering.
(b) Genetic engineers are not able to say some things with certainty.
(c) If genetic information is not properly handled, it will create problems.
(d) Manipulation of genes is presently done only in tissue cell.
(e) Scientists recognise the possibilities of abuse of information related to genetics.
14. According to the author, the present state of knowledge about heredity has made geneticists
(a) introspective (b) accusative
(c) arrogant (d) optimistic
(e) reckless
15. What is the tone of the author in the last sentence of the passage?
(a) resignation (b) cautious
(c) relief (d) concern
(e) unconcern

Passage 12

Political education may be defined as the preparation of a citizen to take well informed, responsible and sustained action for participation in the national struggle for the realization of the socio-economic objectives of the country. The overriding socio-economic objectives in India are the abolition of poverty and the creation of a modern democratic, secular and socialist society in place of the present traditional, feudal, hierarchical and inegalitarian one.

Under the British rule, the Congress leaders argued that political education was an important part of education and refused to accept the official view that education and politics should not be mixed with one another. But when they came to power in 1947 they almost adopted the British policy and began to talk of education being defiled by politics. 'Hands off education' was the call to political parties. But in spite of it, political infiltration into the educational system has greatly increased in the sense that different political parties vie with each other to capture the minds of teachers and students. The wise academicians wanted political support, without political interference. What we have actually received is infinite political interference with little genuine political support. This interference with the educational system by political parties for their own ulterior motives is no political education at all; and with the all round growth of elitism, it is hardly a matter for surprise that real political education within the school system (which really means the creation of a commitment to social transformation) has been even weaker than in the pre-independence period.

At the same time, the freedom struggle came to an end and the major non-formal agency of political education disappeared. The press could and did provide some political education. But it did not utilise the opportunity to the full and the strangle hold of vested interests continued to dominate it. The same can be said of political parties as well as of other institutions and agencies outside the school system which can be expected to provide political education. All things considered, it appears that we have made no progress in genuine political education in the post-independence period and have even slid back in some respects. For instance, the education system has become even more elite-oriented. Patriotism has become the first casualty. Gandhiji gave us the courage to oppose government when it was wrong, in a disciplined fashion and on basic principles. (he believed the means to be as important as the ends) and taught us to work among the poor people for mobilizing and organizing them. Today, we have even lost the courage to fight on basic issues in a disciplined manner because agitational and anarchic politics for individual, group or party aggrandisement has become common. The education system of today continues to support domination of the privileged groups and domestication of the under-privileged ones. The situation will not change unless we take vigorous steps to provide genuine political education on an adequate scale. This is one of the major educational reforms we need; and if it is not carried out, mere linear expansion of the existing system of formal education will only support the status quo and hamper radical social transformation.

1. Which is the major pitfall of the present education system?
(a) It is mainly represented by the downtrodden masses.
(b) It perpetuates the domination of the privileged few.
(c) It is based on the British model of education.
(d) It is highly hierarchical and inegalitarian in nature.
(e) It does not inculcate values among the students.
2. Which of the following is true in the context of the passage?
(a) British rulers wanted Indian education system to be influenced by politics.
(b) Academic institutions receive genuine political support.
(c) Real political education should aim at creating an elitist society.
(d) The Indian press has been under the influence of privileged groups.
(e) Our education system caters to the needs of the masses.
3. Which word is nearly same in meaning as 'defile' as used in the passage?
(a) disparage (b) tarnish
(c) degenerate (d) criticise
(e) contaminate
4. What should be the ultimate objective of political education?
(a) To foster all round growth of elitism
(b) To bring quantitative change in the entire education system
(c) To create an egalitarian society
(d) To prepare students with high intellectual acumen
(e) To provide genuine support to educational institutions
5. According to the passage, what is the main contribution of Mahatma Gandhi to the field of political education?

- (a) He spread 'political literacy' among the people through non-formal political education.
- (b) He emphasized the need of keeping education free from political interference.
- (c) He taught us agitational and anarchic politics in a disciplined manner.
- (d) He made us believe that our political end should be compatible with the means.
6. What was the policy of the ruling party regarding political education immediately after independence?
- (a) Education should keep itself clean of politics.
- (b) Political education should be imparted through formal means.
- (c) Press should take up the responsibility of imparting political education.
- (d) Political education should not be devoid of socio-economic realities.
- Political parties should impart political education through formal means.
7. Which of the following statements is not true?
- (a) The spirit of patriotism is on the verge of extinction.
- (b) Political parties provide proper political education.
- (c) We do not have courage to fight on basic issues.
- (d) Freedom struggle helped educate people politically.
- (e) Political education is necessary for bringing about social change.
8. How has politics been related to educational institutions after independence?
- (a) They got political support devoid of political interference.
- (b) They got almost no political support as well as political interference.
- (c) They got political support at the cost of political interference.
- (d) There was substantial interference without political support.
- (e) None of these
9. According to the passage, political education in the real sense should
- (a) impede the process of creating an ideal society
- (b) develop people who will be committed to bring social change

- (c) make political parties aware of the need of major educational reforms
- (d) strengthen the traditional and feudal elements of the society
- (e) develop patriotism among people of the privileged class
10. Which is the most opposite in meaning to the word 'hamper' as used in the passage?
- (a) expedite (b) enhance (c) foster
- (d) oppose (e) initiate

(Bank P.O. 1994)

In terms of the total energy consumed by different sectors, the largest consumer is understandably the industrial sector, which accounts for nearly half the total energy used in the country today. This is followed by the transport sector which consumes about 25%, the household sector (about 14%) and the agricultural sector (about 9%). This last sector has shown considerable increase in energy use over the last four decades. Among the primary fuels, the relative proportion of coal has dropped from nearly 80% to 40% and that of oil has gone up from 17% to 44% over the same period.

Total energy consumption in India today is equivalent to 291 million tons of oil of which 26% comes from wood. On a per capita basis it works out to about one litre of oil per day, which is extremely low by international standards. The future energy demand depends upon the level of development envisaged and also on the sections of people to be affected by it.

The energy disparity between the urban and the rural population is at present as wide as between nations on a worldwide scale. There is apparently a greater need to provide energy in the rural areas and to improve the efficiency of energy use than merely to increase the national figures for energy consumption limiting its use to those who are getting the bulk share already.

With the projected rate of population growth, improving upon the per capita energy consumption is a Herculean task as our coal reserves and the capacity to import oil cannot be increased beyond a point. There is clearly no escape from the utilisation of renewable energy sources in a big way if the gap between the desired levels of energy supply and available resources has to be kept at the minimum.

1. Which of the following styles has been adopted by the author?
- (a) Unsubstantiated arguments and views
- (b) Data-based, but coloured by socialism
- (c) Highly subjective with bias for rural people
- (d) Objective, descriptive, lacking clarity
- (e) Data-based, objective, positive, solution oriented
2. The author is laying greater emphasis on which of the following?
- A. Efficient use of energy
- B. Increasing national indices for energy consumption
- C. Controlling population growth
- (a) Only A (b) Only B
- (c) Only C (d) All the three
- (e) Both B & C
3. Which of the following shows correctly the different sectors consuming energy arranged in ascending order?
- I. Agriculture II. Household
- III. Industrial IV. Transport
- (a) I, IV, II, III (b) I, II, IV, III
- (c) III, IV, II, I (d) III, II, I, IV
- (e) None of these
4. According to the passage, the energy requirement of the future will be decided on the basis of which of the following?
- A. Total energy already consumed by us in the past
- B. Level of development of oil industry
- C. Profile of the affected people
- (a) Only A (b) Only B
- (c) Only C (d) Both A & B
- (e) Both B & C
5. 'There is clearly no escape' means
- (a) there is also no solution to this.
- (b) there is a way out, but it is ambiguous.
- (c) there is a problem, but not without solution.
- (d) there is hardly any alternative except
- (e) there is more than one way.
6. The author feels that increasing per capita use of energy is
- (a) not at all desirable
- (b) a matter of great difficulty
- (c) a routine matter
- (d) rather difficult, but not impossible
- (e) not easy but certainly achievable
7. Which of the following statements is true?
- (a) Industrial sector uses 50% of total energy used in India.

- (c) The household sector has shown considerable increase in energy use.
- (d) Use of oil has increased from 40% to 80%.
- (e) Import of oil to the extent required is quite possible.
8. 'The energy disparity ... as wide as ... worldwide scale', the first sentence of third paragraph means
- (a) disparity in urban and rural is observed in all nations.
- (b) in no other nation such disparity is observed.
- (c) developed countries consume more energy than developing countries.
- (d) worldwide scale is different for rural and urban areas.
- (e) None of these
9. Which of the following has been suggested by the author as the best possible solution to overcome energy crisis?
- (a) Exploration of oil reserves
- (b) Maximisation of renewable sources
- (c) Importing large quantities of coal
- (d) Reducing share of bulk users
- (e) Reducing the energy disparity between urban and rural areas
10. Which of the following has been mentioned as a major hurdle in enhancing per capita consumption of energy in India?
- (a) Present level of development in India
- (b) International norm of 1 litre of oil per day per person
- (c) Disparity in use of energy in rural and urban areas
- (d) Increased use of energy in Agricultural sector
- (e) None of these

Passage 14

It is common knowledge that the root cause of our backwardness in most fields is illiteracy. Campaigns for the eradication of this drawback gathered momentum in the past four decades after independence. The results are, as expected, dramatic. However, while the percentage of literacy in India is going up, the number of illiterates has also been increasing, which is really incredible. Thus according to the 1991 census figures, there were 503 million illiterates in the country, 30 million more than in 1981. During the same period, the percentage of literacy went up from 34 to 39 percent. There is no need of any sophisticated technique to explain the cause of this paradox, as it is obviously the result of the rapid growth of population. The rapid growth of population has outpaced whatever little progress had been achieved in literacy. For instance, from 1971 to 1981, literacy increased at an annual average rate of 0.7 percent, while the country's population grew by 2.15 per cent every year. In the following decade the average rate of annual increase in literacy was 0.95 percent, whereas the population grew by almost 2.85 percent every year during that decade. But population explosion is not entirely responsible for the growing number of illiterates. The apathy of most states in failing to tackle the problem of adult illiteracy is also partly to blame. Till now, they have shown little awareness of the magnitude of the problem. Moreover, follow-up measures to prevent neo-literates from relapsing into illiteracy are just as important as the initial adult literacy campaigns. In this case too, the State Education authorities are negligent. Not sufficient provision has been made for 'continued education'. This can be done by setting up more rural libraries, adult schools and correspondence courses.

- Which of the following appears unbelievable, according to the passage?
 - Growing illiteracy is owing to non-availability of reading facilities to rural masses.
 - Sufficient provision for continued education has not been made.
 - The increase in literacy percentage and also the increase in number of illiterates
 - Population explosion is the only reason for increase in the number of illiterates.
- The term 'Neo-literate' as used in the passage refers to a person who
 - is not literate
 - has newly become literate
 - is a little literate
 - is a literate with no school education
 - is illiterate but capable of becoming literate with formal training
- In the passage, the rapid growth of population has been attributed to

- illiteracy
 - apathy of government officials
 - want of continued education
 - None of these
- Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
 - An effective check on population growth is the only solution for attainment of full literacy.
 - The cause of the paradox mentioned in the passage can be explained by using sophisticated techniques.
 - Adequate number of libraries and adult schools are not available in our country.
 - Only A (b) Only B (c) Only C (d) A & B (e) A & C
 - Which of the following is the same in meaning as the word 'outpaced' as used in the passage?
 - surpassed (b) nullified (c) ruled out (d) spoiled
 - Which of the following has been referred to as a paradox?
 - The literacy percentage increases and the number of illiterates decreases.
 - The literacy percentage increases in proportion to the rate of increase in population.
 - The government is sensitive to the problem only at the planning stage but not at the implementation stage.
 - The literacy percentage and the number of illiterates are both increasing.
 - According to the passage, the problem could have been tackled by which one or more of the following measures?
 - Checking the growth of population
 - Making the adult literacy campaign more effective
 - Providing continued education to neo-literates
 - A & C (b) A & B (c) B & C (d) All of these (e) None of these
 - Which of the following is as important as the literacy campaign?
 - Checking the rapid growth of population
 - Starting correspondence courses and providing reading facilities
 - Awareness of the magnitude of the problem of illiteracy
 - Making sufficient provision for continued education

- 'Eradication', as used in the passage means
 - removal (b) destruction (c) starvation (d) evaporation
- Which of the following is true in the context of the passage?
 - Continued education programmes are now adequately funded.
 - All the State governments have now fully realised the problem of illiteracy.
 - Literacy campaigns in the pre-independence period were more fruitful than the later ones.
 - Literacy campaign achieved desired results in the post-independence period.

Passage 15

Economists, ethicists and business sages persuade us that honesty is the best policy, but their evidence is weak. We hoped to find data that would support their theories and thus, perhaps encourage higher standards of business behaviour. To our surprise, our pet theories failed to stand up. Treachery, we found, can pay. There is no compelling economic reason to tell the truth or keep one's word punishment for the treacherous in the real world is neither swift nor sure.

Honesty is, in fact, primarily a moral choice. Business people do tell themselves that, in the long run, they will do well by doing good. But there is little factual or logical basis for this conviction. Without values, without a basic preference for right over wrong, trust based on such self-delusion would crumble in the face of temptation. Most of us choose virtue because we want to believe in ourselves and have others' respect and belief in us.

And for this, we should be happy. We can be proud of a system in which people are honest because they want to be, not because they have to be. Materially, too, trust based on morality provides great advantages. It allows us to join in great and exciting enterprises that we could never undertake if we relied on economic incentives alone.

Economists tell us that trust is enforced in the market place through retaliation of reputation. If you violate a trust your victim is apt to seek revenge and others are likely to stop doing business with you, at least under favourable terms. A man or woman with a reputation for fair dealing will prosper. Therefore, profit maximizers are honest. This sounds plausible enough until you look for concrete examples. Cases that apparently demonstrate the awful consequences of trust turns out to be few and weak, while evidence that treachery can pay seems compelling.

- What did the author find out about the theory that honesty is the best policy?
 - It is a useless theory.
 - It is correct on many occasions.
 - It is correct for all businessmen.
 - It is correct only occasionally.
- Why does the author say that one can be proud of the present situation? Because people are
 - respect seekers
 - honest without compulsion
 - unselfish (d) self respecting
- What do economists and ethicists want us to believe?
 - Businessmen are honest only at times.
 - Businessmen should be honest at all times.
 - Businessmen cannot be honest at all times.
 - Businessmen turn dishonest at times.
- Which is the material advantage which the author sees in being honest? It permits one to - undertake activities which may not be economically attractive
 - be honest for the sake of honesty alone
 - make a lot of profit in various areas
 - None of these
- Which of the following is the same in meaning as 'persuade' as used in the passage?
 - try to convince (b) cheat (c) motivate (d) give assurance (e) give opinion
- Which of the following is false according to the passage?
 - People are generally honest because it pays in the long run.
 - Virtuous behaviour earns the self respect of others.
 - Economists believe that all businessmen are dishonest.
 - Generally people are honest to earn self-respect.

7. Why do businessmen, according to economists, remain honest? Because dishonest businessmen
 (a) are flogged in the market place
 (b) are always prosecuted
 (c) can make more money
 (d) cannot stay in business for long
8. The phrase 'stand up' as used in the passage means
 (a) hold up (b) get up
 (c) supported (d) get established
9. Which is the same in meaning as the word 'compelling' as used in the passage?
 (a) coercive (b) binding
 (c) forceful (d) mandatory
10. Which of the following best describes what the author is trying to point out through the last sentence of the passage 'Cases that compelling'?
 (a) Economists predict correctly
 (b) The consequences of dishonesty
 (c) The contradictions in the real world
 (d) Theories do not seem to be true

Passage 16 (Bank P.O. 1995)

Two principles are involved in the controversy about the presence of foreign-controlled media in the country; the free flow of ideas and images across national borders and the need to safeguard the national interest and preserve cultural autonomy. Both are valid but both are at loggerheads because each has been used to promote less lofty goals. The first principle conforms to a moral imperative; freedom of expression cannot rhyme with restrictions imposed by any government. But the free flow rhetoric also clouds the fact that the powerful Western, and especially American, media can and often do present, subtly or brazenly, news in a manner which promotes Western political, ideological and strategic interests. Besides, Western entertainment programmes present lifestyles and values cherished by traditional societies. All this explains why so many Indian newspapers, magazines and news agencies have sought protection from the courts to prevent foreign publications and news agencies from operating in the country. Their arguments are weak on two counts. As the bitter debate on a new world information and communication order demonstrated in the late seventies and early eighties, many of those who resent Western 'invasion' in the information and cultural fields are no great friends of democracy. Secondly, the threat of such an 'invasion' has been aired by those media groups in the developing countries who fear that their business interests will be harmed if Western groups, equipped with large financial and technological resources and superior management skills, are allowed to operate in the country without let.

The fear is valid but it goes against the gain of the economic reform programme. The presence of foreign newspapers and television channels will increase competition which, in course of time, can only lead to the upgradation of dynamic Indian newspapers and television channels even while they drive the rest out of the market. One way to strike a balance between the two antagonistic principles would be to allow foreign media entry into the country, provided the Indian state treats them on par with the domestic media on all fronts. On the import of technology, for instance, foreign media cannot be allowed duty concessions denied to their Indian counterparts. Foreign media will also have to face the legal consequences should they run foul of Indian laws. Why, for example, should the BBC, or Time magazine or The Economist get away with showing a map of Kashmir which is at variance with the office Indian map? Why should they go scot-free when they allow secessionists and terrorists to air their views without giving the government the right of reply? Or when they depict sexually explicit scenes which would otherwise not be cleared by the Censor Board? Since the government can do precious little in the matter, especially about satellite broadcasts, what if it should consider attaching the properties of the offending parties? Demands of this kind are bound to be voiced unless New Delhi makes it clear to the foreign media that they will have to respect Indian susceptibilities especially where it concerns the country's integrity and its culture. It may be able to derive some inspiration from France's successful attempts in the recent GATT to protect its cinematographic industry.

1. Which of the following is one of the points weakening the argument to prevent entry of foreign media?

- (a) The foreign media may not be treated on par with the domestic media.
 (b) Such entry would be against traditional culture.
 (c) The arguments being put forth are at loggerheads.
 (d) The threat being voiced by those whose business will be harmed by such an entry.
 (e) None of these.
2. Which of the following has been the major recommendation regarding the entry of foreign media?
 (a) Allow entry provided they do not ask for duty concessions on import of technology.
 (b) Allow entry treating them on par with domestic media.
 (c) It should be welcomed without putting any restrictions.
 (d) It should not be allowed.
 (e) None of these.
3. Which of the following means 'without let'?
 (a) without confinement
 (b) without restrictions
 (c) with no difficulty
 (d) with strings
 (e) conducive environment
4. Which of the following means 'at loggerheads' as used in the passage?
 (a) opposite to each other
 (b) unsuited to each other
 (c) in league with
 (d) unimportant
 (e) out of place
5. Why should the entry of foreign media harm local interests?
 (a) Different sets of laws and rules were made applicable for foreign media.
 (b) Economic reform programmes will get a setback.
 (c) The cultural heritage will be lost.
 (d) They are better equipped—managerially and technologically.
 (e) None of these
6. In the controversy involving two principles regarding allowing foreign media, which of the following is against its entry?
 (a) Governmental restrictions
 (b) Preserve culture
 (c) Security across national borders
 (d) Western ideology
 (e) Free flow of ideas
7. Which of the following will be the impact of increasing competition?
 (a) It will improve Indian newspapers and television.
 (b) The domestic media will not be able to withstand it.
 (c) The Indian news agencies will seek protection from the court.
 (d) The foreign media will not be allowed duty concessions on import of technology.
 (e) None of these
8. Which of the following means 'at variance' as used in the passage?
 (a) at large (b) in conformity
 (c) variable (d) discrepancy
 (e) differing
9. A country has been cited as having succeeded in protecting which of the following?
 (a) News Agencies (b) Television
 (c) GATT (d) Cultural relations
 (e) None of these
10. According to the passage, which media in particular promotes Western interests?
 (a) Western (b) Foreign (c) American
 (d) French (e) None of these
11. Which of the following seems to be the most likely purpose of writing this passage?
 (a) To highlight the exploitation by developed nations
 (b) To make the public aware of the technological and managerial superiority of western media
 (c) To criticise foreign media
 (d) To highlight the steps and caution to be taken about the entry of foreign media
 (e) To prevent foreign media from entering our country

Passage 17 (Bank P.O. 1995)

The recent passage of the Bill, on the transplantation of human organs, by Parliament, is a long-overdue measure aimed at curbing widespread trafficking in organs, especially kidneys. As the only country where kidneys can be transplanted from donors unrelated to the patient, India, and notably Bombay, has gained international notoriety as the capital of the organ trade. Wealthy patients from India and abroad, unscrupulous doctors and rapacious brokers have made this a multi-crore racket in which the only loser is the impoverished donor parting with an organ for small money. The legislation strikes at such exploitative transactions by stipulating that blood relations and spouses are the only live donors from whom kidneys can be transplanted, and making the buying and selling of human organs a cognisable offence. By allowing the transport of cadaver organs, the Act not only opens new avenues in the treatment of renal failure, where the availability of donor kidneys falls far short of demand, but paves the way for liver transplants for which expertise exists in India. The statutory recognition of brain stem death, which is accepted medical practice the world over, widens the scope of cadaver transplants by making 'beating heart' cadavers another source for donor organs.

True, the mere enactment of such legislation cannot put an end to an entrenched practice that thrives on patronage from sections of the medical community, and political and public apathy. The delay of nearly two years between the introduction of the Bill and its passage and the attempts of people with vested interests to introduce certain dubious 'amendments' are an indication of what the law is up against. The effectiveness of the law will depend, therefore, on the state's determination to implement it through vigilant monitoring. The provisions for cadaveric transplants will remain on paper in the absence of public education to encourage the voluntary donation of bodies and organs overcoming religious taboos, and the setting up of institutional facilities for organ retrieval and storage. Most of all, the law rests on the realisation by medical professionals that ethical and humane values must prevail over other considerations. The removal of organs from unrelated donors is almost invariably a transfer of health from the poor and weak to the rich. It cannot be defended on any ground.

- Which of the following means 'thrives on patronage'?
 - supports the practice
 - confusion by the patron
 - prosperes on support
 - fails in spite of support
 - disintegrates
- Which of the following is the meaning of the phrase 'parting with' as used in the passage?
 - sacrificing
 - fall in line
 - coming together
 - partition into two

- dining with
- Which of the following is the reason for Bombay gaining international notoriety?
 - Human organs like kidney are smuggled here.
 - There is no legislation against kidney transplantation.
 - There are international underworld gangs operating.
 - Even patients from other countries come here for kidney transplantation donated by poor people.
 - None of these
 - Which of the following is one of the features of the Bill?
 - It allows for transplant of only cadaver organs.
 - Hefty sum is to be paid to the donors.
 - Total ban on kidney transplantation
 - Only blood relations and spouses can be the live donors.
 - None of these
 - Which of the following would be an impediment in getting donation of cadaver organs?
 - Storage problems
 - Religious taboos
 - Absence of adequate legislation
 - Effective implementation of law
 - None of these
 - How much time was spent in drafting the Bill before its introduction?
 - 2 years
 - 3 years
 - 4 years
 - Not specified
 - None of these
 - Which of the following is not true in the context of the passage?
 - There is a widespread organ trafficking of livers.
 - India does not have expertise for liver transplantation.
 - The problems of transplantation of human organs have been unnecessarily highlighted.
 - The Bill on human organs transplantation was needed much earlier.
 - The final Bill has not been passed so far.
 - Which of the following means 'prevail over' as used in the passage?
 - spread along
 - predominate
 - triumph
 - insist upon
 - convince
 - Which of the following means 'rests on' as used in the passage?
 - based on
 - depends on

- lingers along
 - puts an end to
 - support
- Which of the following can be correctly inferred from the passage about kidney transplantation in other countries?
 - There is no legislation against kidney transplantation in some other countries.
 - There is a ban on kidney transplantation in some of the countries.
 - In other countries, kidney is transplanted only if it is donated by the patient's relative.
 - There are unscrupulous doctors in other countries also.
 - None of these

Passage 18

The political system always dominates the entire social scene; and hence those who wield political power are generally able to control all the different social sub-systems and manipulate them to their own advantage. The social groups in power, therefore, have always manipulated the education systems, especially when these happen to depend upon the State for their very existence, to strengthen and perpetuate their own privileged position. But herein lies a contradiction. For the very realization of their selfish ends, the social groups in power are compelled to extend the benefits of these educational systems to the under-privileged groups also. The inevitable task is generally performed with three precautions abundantly taken care of:

A. the privileged groups continue to be the principal beneficiaries of the educational system, dominate the higher stages of education or the hard core of prestigious and quality institutions or the most useful of courses, so as to safeguard their dominant position of leadership in all walks of life;

B. the system is so operated that under-privileged groups can utilize it only marginally in real terms and the bulk of them become either drop-outs or push-outs and get reconciled to their own inferior status in society; and

C. the few from the weaker sections that survive and succeed in spite of all the handicaps are generally co-opted within the system to prevent dissatisfaction. But education is essentially a liberating force so that, as time passes some under-privileged groups do manage to become aware of the reality, the number of the educated persons soon becomes too large to be fully co-opted, and many able individuals among them strive to organize and liberate the weak and the under-privileged. The resultant awareness of the people, combined with suitable organization necessary leads to adjustment in the social structure and to an increase in vertical mobility so that new groups begin to share power. Eventually, other social changes also follow and the traditional, inequalitarian and hierarchical social structure tends to be replaced by another which is more modern, less hierarchical and more egalitarian. The educational system, therefore, is never politically neutral, and it always performs three functions simultaneously viz, it helps the privileged to dominate, domesticates the underprivileged to their own status in society, and also tends to liberate the oppressed. Which of these functions shall dominate and to what extent, depends mostly on one crucial factor, viz, the quality and quantity of the political education which the system provides or upon its 'political content'.

The developments in Indian society, polity and education during the past 175 years should be viewed against the back ground of this broad philosophy. From very ancient times, the Indian society has always been elitist and power, wealth and education were mostly confined to the upper castes of the society. What is important to note is that the system has an infinite capacity to adjust or to absorb and, for that very reason, it is extremely resistant to any radical transformation. The social system continued to exist almost unchanged till the British administrators began to lay the foundation of the modern system of education.

- Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
 - The privileged groups try to deprive the 'have nots' of the real benefits of education.
 - The education system is never politically biased.

- (c) Educational system tends to enlighten the minds of the under privileged.
- (d) The privileged class depends upon the Government for their survival.
- (e) Credit for bringing modern system of education goes to Britishers.
2. According to the passage, the Indian society has always been
- (a) politically neutral
- (b) insensitive to the needs of elite groups
- (c) conscious about the sufferings of the underprivileged
- (d) less hierarchical
- (e) None of these
3. Which of the following is the most opposite in meaning to the word 'radical' as used in the passage?
- (a) superficial (b) simple
- (c) slow (d) narrow
4. How does education work for ameliorating the lot of the under privileged classes?
- (a) It encourages them to domesticate the privileged people.
- (b) It helps the underprivileged people to dominate others.
- (c) Some educated persons from this class organise and liberate the weak people.
- (d) It helps them to achieve higher goals in life.
5. In the context of the passage, which of the following statements is true regarding those who control political power?
- (a) They facilitate the upward mobility of the underprivileged classes.
- (b) They try to establish a just social order.
- (c) They facilitate the upward mobility of the privileged classes.
- (d) They try to control all the different social sub systems.
6. Sharing of power by new groups is an outcome of
- (a) increase in the vertical mobility of the underprivileged groups.
- (b) a liberal democratic approach of the privileged class
- (c) the total replacement of the traditional social structure by a modern one
- (d) a politically neutral educational system
7. According to the passage, why do the majority of underprivileged groups become drop-outs?
- (a) They constantly suffer from the feeling of inferiority.
- (b) The system is so manipulated that they cannot utilize it meaningfully.
- (c) They do not possess the required intellectual potential to survive in the educational system.
- (d) The privileged class continues to be the major beneficiary of the system.
8. According to the passage, the social groups in power have manipulated the educational system because
- (a) they wanted to make it politically neutral.
- (b) they wanted to give maximum benefits to the underprivileged.
- (c) they wanted to introduce social changes through the educational system.
- (d) they wanted to preserve their special status.
- (e) None of these
9. The Indian social system is resistant to the major changes because
- (a) it is basically elitist.
- (b) it can absorb social changes without changing its basic frame-work.
- (c) it is extremely traditional and conservative.
- (d) power, wealth and education are mostly confined to the upper classes.
10. According to the passage, social groups in power extend the benefits of education to the under-privileged groups because
- (a) they want to achieve their selfish objectives.
- (b) they want to create an egalitarian society.
- (c) they have realized that the growth of a nation depends upon the spread of education.
- (d) they want to abdicate their dominant position of leadership in all walks of life.

(NABARD, 1994)

Though the U.S. prides itself on being a leader in the world community, a recent report shows that it lags far behind other industrialised countries in meeting the needs of its youngest and most vulnerable citizens. The U.S. has a higher infant mortality rate, a higher proportion of low birthweight babies, a smaller proportion of babies immunised against childhood diseases and a much higher rate of adolescent pregnancies. These findings, described as a "quiet crisis" requiring immediate and far-reaching action, appeared in a report prepared by a task force of educators, doctors, politicians and business people. According to the report, a fourth of the nation's 12 million infants and toddlers live in poverty. As many as half confront risk factors that could harm their ability to develop intellectually, physically and socially. Child immunisations are too low, more children are born into poverty, more are in substandard care while their parents work and more are being raised by single parents. When taken together, these and other risk factors can lead to educational and health problems that are much harder and more costly to reverse.

The crisis begins in the womb with unplanned parenthood. Women with unplanned pregnancies are less likely to seek pre-natal care. In the U.S. 80% of teenage pregnancies and 56% of all pregnancies are unplanned. The problems continue after birth where unplanned pregnancies and unstable partnerships often go hand in hand. Since 1950, the number of single parent families has nearly tripled. More than 25 percent of all births today are to unmarried mothers. As the number of single parent families grows and more women enter the work force, infants and toddlers are increasingly in the care of people other than their parents.

Most disturbingly, recent statistics show that American parents are increasingly neglecting or abusing their children. In only four years from 1987-1991 the number of children in foster care increased by over 50 percent. Babies under the age of one are the fastest growing category of children entering foster care. The crisis affects children under the age of three most severely, the report says. Yet, it is this period-from infancy through preschool years-that sets the stage for a child's future.

1. The main focus of the passage is on the plight of
- (a) orphaned children
- (b) teenage mothers
- (c) low birth weight babies
- (d) unwed mothers

- (e) None of these
2. Children falling in which age group are most severely affected by the 'quiet crisis'?
- (a) Below 1 year (b) Below 3 years
- (c) Between 2 & 3 years
- (d) Between 1 & 3 years
- (e) None of these
3. Which of the following does not constitute the 'quiet crisis' in the U.S. as per the task force report?
- (a) Lower proportion of new born babies with normal weight
- (b) Higher incidence of adolescent girls becoming mothers
- (c) Lower rate of babies surviving childhood diseases
- (d) Larger proportion of babies who are deprived of immunisation
- (e) Increasing cases of teenage couples getting divorced
4. Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
- (a) The number of single-parent families today is approximately three times that four decades ago.
- (b) The number of children in the U.S. entering foster care has decreased after 1991.
- (c) In the U.S., the number of infants living in poverty is about 3 million.
- (d) Only 20 percent of all the pregnancies in the U.S. are planned.
- (e) About 6 million infants in the U.S. are likely to develop educational and health problems.
5. The number of children-born to married mothers in the U.S. is approximately how many times the number of children born to unwed mothers?
- (a) 1.5 times (b) 2 times
- (c) 3 times (d) 3.5 times
- (e) Not mentioned in the passage
6. Children born out of unplanned pregnancies are highly vulnerable because
- (a) they are raised by single parents.
- (b) their parents are mostly poor.
- (c) they are mostly malnourished.
- (d) they are less likely to receive prenatal care.
- (e) their parents are emotionally immature.
7. Decide which of the following factors is/are responsible for the physical, intellectual and social under-development of infants in the U.S.?

- A. Illiteracy of parents
 B. Lack of parental care
 C. Poverty
 (a) Only A (b) Only B
 (c) Only C (d) Both A & C
 (e) Both B & C

8. An increasing number of infants in the U.S. are in foster care on account of
 (a) an increasing number of single parent families with the female member working

Passage 20

The history of literature really began long before man learned to write. Dancing was the earliest of the arts. Man danced for joy round his primitive camp fire after the defeat and slaughter of his enemy. He yelled and shouted as he danced and gradually the yells and shouts became coherent and caught the measure of the dance and thus the first war song was sung. As the idea of God developed prayers were framed. The songs and prayers became traditional and were repeated from one generation to another, each generation adding something of its own.

As man slowly grew more civilised, he was compelled to invent some method of writing by three urgent necessities. There were certain things that it was dangerous to forget and which, therefore, had to be recorded. It was often necessary to communicate with persons who were some distance away and it was necessary to protect one's property by making tools, cattle and so on, in some distinctive manner. So man taught himself to write and having learned to write purely for utilitarian reasons he used this new method for preserving his war songs and his prayers. Of course, among these ancient peoples, there were only a very few individuals who learned to write, and only a few could read what was written.

1. Before man invented writing
 (a) literature was passed on by word of mouth.
 (b) prayers were considered literature.
 (c) literature was just singing and dancing.
 (d) there was no literature.
2. As for the war songs and prayers each generation
 (a) added something of its own to the stock
 (b) blindly repeated the songs and prayers
 (c) composed its own songs and prayers.
 (d) repeated what has handed down to it
3. The first war-song
 (a) was inspired by God
 (b) developed spontaneously

- (c) was a song traditionally handed down
 (d) was composed by leading dancers
4. The war song evolved out of
 (a) creative inspiration
 (b) there was no literature
 (c) artistic urge
 (d) yelling and shouting
5. Man invented writing because he wanted
 (a) to be artistic
 (b) to write war song
 (c) to write literature
 (d) to record and communicate
6. The word 'measure' in the context of the passage means
 (a) weight (b) rhythm
 (c) size (d) quantity

Passage 21 (I. Tax & Central Excise, 1994)

The stock-taking done at the first national convention on consumer protection served to highlight the areas that called for special attention to sustain the momentum of the movement as genuine forum for safeguarding the people's interests. Spreading awareness about the rights of the consumers and the relief open to them in case they did not get their money's worth of goods and services has rightly been identified as the first priority. While this may not be a difficult task in urban areas, where the movement is concentrated at present, taking it to the vast rural hinterland calls for a multi-media approach in which radio and television have a crucial role to play. The involvement of the 500-odd consumer organisations in the country in publicising the concept of fair trade practices and the remedies available against their violation will prove rewarding, if the message is conveyed through village bodies.

Government efforts remain confined at best to setting up the infrastructure after the formal launch of the movement with the enactment of the Consumer Protection Act. The mounting backlog of cases in consumer courts, points to the need for toning up the district level redressal machinery.

The main objective of the movement is the creation of a culture that denies place in the market for products that are not consumer friendly. This is possible only if consumer bodies take over the watchdog role performed by the Government till now and exercise social control over the market to see that the benefits of liberalisation are not reaped by traders alone. But the plea to industry to exercise self-regulation and maintain minimum standards of quality and devise appropriate pricing is bound to go unheeded unless strict measures are taken to ensure compliance. (I. Tax, 1994)

1. The first national convention on Consumer Protection has
 (a) highlighted the areas for special attention
 (b) spread awareness about consumer rights
 (c) specified in relief open to the consumer
 (d) given it a momentum
2. Consumer Protection Act proposes to give the consumer protection against
 (a) highly priced substandard goods
 (b) cheating by selling substandard goods
 (c) not getting his money's worth
 (d) denial of relief if the product is not upto the mark
3. Government contributed to the Consumer Protection Movement by
 (a) toning up a district level redressal machinery
 (b) clearing the backlog cases in the consumer court
 (c) setting by infrastructure
 (d) enactment of the Consumer Protection Act
4. Spreading Consumer Protection Movement to the rural areas needs
 (a) official patronage
 (b) a multi-media approach
 (c) consumer organisation to canvass this
 (d) message to be conveyed by village bodies
5. Role of consumer bodies is
 (a) To maintain minimum standards of quality
 (b) To function as a watchdog
 (c) To make a plea to industry to exercise self control
 (d) To exercise social control over the market

Passage 22

Power and possession have been central pursuits of modern civilisation for a long time. They blocked out or distorted other features of the western renaissance (revival) which promised so much for humanity. What people have been and are still being taught to prize are money, success, control over the lives of others, acquisition of more and more objects. Modern social, political, and economic systems, whether capitalist, fascist or communist, reject in their working the basic principle that the free and creative unfoldment of every man, woman and child is the true measure of the worth of any society. Such infoldment requires understanding and imagination, integrity and compassion, cooperation among people and harmony between the human species and the rest of nature. Acquisitiveness and the pursuit of power have made the modern man an aggressor against everything that is non-human, an exploiter and oppressor of those who are poor, meek and unorganised, a pathological type which hates and distrusts the world and suffers from both acute loneliness and false pride.

The need for a new renaissance is deeply felt by those sensitive and conscientious men and women who not only perceive the dimensions of the crisis of our age but who also realise that only through conscious and cooperative human effort may this crisis be met and probably even overcome.

- The author appears to be advocating which of the following approaches to be adopted by the society?
 - Capitalistic
 - Communist
 - Humanistic
 - Authoritarian
 - Socialist
- Which of the following best describes the behaviour of modern man?
 - Imaginative and sympathetic
 - Cruel and greedy
 - Conscientious and cooperative
 - Perceptive and creative
 - Seeker of truth and non-violence
- According to the passage, why has modern man turned out as an enemy of everything that is non-human?
 - He hates and distrusts other human beings.
 - Non-human have refused cooperation to human beings.
 - He has been dominated by drives of acquisitiveness and power.
 - He consciously practises spirit of cooperation.
 - None of these
- Which of the following statements is not true in context of the given passage?
 - Power and possession go hand in hand.

- There is a need for a new renaissance.
 - Poor and weak people are oppressed by the modern man.
 - The modern man is not individualist.
 - Western renaissance had held so much promise for the mankind.
- The real attainment of any society can be adjudged by which of the following?
 - The encouragement for acquisitive tendencies
 - Total victimisation of conscientious persons
 - The degree of freedom for pursuing more and more power
 - Strict adherence to authoritarian structure
 - None of these
 - Which of the following is one of the requirements bringing out the best in man?
 - Money
 - Success
 - Power
 - Understanding
 - Acquisitiveness
 - The western renaissance could not make total impact on today's humanity because
 - it was conceptually weak.
 - it was against basic principle.
 - conscientious men opposed it.
 - old civilisation was based on acquisitiveness and control over others.
 - None of these
 - The author hopes that the present crisis can be solved by
 - devoted individual efforts
 - different political systems
 - purpose and collective human efforts
 - spiritually developed individuals
 - powerful elite human beings
 - The modern value systems encourage the importance of which one of the following?
 - Craving for power and possession
 - Basic respect for all individuals.
 - Spiritual development of all individuals
 - Spirit of inquiry and knowledge
 - Recognition of freedom and equality
 - Which of the following is most opposite in meaning to the word 'central' as used in the passage?
 - Lateral
 - Inadequate
 - Peripheral
 - Major
 - Insignificant
 - Which of the following is most nearly the same in meaning as the word 'rest' as used in the passage?
 - Partial
 - Remaining

- Relax
 - All
 - Everything
- Which of the following is most opposite in meaning to the word 'deeply' as used in the passage?
 - Widely
 - Superficially
 - Wrongly
 - Openly
 - Intensely
 - Which of the following is most nearly the same in meaning as the word 'met' as used in the passage?
 - Introduced
 - Found
 - Dealt with
 - Discovered
 - Satisfied with

Passage 23

(Bank P.O. 1994)

What is the future which awaits our children? The underlying assumption of the question that Indian children have a common future is itself dubious. It can legitimately be asked whether a student who is well-fed, attending a boarding school in the salubrious climate of the hills, and learning to use computers has any future in common with a malnourished child who goes to a school with no black boards, if indeed he does go to school. The latter may have no worthwhile future at all. And it might be worthwhile to analyse the significance of this marginalisation of more than 75 per cent of the children of this country.

The failure to provide an infrastructure for primary education in the villages of India more than 40 years after Independence is in sharp contrast with the sophisticated institutions, for technical institutes of higher education are funded by government, which essentially means that the money to support them comes from taxes. And since indirect taxation forms a substantial part of the taxes collected by the government, the financial burden is borne by all the people. L.K. Jha put it graphically when he observed that 25 paise of every rupee spent on educating an IIT student comes from the pockets of men and women whose children may never enter a proper classroom.

- The author is trying to highlight which of the following?
 - The greatness of L.K. Jha
 - Need to have common future for Indian children
 - Need of sophisticated education for rural poor
 - Faulty system of direct taxes

- None of these
- What seems to be the likely answer of the author to the question posed by him in the first sentence of the passage?
 - There is no common future for the Indian children.
 - The future is worthwhile for majority of Indian children.
 - The majority may never enter a proper classroom.
 - Only A
 - Only B
 - Only C
 - Both A and B
 - Both B and C
 - Which of the following pairs have been termed as 'sharp contrast' by the author?
 - Infrastructure for technical education
 - Lack of infrastructure for rural primary schools
 - 25 paise of every rupee earned by Government is spent on education.
 - The financial burden of higher technical education is borne by all people.
 - 75% of children have limited opportunities.
 - II & IV
 - II & III
 - III & IV
 - I & II
 - IV & V
 - According to the author, who among the following does not have a hopeful and a prosperous future?
 - All students from technical institutes
 - All students financially supported by the Government
 - Only A
 - Only B
 - Both A and B
 - Neither A nor B
 - Not mentioned in the passage
 - Which of the following statements is not true?
 - The author welcomes Govt's initiative on primary education.
 - 75% of the children have a bright future.
 - 25% cost of educating a technocrat comes from poor people.
 - Only A
 - Only B
 - Only C
 - Only A & B
 - Only A & C

Passage 24

The past decade has upset many preconceptions above development and this, more than anything else, makes it difficult to be overly definite about what the next decade has in store. But there are a few things that one can assert with some confidence. First, education, health and productive employment are crucial both for growth and for equity. We have tended to assume that all of these are the consequences of rapid economic growth and that only growth can generate the resources required for these purposes. But, increasingly, it appears that these are better seen as the causes rather than as consequences of development. Virtually every case of successful development involves a prior improvement in literacy, technical skills, health status and access to productive work.

Second, technological competence is the most important resource endowment and it explains a far larger proportion of growth in output and trade than more conventional factors like natural resources or capital accumulation. The competence required is not just in research. In fact technological dynamism in the factory and the farm is more important than the presence of large research establishment.

Third, the environmental imperative can no longer be ignored. Today, as an international issue, it is second only to disarmament. Nationally, the developmental consequences of environmental neglect are increasingly obvious.

In the Indian context there are at least two further factors which reinforce the above propositions. The first is population growth. Given the pace of expansion of the population and the work force, human resource development acquires an added urgency. Population growth is also one, but not necessarily the most important factor, which underlines environmental stress in rural and urban areas. The second factor is that as a large country we cannot carve out an independent position in the global system without building up a substantial capacity for self-reliant growth. The acquisition of technical competence is crucial for this purpose.

Until now we have tended to treat human resource development, technology issues and environment as subsidiary to the main task of planning. The thrust has been on: Quantitative expansion of infrastructure and production with a focus on production targets like tonnes of steel, kWh of electricity etc., capacity targets like road length, rail kilometrage; and coverage targets like number of schools and students, number of villages electrified etcetra, catching up with known technologies —Fuller use of natural resources —Maximum mobilisation of financial resources.

- What seems to be the purpose of the author in writing this passage?
 - To appreciate the steps taken by our Government in the past and doubts about future
 - To show how the policy makers have failed
 - A review of world affairs with special emphasis on developed countries
 - Review of the past with a view to evolve positive directions for future
 - To prove how his predictions have turned out to be correct
- According to the passage, we have so far placed more emphasis on which of the following?
 - Optimum use of available natural resources
 - Increased number of basic facilities and meeting number targets
 - Maximum utilisation of available finances
 - Following known technologies
 - All of these
- According to the author, which of the following factors support and strengthen his point of view?
 - Necessity for carrying out growth on the basis of our own strength
 - Increased emphasis on production and coverage targets
 - Only A
 - Only B
 - Either A or B
 - Both A and B
 - Not mentioned in the passage
- According to the author, which of the following is a less important factor resulting in environmental stress in rural and urban areas?
 - Increase in capital accumulation
 - Rapid economic growth
 - Rate of growth of population
 - Availability of productive employment
 - Continued environmental neglect
- According to the author, at the national level, with passage of time, the effects of which of the following are being felt?
 - Expansion of work force of high quality

- Lack of attention and action for protecting environmental wealth
- Reduction in growth rate of population
- Progressive degradation of technological competence in urban areas
- Emphasis on slow rate of disarmament as compared to other nations

- Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage?
 - Optimum self reliance is the need of the day.
 - We will have bright future by only catching up known technologies.
 - We have to now emphasise aspects of human resource development.
 - Technological competence has to be given due priority over more conventional factors.
 - We cannot afford to ignore the importance of environment.
- According to the author, which of the following cannot be viewed as cause of development?
 - Betterment in health services
 - Increase in underemployment
 - Speedy economic growth
 - Enhancement in technical skills
 - Improvement in literacy
- What seems to be the approach of the author regarding present status of research?
 - He desires that more research establishments should come up.
 - Application of new technologies in factories and field is more vital than setting up of research laboratories.

- Only A
- Only B
- Neither A nor B
- Both A and B
- Not mentioned in the passage

Directions (Q. 9-12) : Choose the word which is most nearly the same in meaning as the given word as used in the passage.

- PURPOSE

8. COMPREHENSION-II (Brief Passages)

This section comprises of questions based upon a brief passage usually consisting of one or two paragraphs. The candidate is required to analyse the contents of the passage and then answer the questions that follow.

ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLES

Example 1 : Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Many poor farmers had been compelled to take up indigo cultivation when the British settlers were given the right to purchase and cultivate land in India. Many whites, therefore, either acquired land or advanced loans to poor farmers and pressured them to forsake the farming of foodgrains and other cash crops for indigo cultivation. Indigo export to Europe was lucrative for the British settlers who held a monopoly of this business. Within a few years, most of the fertile lands had undergone forcible indigo cultivation, resulting in a famine situation in Bengal. When the farmers declined to cultivate indigo, they were tortured, jailed and even killed. (N.D.A. 1996)

- The poor farmers in Bengal took up indigo cultivation because
 - the government gave them subsidies for this purpose.
 - it was a money earning crop.
 - they were forced to do so.
 - this was the only crop that would grow in this region.
- British settlers bought land in Bengal in order to
 - cultivate indigo
 - grow crops for the poor farmers
 - own agricultural property
 - settle down in India
- Indigo export was profitable for the British settlers because
 - labour was cheap.
 - they had no competitors.
 - the land was fertile.
 - they could oppress the farmers.

Solution :

- (c) : The statement that 'Many poor farmers had been compelled to take up indigo cultivation' gives the answer.
- (a) : Clearly, the fact is evident from the statement 'Many whites cultivation.'
- (b) : It is mentioned in the passage that the British held a monopoly of indigo business and this indicates that they had no competitors.

Example 2 : Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions based on it.

The Rajputs occupy an honoured place in the history of India. They were a war-like, people, proud and patriotic. They were jealous of their honour, and would lay down their lives to uphold it. They loved their homes and fought bravely to defend the honour of their women-folk. Nothing would tame their spirits. Perils only called forth their courage and poverty only increased their power of resistance. None could fight like them. Their motto was 'Better death than dishonour.'

- Which of the following represents the central theme of the passage?
 - The pride of the Rajputs
 - Rajputs and their sacrifices
 - The rise and fall of the Rajputs
 - Rajputs - the spirited heroes of Indian history

Comprehension-II

- Which of the following is opposite in meaning to the word 'proud' in the passage ?
 - humble
 - kind
 - courteous
 - cowardly
- The expression 'tame their spirits' in the passage means
 - suppress their ambitions
 - arouse their enthusiasm
 - develop their courage
 - curb their enthusiasm
- Which of the following statements is not true in the context of the passage ?
 - The Rajputs achieved eminence in history due to their great bravery.
 - They were homely people and would fight for upholding women's honour.
 - In moments of danger they would exhibit great courage.
 - They could not, however, face the challenge of poverty.
- According to the writer, the Rajputs occupy an honoured place in history, because
 - they were fond of wars.
 - they were proud of their war.
 - they were jealous of people's honour.
 - they lived and died upholding their self respect.

Solution :

- (d) : The passage talks about the qualities of the Rajputs which gave them an honourable place in history.
- (a) : The opposite of 'proud' is 'humble'.
- (d) : 'tame' means 'domesticate' or 'curb' and 'spirits' stands for 'enthusiasm'.
- (d) : The first sentence of the passage verifies (a).
The sentence 'They loved folk' in the passage proves (b) to be correct.
The sentence 'Perils courage' in the passage verifies the truth of (c).
The sentence '..... and poverty resistance' in the passage indicates that Rajputs were not afraid of poverty. Hence, (d) is not true.
- (d) : The statement (d) is clearly implied from the passage.

Example 3 : Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow : (N.D.A. 1996)

In the past thirty years, drugs have been discovered that prevent and cure physical disease and reverse the disturbances that occur in some mental illness. Excitement over what drugs can do has led people to believe that any ailment, infective or psychic, can be relieved by taking a pill. At the first sign of nervousness, they try pep pills. Medical journals now advertise tranquillizers, and other mood-altering drugs; doctors prescribe them; and the public expects miracles from them. In such an atmosphere, it is not surprising that drug abuse has spread.

- According to the author, in recent years there has been
 - a misplaced trust in drugs
 - a distrust of drugs
 - recognition of the ill-effects of medicine
 - None of the above
- According to the passage, the medicines that have been discovered in recent times
 - can cure mental illnesses
 - can help treat some symptoms of mental illnesses
 - can reduce mental illnesses
 - cannot cure mental illnesses
- People often believe that
 - medicines cannot cure all the diseases.

- (b) doctors can cure all the diseases.
 (c) medicines can cure all the diseases.

Solution :

- (a) : The author talks of the immense trust of people in drugs followed by the statement '..... drug abuse has spread'. This indicates a misplaced trust in drugs.
- (b) : The statement 'drugs reverse the disturbances that occur in some mental illness' give the answer.
- (c) : The sentence 'Excitement pill' gives us the answer.

Example 4 : Read the following two letters carefully and answer the questions given below them.

Dear Shri Chhatre,

The umbrella, which you have forgotten during your visit to our departmental store day before yesterday, is still here. It gives a very obnoxious look, besides emitting some foul smell. Will you please take the trouble to collect it as early as possible? Tomorrow it being our weekly off, our store is closed. You may collect your 'precious' umbrella day after tomorrow i.e. on Sunday.

Yours sincerely,
 C.F. Francis

Dear Shri Francis,

Thank you for your letter. The time that I must spend to visit your store is much more important than my precious umbrella. Also, you have now known the worth of my umbrella. I, therefore, would like to donate it generously to a friend like you. You may keep it on display in your big store as a historical monument. Thanking you once again for your kindness to remind me of my lost property.

Yours sincerely,
 Akash Chhatre

- Mr. Francis wrote to Chhatre because
 - Chhatre was his close friend.
 - Chhatre was a very busy man.
 - the umbrella was really very precious.
 - he was concerned about Chhatre's love for the umbrella.
 - Chhatre's umbrella was a nuisance to his store.
- Shri Chhatre had visited the departmental store on which of the following days?
 - Monday
 - Wednesday
 - Thursday
 - Friday
 - None of these
- Which of the following is true about the umbrella, as mentioned by Mr. Francis?
 - The umbrella was a problem to the customers' eyes only.
 - The umbrella was a problem to the customers' noses only.
 - The umbrella was a problem to the customers' nose and eyes.
 - The umbrella was a very expensive item.
 - The umbrella was like a historical monument.
- Chhatre's act of donating the umbrella to Francis reveals that
 - Chhatre is a very generous person.
 - Francis needed the umbrella very much.

- (c) he had a lot of sympathy for Francis' store.
 (d) he could not afford to spend money to collect it.
 (e) None of these
- On the basis of these two letters, which of the following can be inferred to be definitely true?
 - Francis and Chhatre do not have good relations with each other.
 - Chhatre's umbrella was very expensive.
 - The departmental store is closed on Saturday.
 - Francis' store would benefit by preserving the umbrella.
 - None of these

Solution :

- (e) : The sentence 'It gives foul smell' in Francis' letter gives the answer.
- (b) : According to Francis, day after 'tomorrow' is Sunday i.e. he writes the letter on Friday. Chhatre visited the store day before 'yesterday' i.e. Wednesday.
- (c) : The expressions 'obnoxious look' and 'foul smell' indicate that the umbrella was a problem to the customers' noses and eyes.
- (e) : Chhatre donated the umbrella because it was totally worn out and of no use to him.
- (c) : Francis says that day after 'tomorrow' is Sunday and tomorrow the store is closed. Thus the store remains closed on Saturday.

(S.S.C.1995)

Primitive man was probably more concerned with fire as a source of warmth and as a means of cooking food than as a source of light. Before he discovered less laborious ways of making fire, he had to preserve it, and whenever he went on a journey he carried a firebrand with him. His discovery that the firebrand, from which the torch may very well have developed, could be used for illumination was probably incidental to the primary purpose of preserving a flame.

Lamps, too, probably developed by accident. Early man may have had his first conception of a lamp while watching a twig or fibre burning in the molten fat dropped from a roasting carcass. All he had to do was to fashion a vessel to contain fat and float a lighted reed in it. Such lamps, which were made of hollowed stones or sea shells, have persisted in identical form up to quite recent times.

- Primitive man's most important use for fire was
 - to provide warmth
 - to cook food
 - to provide light
 - Both (a) and (b)
- The firebrand was used to
 - prevent accidents
 - provide light

(c) scare animals (d) save labour

- By 'primary' the author means
 - primitive
 - fundamental
 - elemental
 - essential
- Lamps probably developed through mere
 - hazard
 - fate
 - chance
 - planning
- Early lamps were made by
 - using a reed as a wick in the fat
 - letting a reed soak the fat
 - putting the fat in a shell and lighting it
 - floating a reed in the sea-shell

Passage 2

The crowd surged forward through the narrow streets of Paris. There was a clatter of shutters being closed hastily by trembling hands—the citizens of Paris knew that once the fury of the people was excited there was no telling what they might do. They came to an old house which had a workshop on the ground floor. A head popped out of the door to see what it was all about. 'Get him! Get Thimonier! Smash his devilish machines!', yelled the crowd.

They found the workshop without its owner. M.Thimonier had escaped by the back door. Now the fury of the demonstrators turned against the machines that were standing in the shop, ready to be delivered to buyers. They were systematically broken up and destroyed - dozens of them. Only when the last wheel and spindle had been trampled under foot did the infuriated crowd recover their senses.

'That is the end of M' sieur Thimonier and his sewing machines', they said to one another, and went home satisfied. Perhaps now they would find work, for they were all unemployed tailors and seamstresses who believed that their livelihood was threatened by that new invention.

6. The passage throws light on
- why inventions should be avoided altogether.
 - how a well-meant invention can be misunderstood.
 - what mischief an inventor can do to ordinary people.
 - how dangerous an invention can prove to be.
7. The crowd was protesting against
- the closing of workshops
 - the misdoings of Thimonier
 - the newly invented sewing machine
 - Thimonier keeping the invention a secret
8. The aim of the crowd was to
- kill Thimonier
 - drive Thimonier away
 - bring discredit to Thimonier
 - destroy the sewing machines
9. The people thought that
- their lives were in danger.
 - Thimonier was mad.
 - the sewing machine was dangerous.
 - Thimonier was depriving them of their livelihood.
10. Shutters were being closed hastily because the shopkeepers
- wanted to attack the crowd
 - wanted to protect Thimonier
 - feared their shops would be invaded
 - wanted to show their solidarity with the crowd

(I.E.S. 1993)

The last half of my life has been lived in one of those painful epochs of human history during which the world is getting worse, and past victories which had seemed to be definitive have turned out to be only temporary. When I was young,

Victorian optimism was taken for granted. It was thought that freedom and prosperity would speed gradually throughout the world by an orderly process, and it was hoped that cruelty, tyranny, and injustice would continually diminish. Hardly anyone was haunted by the fear of great wars. Hardly anyone thought of the nineteenth century as a brief interlude between past and future barbarism.

11. The author feels sad about the later part of his life because
- the world had not become prosperous.
 - he was nostalgic about his childhood.
 - the world was painfully disturbed during that period of time.
 - the author had not won any further victories.
12. The victories of the past
- filled men with a sense of pessimism
 - proved to be temporary events
 - ended cruelty, tyranny, and injustice
 - brought permanent peace and security
13. The world 'definitive' as used in the passage means
- incomplete
 - defined
 - temporary
 - final
14. During the Victorian age people believed that
- there would be unlimited freedom.
 - strife would increase.
 - peace would prevail and happiness would engulf the whole world.
 - wars would be fought on a bigger scale.
15. 'A brief interlude between past and future barbarism' can be interpreted as
- a dramatic performance during wars
 - an interval between cruel wars
 - a short space of time between two great events
 - a short period of time between past and future acts of savagery

Passage 4

Patience is better than wisdom : An ounce of patience is worth a pound of brains. All men praise patience, but few can practise it. It is medicine which is good for all diseases, but it is not every garden that grows the herbs to make it with. Many people are born crying, live complaining and die disappointed. They think every other person's burden to be light and their own feathers to be heavy as lead, and yet if the truth were known, it is their fancy rather than their fate that makes things go so hard with them. Many would be well off they could but think so.

16. Which of the following is the most suitable explanation to the author's remark that 'an ounce of patience is worth a pound of brains'?
- Intelligence and wisdom can be attained only by practising patience.
 - Patience comes first, intelligence next.
 - Patience is essential for every achievement in life.
 - Without patience intelligence cannot be used properly.
17. Which one is the most likely explanation, among the following, of the author's metaphorical statement that 'it is not every garden that grows the herbs to make it with'?
- Patience is a must for solving all our problems in life.
 - Patience is a rare herb that cures all diseases.
 - Patience is quite difficult to practise.
 - It is only a small number of people that are found observing patience in life.
18. The writer's remark "They think every person's burden to be light and their own feathers to be heavy as lead" is very significant. It means
- they are always worried and dejected.
 - they consider their own problem to be difficult to solve as compared with problems of other people.
 - they feel that they alone face serious problems while others have a nice time.
 - they remain very much worried about their own problem.
19. The writer's remark "It is their fancy rather than their fate" means
- they are unhappy because they think that way and not because it is their destiny.
 - they are fatalists rather than imaginative.
 - they have a wrong approach to life.
 - they are very much absorbed in their own problems.

Passage 5

(U.D.C.1995)

It is difficult to reconcile the ideas of different schools of thought on the question of education. Some people maintain that pupils at school should concentrate on a narrow range of subjects which will benefit them directly in their subsequent careers. Others contend that they should study a wide range of subjects so that they have not only the specialised knowledge necessary for their chosen careers but also sound general knowledge about the world they will have to work and live in. Supporters of the first theory state that the greatest contributions to civilisation are made by those who are most expert in their trade or profession. Those on the other side say that, unless they have a broad general education, the experts will be too narrow in their outlook to have sympathy with their fellows or a proper sense of responsibility towards humanity as a whole.

20. 'Schools of thought' can be explained as
- groups of people whose job is to think
 - groups of people who are schooled to think
 - groups of people who study in a particular school thoughtfully
 - groups of people having the same ideas but with different perception on a particular subject
21. Broad general knowledge is necessary because
- specialisation is incomplete without it.
 - without it no one would get a job.
 - it teaches us about different things.
 - it broadens one's outlook.
22. The idea of the first school of thought in the passage is that
- students should concentrate on studies.
 - students should not undertake any specialised work.
 - students should study all the subjects they want to.
 - students should study a few subjects that will help them in their profession.
23. Supporters of the first theory say that
- experts have contributed most to progress in the modern world.
 - people with general knowledge have contributed to civilisation.
 - experts have done nothing to help mankind.
 - people with general knowledge are more useful than experts.
24. According to the second school of thought, education will not be very effective if pupils

- (a) have inadequate knowledge of their own work
(b) do not have a wide general education

- (c) ignore the study of fine arts
(d) have nothing but general knowledge

ANSWERS

1. (d) 2. (b) 3. (d) 4. (c) 5. (a) 6. (b) 7. (c) 8. (a) 9. (d) 10. (c)

PRACTICE SET 2

Passage 1

(C.D.S.1995)

Culture is the cultivation of a plant or garden, not the eradication of its roots, it is an understanding of the roots and seeds, their patient care and instructed nourishment. Culture is not knowledge, nor is it art, still less is its acquaintance with literature and art. By culture I mean first of all what the anthropologists mean; the way of life of a particular people living together in one place. That culture is made visible in their arts, in their social system, in their habits and customs, in their religion. It is an aggregate of customs, institutions, manners, standards, tastes, morals and beliefs. Now these are transmitted rather by the family than by the school, hence when family life fails to play its part, we must expect our culture to deteriorate. It is a delusion to think that the maladies of the modern world can be put right by a system of instruction. On the contrary, universal education, by lowering standards, morals and tastes to a common denominator, and by sharpening the wits rather than disciplining character, tends to break down existing checks and balances. Education should be the drawing forth of potential values, it should not be the destruction of the safeguards that tradition places around young egos naturally inclined to wilful and precarious flights.

1. The writer uses the term 'culture' to refer to
(a) the cultivation of a plant or garden by a community
(b) one's acquaintance with literature and art
(c) one's acquisition of knowledge
(d) the way of life of a particular people living together in one place

2. The passage suggests that universal education

- (a) is, in fact, aggravating the existing problems of the modern world
(b) is the solution to the problems in the modern world
(c) would prevent us from transmitting culture to the future generation
(d) would help retain the cultural values

3. The culture of a community is said to deteriorate when

- (a) there is a fall in its educational standards.
(b) the family life fails to play its part.
(c) there is universal education.
(d) it adopts the modern system of instruction.

4. The culture of a community is transmitted

- (a) more by school than the family
(b) more by the family than school
(c) equally by both
(d) by the peer group

5. According to the passage, education is

- (a) the sharpening of wits
(b) tapping and encouraging the inherent values in man
(c) the substitution of old traditions with new ones
(d) the development of moral standards

Passage 2

There are some men who seem to be always on the lookout for trouble and, to tell the truth, they are seldom disappointed. Listening to such men one would think that this world is one of the stormiest and most disagreeable places. Yet, after all it is not such a bad place and the difficulty is often in the man who is too thin-skinned. On the other hand, the man who goes out expecting people to be like himself; kind and brotherly, will be surprised at the kindness he meets even in the most unlike quarters. A smile is apt to be met with a responsive smile while the sneer is just as apt to provoke a snarl. Men living in the same neighbourhood may live vastly different lives. But it is not the neighbourhood which is quarrelsome, but the man within us. And we have it in our power to change our neighbourhood into a pleasant one by simply changing our own ways.

6. The passage is about

- (a) our disagreeable and hostile world
(b) a kindly and pleasant world
(c) our indifferent and unresponsive world
(d) the world and what one makes of it

7. "..... they are seldom disappointed". The statement denotes that such men

- (a) welcome difficulties as a morale booster
(b) do not have to face any trouble
(c) manage to keep unruffled in the face of discomforts
(d) generally do not fail to come across troubles

8. The author's own view of the world is that it is

- (a) one of the loveliest and quietest places
(b) an unpleasant and turbulent place
(c) one's own excessive sensitivity that makes it a bad place
(d) a sordid place for those who suffer in life

9. Which of the following is opposite in meaning to the expression 'thin-skinned' as used in the passage?

- (a) Insensitive (b) Intelligent
(c) Awkward (d) Obstinate

10. "On the other hand unlikely quarters". The statement shows that people's reaction to our attitude is

- (a) generally indifferent
(b) surprisingly responsive
(c) often adverse
(d) mainly favourable.

(N.D.A. 1996)

Among the earliest memories of my childhood are the stories from these epics told to me by my mother or the older ladies of the house, just as a child in Europe or America might listen to fairy tales or stories of adventure. There was for me both the adventure and the fairy tale element in them. And then I used to be taken every year to the popular open-air performances where the Ramayana story was enacted.

11. The author of this passage is in

- (a) a reflective mood
(b) a reminiscent mood
(c) a critical mood
(d) an introspective mood

12. 'Epics' are

- (a) long historical stories
(b) poetic works of excellence
(c) long narrative poems of the adventures of mythical heroes
(d) popular versions of national histories

13. The second sentence shows that the writer

- (a) tolerated the old stories and open-air performances
(b) analysed old stories for their value
(c) enjoyed them
(d) dismissed them as untrue and silly

Passage 4

Newspapers sell because of news and editorial coverage but it gets more revenue from advertisements. News costs money, while advertisements fetch money. The economics of modern newspapers is such that it cannot run by just selling news; it has to depend on advertisements. The economics of newspaper publishing requires both subscribers who can afford to buy newspapers and businessmen who can afford to advertise in it. The growth of the press depends on both. Therefore, in newspaper management neither aspect can be neglected.

Co-ordination among the various departments - editorial, circulation, advertising and production - is very essential for effective and better management. The head of various departments must be part of the management of a newspaper. They must be aware of the goals set, policies and future plans of the management. They cannot afford to remain cut off from the mainstream of management function. In addition, each department should keep the other department managers informed of those of its activities that will be useful to them. This is a vital aspect of newspaper management.

14. The growth of a newspaper depends on

- (a) the editorial and news coverage
(b) large scale subscribers
(c) advertisers
(d) subscribers and advertisers

15. The main idea of the first paragraph of the passage is
 (a) The growth of the press
 (b) News and editorial coverage
 (c) The economics of newspaper publishing
 (d) The importance of advertisements.
16. The main idea of the second paragraph of the passage is
 (a) The future of newspapers
 (b) How to sell newspapers
 (c) Effective newspaper management
 (d) The role of the heads of departments
17. The word 'goal' in the passage means
 (a) aim (b) conclusion
 (c) result (d) benefit
18. The word 'vital' as used in the context means
 (a) primary (b) important
 (c) healthy (d) lively

Passage 5 (Hotel Management, 1996)

The strength of the electronics industry in Japan is the Japanese ability to organise production and marketing rather than their achievements in original research. The British are generally recognised as a far more inventive collection of individuals, but never seem able to exploit what they invent. There are many examples, from the TSR Z hovercraft, high speed train and Sinclair scooter to the Triumph, BSA and Norton motorcycle which all prove this sad rule. The Japanese were able to exploit their strengths in marketing and development many years ago, and their success was at first either not understood in the West or was dismissed as something which could have been produced only at their low price. They were sold because they were cheap copies of other peoples' ideas churned out of a workhouse which was dedicated to hard grind above all else.

19. The main theme of this passage is
 (a) electronics industry in Japan
 (b) industrial comparison between Japan and Britain
 (c) the importance of original research in industry
 (d) the role of marketing efficiency in industrial prosperity
20. The TSR Z hovercraft, high speed train, Sinclair Scooter, etc are the symbols of
 (a) Japanese failure
 (b) Japanese success
 (c) British failure
 (d) British success.

21. The sad rule mentioned in this passage refers to
 (a) the lack of variety in Japanese inventions
 (b) the inability of the Japanese to be inventive like the British
 (c) the poorer marketing ability of the British
 (d) the inability of the British to be industrious like the Japanese
22. According to the passage, prosperity in industry depends upon
 (a) marketing ability
 (b) productivity
 (c) official patronage
 (d) inventiveness
23. It is evident from this passage that the strength of a country's industry depends upon
 (a) electronic development
 (b) dedicated work force
 (c) original research
 (d) international cooperation

Directions : Read the following letter carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words in the letter have been printed in italics to help you locate them easily for answering some of the questions. (B.S.R.B. 1996)

Dear Mrs. Kapdawalla,

We certainly agree with you that it is inconvenient to run a home without a washing machine. For that reason, we have lost no time in investigating the source of the trouble in your machine.

The report from our repair department indicates that your washing machine has a burned-out bearing which was caused by the fact that it has not been oiled. Although we guarantee our washing machines for three years against all defects in workmanship or materials, we cannot assume responsibility for repairs necessitated by improper care. We, therefore, cannot grant your request to repair your machine without charges.

We shall, however, be glad to put your washing machine in brand new condition at the actual cost of the parts i.e. Rs. 325/-. When your machine is returned to you, it will be completely oiled and ready to operate. Then, if you follow the directions for oiling, which are given on page 3 of your instruction book, you will get years of trouble-free service from your washing machine.

Comprehension-II

Just mail the enclosed postcard today, authorising us to proceed with the repairs. We return your machine on Saturday.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. M.N. Laundrywalla

24. This letter seems to be a reply to
 (a) a customer's letter requesting the dealer to pay compensation for defective machine
 (b) a letter for replacement of an old washing machine with a brand new one
 (c) a request to a dealer to send his mechanic for repairing a washing machine
 (d) a letter requesting the dealer for free repair of a washing machine
 (e) an inquiry about the probable defects in a washing machine
25. The washing machine needed repair due to
 (a) faulty material (b) overloading
 (c) improper care (d) over use
 (e) defective workmanship
26. From the letter, it can be inferred that Mrs. Kapdawalla
 (a) had been very careful in maintaining the washing machine
 (b) had been running her home without a washing machine for the past three years
 (c) had purchased the washing machine during the past three years
 (d) was put to a lot of inconvenience due to the dealer's fault
 (e) had paid Rs. 325/- to the dealer for the repairs done by him
27. "Your request" (2nd para, last sentence) refers to
 (a) Mr. Laundrywalla's request for return of the authorisation card
 (b) Mrs. Kapdawalla's request for a brand new washing machine
 (c) a customer's request to a trader for free repair of a washing machine
 (d) Mrs. Kapdawalla's request for increasing the guarantee period

- (e) None of these
28. Mr. Laundrywalla rejected Mrs. Kapdawalla's request because
 (a) she had not purchased the washing machine from his shop.
 (b) the guarantee period of the washing machine was over.
 (c) the defect in the washing machine was due to faulty material provided.
 (d) the defect occurred due to careless maintenance by his repair department.
 (e) the machine had gone out of order due to improper care.
29. It appears that when the above letter was written, the washing machine was
 (a) at Mrs. Kapdawalla's residence
 (b) at Mr. Laundrywalla's repairs shop
 (c) yet to be examined to find out the defect
 (d) already repaired by Mr. Laundrywalla's mechanics
 (e) sent back to Mrs. Kapdawalla's residence

PRACTICE SET 3

Passage 1 (I. Tax & Central Excise, 1993)

It will be a mistake to think that he was given only 'bouquets', he also received many 'brickbats'. The Christian missionaries took alarm at his popularity. They used to raise funds by preaching that India was a land of heathens waiting to be saved by Christianity. The American press now began to say that it was a shame that any body should try to teach India religion, rather the world should sit at her feet to learn it. Vivekananda also said that India did not need religion but material support. The missionaries found that the subscriptions they had so long been receiving from the people were steadily declining. They blamed it on Swamiji. They now started denigrating him in all manner of ways. They even began to spread scandals against his personal character. Strangely enough, even some of his own countrymen joined them in this for reasons of their own. But 'Truth alone prevails', as Swamiji always preached. He did not try to defend himself, but others stood up for him and vehemently protested. Finally, all such mean attempts failed and his reputation only rose higher and higher.

- The passage teaches us
 - not to believe in religions other than our own
 - not to get involved in scandals
 - not to visit foreign lands
 - not to deviate from the path of truth
- Vivekananda was criticised by missionaries in America because
 - he was a bad student of Western theology.
 - he opposed the tenets of Christianity.
 - Americans had become very fond of him.
 - he did not allow them to raise funds in India.
- Swami Vivekananda told the American people that India
 - did not approve of the Catholic Church
 - would teach religion to those who sit at her feet
 - required religious and material help
 - was self-sufficient in religion though poor
- Vivekananda's rapport with the American people
 - helped India get substantial aid

- made his friends desert him
 - annoyed the American Government
 - caused a drop in Church's collections
5. Vivekananda did not defend himself because
- he believed in the ultimate triumph of truth.
 - he was in a foreign land.
 - some of his countrymen were opposing him.
 - he had brought many friends along to fight for him.

Passage 2

A book is written, not to multiply the voice merely, not to carry it merely to perpetuate it. The author has something to say which he perceives to be true and useful or helpfully beautiful. So far he knows no one has said it, so far as he knows no one else can say it. He is bound to say it clearly and melodiously if he may; clearly at all events. In the sum of his life, he finds this to be the thing or group of things, manifest him; this, the piece of true knowledge, or sight, which his share of sunshine and earth has permitted him to seize. That is a book.

- The opening sentence of the passage implies that the aim of writing a book is to
 - repeat the message it contains
 - enable the author to express his ideas in writing
 - preserve from extinction the message it contains
 - propagate the ideology of the author
- Which of the following would be the most suitable title for the passage?
 - Contribution of an author
 - Aim of writing a book
 - Book - the source of true knowledge
 - Writers and their books
- According to the writer, a person is impelled to write a book, because
 - he wishes to satisfy his ego.
 - he has something nice and pleasing to say.
 - he is capable of expressing whatever he wants to say.
 - he has discovered something unique, true and good which he must convey distinctly and musically.
- Which of the following is not implied in the passage?

- A writer is motivated to write a book if he discerns a great truth.
 - An author of a book generally gathers some common truths and gives them a popular and pleasing expression.
 - A great writer is convinced that whatever he says is not an echo or imitation of what others have said.
 - An eminent writer's message is conveyed through plain unambiguous language.
10. Which of the following is opposite in meaning to the word 'manifest' given in the passage?
- unclear
 - dark
 - pure
 - hard

Passage 3

(C.B.I.1995)

When we are suddenly confronted with any terrible danger, the change of nature we undergo is equally great. In some cases fear paralyses us. Like animals, we stand still, powerless to move a step in fright or to lift a hand in defence of our lives, and sometimes we are seized with panic, and again, act more like the inferior animals than rational beings. On the other hand, frequently in cases of sudden extreme peril, which cannot be escaped by flight, and must be instantly faced, even the most timid men at once as if by miracle, become possessed of the necessary courage, sharp quick apprehension, and swift decision. This is a miracle very common in nature. Man and the inferior animals alike, when confronted with almost certain death 'gather resolution from despair' but there can really be no trace of so debilitating a feeling in the person fighting, or prepared to fight for dear life. At such times the mind is clearer than it has ever been; the nerves are steel, there is nothing felt but a wonderful strength and daring. Looking back at certain perilous moments in my own life, I remember them with a kind of joy, not that there was any joyful excitement then; but because they brought me a new experience - a new nature, as it were - and lifted me for a time above myself.

11. An appropriate title for the above passage would be
- The Will to Fight
 - The Miracle of Confronting Danger
 - The Change of Nature
 - Courage and Panic

12. The author names three different ways in which a man may react to sudden danger. What are they?
- He may flee in panic, or fight back or stand still.
 - He may be paralysed with fear, seized with panic or act like an inferior animal.
 - He may be paralysed with fear, or seized with panic, or as if by miracle, become possessed of the necessary courage, and face the danger.
 - He may be paralysed with fear, run away or fight.
13. The distinction between 'inferior animals' and 'rational beings' is that
- the former are incapable of fighting.
 - the latter are clever.
 - the latter are stronger.
 - the latter are capable of reasoning things out whereas the former cannot do so.
14. Explain the phrase 'gather resolution from danger'.
- Find hope and courage
 - A state of utter hopelessness steels one to fight out the danger
 - Not to lose hope, but fight
 - Find courage to face the danger
15. The author feels happy in the recollection of dangers faced and overcome because
- they brought him a new experience.
 - they brought him a new experience, and lifted him above himself for a time.
 - he survived his ordeal.
 - he was lucky to be alive.

Passage 4

(C.D.S.1994)

The artificial ways of inducing sleep are legion, and are only alike in their ineffectuality. In Lavengro there is an impossible character, a victim of insomnia, who finds that a volume of Wordsworth's poems is the only sure soporific, but that was Borrow's Malice. The famous old plan of counting sheep jumping over a stile has never served a turn. I have herded imaginary sheep until they insisted on turning themselves into white bears or blue pigs, and I defy any reasonable man to fall asleep while mustering a herd of stupid swine.

16. The author points out that
- sleep can easily be induced.
 - the artificial means of inducing sleep are not good.

- (c) artificial ways of inducing sleep are ineffective.
 (d) artificial ways of inducing sleep are expensive.
17. According to the author the character in Lavengro
 (a) resorts to external aids to get some sleep
 (b) is an admirer of Wordsworth
 (c) spends sleepless nights reading Wordsworth
 (d) is an avid reader of poetry
18. The author uses "impossible" for the character of Lavengro in the sense of
 (a) funny (b) unrealistic
 (c) queer (d) imaginary
19. Borrow's malice is most probably directed at
 (a) sleeplessness
 (b) the artificial ways of inducing sleep
 (c) Wordsworth's poetry
 (d) poetry in general
20. In order to cure his insomnia, the writer
 (a) does a lot of reading
 (b) vainly tries to concentrate on imaginary situations
 (c) keeps a flock of sheep
 (d) counts sheep jumping over a stile

Passage 5

Experiments with the Sulphonamides have made clear a fact about germs which is gaining increasing importance in fighting them. Germs, it seems, have the same ability as all the other living things gradually to change themselves to suit new conditions. But, as the generation of germs lasts only twenty, twenty five or thirty minutes, before all the germs divide to form new ones, changes that would take many years in animals can be achieved by germs in a few hours. Perhaps, then, you give the attacking germ a dose of Sulphonamides which upsets them somewhat but is not strong enough to prevent them from multiplying; if so, they very rapidly develop new powers which enable them to resist the effects of the drug. After this has happened, even the strongest dose will fail to disturb them.

21. Experiments with Sulphonamides have led to the important discovery that
 (a) germs are living things, and can change themselves to suit new conditions.
 (b) one generation of germs lasts only twenty, twenty five or thirty minutes.
 (c) germs can adjust themselves to live and multiply in new conditions.
 (d) germs are not disturbed even by the strongest possible dose of Sulphonamides.
22. Like all other living things, germs can change themselves to suit new conditions. This adjustment is possible because the germs have
 (a) the power of fluctuation
 (b) the power of compliance
 (c) the power of adoptability
 (d) the power of adaptability
23. Since germs can change themselves to suit new conditions, the task of fighting them has become
 (a) absolutely impossible
 (b) much easier
 (c) much more difficult
 (d) increasingly important
24. Germs which are not disturbed even by the strongest possible dose of the Sulphonamides are said to have become
 (a) immortal (b) immune
 (c) improvised (d) immobile
25. One generation of germs expires, bringing into existence the next generation
 (a) in twenty minutes
 (b) in twenty five minutes
 (c) in not more than half an hour
 (d) in a few hours

PRACTICE SET 4

Passage 1

(I.E.S.1994)

Religion is the greatest instrument for so raising us. It is amazing that a person not intellectually bright, perhaps not even educated, is capable of grasping and living by something so advanced as the principles of Christianity. Yet, there is a common phenomenon. It is not, however, in my province to talk about religion, but rather to stress the power which great literature and the great personalities whom we meet in it and in history have to open and enlarge our minds, and to show us what is first rate in human personality and human character by showing us goodness and greatness.

1. In the passage, the author's ultimate intention is to talk about
 (a) religion (b) history
 (c) education (d) character
2. The phrase "so raising us" means
 (a) giving us a sense of spiritual superiority
 (b) making us feel that we are more important than we really are
 (c) improving our mental abilities
 (d) making us realise that we all are children of God
3. What surprises the author is that
 (a) even uneducated people are attracted towards Christianity.
 (b) Christianity is practised by a large number of people.
 (c) despite being difficult and complex, the principles of Christianity are practised by so many people.
 (d) even very intelligent people cannot understand the principles of Christianity.
4. The author hesitates to talk about religion because
 (a) he does not feel himself competent to talk about it.
 (b) nobody around him likes to talk about it.
 (c) he does not believe in any religion.
 (d) he does not fully understand its importance.
5. According to the author, we come across examples of greatness and nobility in
 (a) great works of literature
 (b) literary and historical works
 (c) historical records
 (d) books on Christianity

Passage 2

It is strange that, according to his position in life, an extravagant man is admired or despised. A successful business man does nothing to increase his popularity by being careful with his money. He is expected to display his success, to have a smart car, an expensive life, and to be lavish with his hospitality. If he is not so, he is considered mean, and his reputation in business may even suffer in consequence. The paradox remains that if he had not been careful with his money in the first place, he would never have achieved his present wealth.

Among the low income group, a different set of values exists. The young clerk, who makes his wife a present of a new dress when he hasn't paid his house rent, is condemned as extravagant. Carefulness with money to the point of meanness is applauded as a virtue. Nothing in his life is considered more worthy than paying his bills. The ideal wife for such a man separates her housekeeping money into joyless little piles—so much for rent, for food, for the children's shoes; she is able to face the milkman with equanimity every month, satisfied with her economising ways, and never knows the guilt of buying something she can't really afford.

As for myself, I fall into neither of these categories. If I have money to spare, I can be extravagant, but when, as is usually the case, I am hard up, then I am the meanest man imaginable.

6. Which of the following would be the most suitable title for the passage?
 (a) Extravagance is always condemnable
 (b) Extravagance leads to poverty
 (c) Extravagance in the life of the rich and the poor
 (d) Miserly habits of the poor
7. In the opinion of the writer, a successful businessman
 (a) should not bother about popularity
 (b) is expected to have expensive tastes
 (c) is more popular if he appears to be doing nothing
 (d) must be extravagant before achieving success

8. The phrase 'lavish with his hospitality' in the third sentence of the first paragraph, signifies
- considerateness in spending on guests and strangers
 - indifference in treating his friends and relatives
 - miserliness in dealing with his friends
 - extravagance in entertaining guests
9. The word 'paradox' in the last sentence of the first paragraph means
- statement based on the popular opinion
 - that which is contrary to received opinion
 - statement based on facts
 - that which brings out the inner meaning
10. It seems that low paid people should
- feel guilty if they overspend
 - borrow money to meet their essential needs
 - not keep their creditors waiting
 - not pay their bills promptly
11. How does the housewife, described by the writer, feel when she saves money? She
- wishes she could sometimes be extravagant
 - is still troubled by a sense of guilt
 - wishes life were less burdensome
 - is content to be so thrifty
12. The statement "she is able to face the milkman with equanimity" implies that
- she is not upset as she has been paying the milkman his dues regularly.
 - she loses her nerve at the sight of the milkman who always demands his dues.
 - she manages to keep cool as she has to pay the milkman only a month's dues.
 - she remains composed and confident as she knows that she can handle the milkman tactfully.
13. Which of the following is opposite in meaning to the word 'applauded' in the passage?
- suppressed
 - cherished
 - decried
 - humiliated
14. We understand from the passage that
- thrift may lead to success.
 - wealthy people are invariably successful.
 - all mean people are wealthy.
 - carefulness generally leads to failure.
15. As far as money is concerned, we get the impression that the writer
- doesn't often have any money to save
 - would like to be considered extravagant
 - is never inclined to be extravagant
 - is incapable of saving anything.

Passage 3

(Bank P.O.1995)

The recent rapid growth of industry has, in some cases, been so excessive that too much manufacturing capacity has been developed in some fields of production, which forces companies to sell their surplus products in world markets at prices lower than normal. This will make it almost impossible to develop local industries producing the same items because consumers will prefer to buy the cheaper imported product.

16. Why is it necessary for companies to sell products at cheaper prices?
- The cost of production has been considerably low.
 - The local industries also manufacture the same product.
 - There is a heavy demand for these products.
 - The demand has been lowered significantly.
 - None of these
17. According to the passage, the situation resulting from the rapid industrial growth is
- favourable to the manufacturers
 - disastrous to the exporters
 - conducive to the growth of local industries
 - unfavourable to the consumers
 - None of these
18. 'This will make'— in this sentence, 'This' refers most closely and directly to
- development of local industries
 - the recent rapid growth of industry
 - selling products of excessively higher prices
 - companies manufacturing surplus products
 - companies selling their production at cheaper prices
19. Which of the following is/are most likely to hamper the development of local industries?
- Availability of imported product at cheaper rates
 - Consumer's tendency to refrain from using imported products

- Excessive production capacity and low production cost
 - Only A
 - Only B
 - Only C
 - A and B
 - A and C
20. 'Imported product' as used in the last product refers to
- product manufactured locally but of export quality
 - product sold to such other country which can't locally manufacture it
 - product of a foreign country available at a below normal price
 - surplus product manufactured by foreign country and sold at a normal price

Passage 4

Gandhiji had to travel by train from Durban to Pretoria in connection with his job. Once while travelling by train, he was asked by the white passengers to leave the first class compartment and shift to the van compartment. He refused to do so. Thereafter he was pushed forcibly out of the compartment and his luggage was thrown on the platform. It was winter and he kept shivering all night. He did not go to the waiting room because the white men sleeping there might insult him further. This event was a turning point in the life of Gandhiji and he decided to stay back in South Africa and fight against this blatant injustice.

21. The White people asked Gandhiji to abandon the first class compartment because
- they wanted to annoy him.

- they wanted to avenge themselves on Gandhiji.
 - they treated Indians as inferior to them.
 - they were looking for a chance to talk to him.
22. Why was he thrown out of the compartment? Because.....
- he misbehaved with the Whites.
 - they wanted him to spend the night in the waiting room.
 - they wanted to insult him.
 - he refused to shift to the van compartment.
23. Why did he not go to the waiting room to spend the night?
- The room was unclean.
 - He wanted to sleep in the open.
 - He was badly hurt and so couldn't move to the room.
 - He feared that the White men there might insult him further.
24. 'This event was a turning point in the life of Gandhiji'. The event being talked about here is
- Gandhiji' being ill treated by the Whites
 - Gandhiji's spending night on the platform
 - Gandhiji's travel by a train
 - Gandhiji's staying back in Africa
25. Gandhiji stayed back in South Africa
- to avenge himself on the Whites who had insulted him
 - because his work was still not complete
 - to fight against racial discrimination in Africa
 - to build up an army and fight against the White people

PRACTICE SET 5

Passage 1

(Assistant Grade, 1995)

Nationalism, of course, is a curious phenomenon which at a certain stage in a country's history gives life, growth and unity but, at the same time, it has a tendency to limit one, because one thinks of one's country as something different from the rest of the world. One's perspective changes and one is continuously thinking of one's own struggles and virtues and failing to the exclusion of other thoughts. The result is that the same nationalism which is the symbol of growth for a people becomes a symbol of the cessation of that growth in the mind. Nationalism, when it becomes successful, sometimes goes on spreading in an aggressive way and becomes a danger internationally. Whatever line of thought you follow, you arrive at the conclusion that some kind of balance must be found. Otherwise something that was good can turn into evil. Culture, which is essentially good becomes not only static but aggressive and something that breeds conflict and hatred when looked at from a wrong point of view. How are you to find a balance, I don't know. Apart from the political and economic problems of the age, perhaps that is the greatest problem today because behind it there is a tremendous search for something which it cannot find. We turn to economic theories because they have an undoubted importance. It is folly to talk of culture or even of God when human beings starve and die. Before one can talk about anything else one must provide the normal essentials of life to human beings. That is where economics comes in. Human beings today are not in the mood to tolerate this suffering and starvation and inequality when they see that the burden is not equally shared. Others profit while they only bear the burden.

- The most suitable title for the above passage would be
 - Nationalism - a road to world unity
 - Nationalism breeds unity
 - Nationalism and national problems
 - Nationalism is not enough
- Aggressive nationalism
 - isolates a country
 - endangers national unity
 - leads to stunted growth
 - breeds threat to international relations
- Negative national feeling can make a nation
 - dangerous
 - indifferent
 - self-centred
 - selfish
- 'The greatest problem' in the middle of the passage refers to the question
 - how to curb international hatred
 - how to share the economic burden equally
 - how to contain the dangers of aggressive nationalism
 - how to mitigate hardship to human beings
- 'Others' in the last sentence refers to
 - other neighbours
 - other nations

(c) other communities (d) other people

Passage 2

Culture is not merely learning. It is discrimination, understanding of life. Liberal education aims at producing moral gifts as well as intellectual, sweetness of temper as much as sanity of outlook. Into the art of living, the cultured man carries a certain grace, a certain refinement, a certain distinction which redeems him from the sterile futility of aimless struggle. Culture is not a pose of intellect or a code of convention, but an attitude of life which finds nothing human, alien, common or unclean. An education that brings up a young man in entire indifference to the misery and poverty surrounding him, to the general stringency of life, to the dumb pangs of tortured bodies and the lives submerged in the shadows, is essentially a failure. If we do not realise the solidarity of the human community, nor have human relations with those whom the world passes by as the lowly and the lost, we are not cultured.

- Which of the following statements best expresses the theme of the passage?
 - Culture lends grace and sanity to man.
 - Culture and education are complementary to each other.
 - Liberal education makes man cultured.
 - Education brings man closer to life.
- According to the writer, the function of liberal education is to
 - change the outlook of a person
 - increase intellectual powers
 - improve a person morally
 - develop sensitivity to human dignity
- Consider the following:
 - Brotherhood of man
 - Understanding of pain and suffering
 - Better human relations
 - Sweetness of temper
 Which of the above expressions describes proper education?
 - 1 and 3
 - 2 and 4
 - 2, 3 and 4
 - All the four
- Culture redeems a person from the sterile futility of aimless struggle because
 - it makes man learned.
 - it makes man more intelligent.
 - it brings about a better understanding of life.
 - it prepares man for struggle.

Comprehension-II

- Education is sometimes a failure. Which one of the following is the most likely reason for this?
 - It improves the intellect only.
 - It does not prepare man for struggle.
 - It does not make man refined.
 - It carries a man away from life around him.

(U.D.C.1993)

The supervisor would have to change his attitude towards people first. The staff under him must be perceived as human beings with feelings and needs. They are not automations within a complex work machinery. One of the greatest needs of today's worker is to have a feeling that he is in control of his work place and not vice versa. The best way is to satisfy this need as far as possible. He must feel firstly, that his work is meaningful. To do this the supervisor must delegate responsibility and limited authority for the man to execute his job well. The subordinate must be properly trained to assume responsibility and authority. Once he is ready to assume these he can be made accountable for his job. Very often supervisors assume all responsibility and accountability for fear of losing control of the workplace. This makes workers under him pawns in a vast chessboard. Delegating accountability gives the worker a purpose in life and the need to do a job well. Most important is to sit with each worker and chalk out common objectives and agreed norms to achieve them. This gives workers a security as to what is expected of them. When he has met his objectives he certainly has a feeling of achievement. This feeling of achievement is the greatest motivator.

- A humane attitude on the part of the supervisor towards his staff is necessary to
 - get them to work
 - keep them happy
 - have a congenial atmosphere at workplace.
 - get the best out of them
- Responsibility and accountability make a worker
 - shirk his duties
 - do his job properly
 - tense and frightened
 - vulnerable before his supervisors

- Supervisors do not delegate responsibility and authority to their subordinates because.
 - subordinates are not capable enough.
 - they can't trust their subordinates.
 - they are apprehensive of losing their hold on the piece of work.
 - final responsibility is theirs.
- Orientation of subordinates of common objectives and how to achieve them is
 - not very important
 - a must
 - not at all necessary
 - optional
- The greatest motivator is
 - a good supervisor
 - a good environment
 - a sense of security
 - fulfilment of purpose

Passage 4

The greatest enemy of mankind, as people have discovered is not science, but war. Science merely reflects the social forces by which it is surrounded. It is found that when there is peace, science is constructive, when there is war, science is perverted to destructive ends. The weapons which science gives us do not necessarily create war, these make war increasingly more terrible. Until now, it has brought us to the doorstep of doom. Our main problem, therefore, is not to curb science, but to stop war - to substitute law for force, and international government for anarchy in the relations of one nation with another. That is a job in which everybody must participate, including the scientists. But the bomb of Hiroshima suddenly woke us up to the fact that we have very little time. The hour is late and our work has scarcely begun. Now we are face to face with this urgent question: "Can education and tolerance, understanding and creative intelligence run fast enough to keep us abreast with our own mounting capacity to destroy?" That is the question which we shall have to answer one way or the other in this generation. Science must help us in the answer, but the main decision lies within ourselves.

- An appropriate title for the passage would be
 - Science and the new generation
 - Science and social forces
 - Science and the horrors of war
 - Science and world peace

17. According to the author, the real enemy of mankind is not science but war, because
 (a) science during wars is so destructive.
 (b) science merely invents the weapons with which war is fought.
 (c) the weapons that science invents necessarily lead to war.
 (d) the weapons invented by science do not cause war, though these make it more destructive.
18. War can be stopped, if
 (a) weapons invented by science are not used to launch a war.
 (b) science is restricted to be utilised only during war time.
 (c) science is not allowed to lead us to utter destruction.
 (d) we replace force and lawlessness by law and international government.
19. According to the writer, the main problem we are faced with, is to
 (a) prevent scientists from participating in destructive activities
 (b) abolish war
 (c) stop scientific activities everywhere
 (d) stop science from reflecting social forces
20. Our mounting capacity to destroy can be kept under control by
 (a) encouraging social forces
 (b) education and broadmindedness
 (c) insight and constructive thinking
 (d) Both (b) and (c) together
21. The expression "bring to the doorstep of doom" means
 (a) lead to the threshold of a new destiny
 (b) introduce to an unpredictable destiny
 (c) carry close to death and destruction
 (d) induct in a ruinous activity
22. Which of the following is opposite in meaning to the word 'anarchy' as used in the passage?
 (a) Law and order
 (b) Economic prosperity
 (c) Political dominance
 (d) Communal harmony
23. The phrase 'our work has scarcely begun' implies that our work
 (a) has not yet begun
 (b) has begun but not yet completed
 (c) has only just begun
 (d) has been half through
24. The expression 'keep us abreast' in the passage means
 (a) prevent from escaping
 (b) hold out a challenge
 (c) keep at a side
 (d) keep side by side
25. Which of the following statements is not implied in the passage?
 (a) Science is misused for destructive purposes.
 (b) Neither science nor the weapons it invents add to the horrors of war.
 (c) People needlessly blame science for war.
 (d) The role of science in ensuring world peace is subsidiary to that of man.

PRACTICE SET 6

Passage 1

(I.E.S. 1994)

Some prophets of doom assert that we shall soon exhaust the Earth's resources or pollute ourselves to death. Optimists assert that Earth's systems are robust and that improved technologies will ease all the pressures on the planet. Others see the main concerns as political, with environmental issues carrying the seeds of inequality and war.

Scientific understanding is too limited to say where the truth lies. If the care of the planet is a management task, our species is in the position of a child who has to fly a jet plane without knowing what all the switches and levers do.

1. The blame for the environmental crisis facing the Earth lies with
 (a) pressures of over population
 (b) rapid technological growth

- (c) inadequate management of Earth's resources
 (d) man's greed and selfishness
2. Which of the following statements is true according to the passage?
 (a) People will feel exhausted owing to the green house effect.
 (b) Sometimes political motives influence people's concern for the planet.
 (c) Men should feel responsible towards society.
 (d) Wars will cause greater pollution on Earth.
3. According to the passage, nobody knows the truth because
 (a) objective analyses are not thorough or exhaustive.
 (b) there are very few scientists capable of research in this area.
 (c) scientists often are used by politicians.
 (d) people do not think of what the future holds for them.
4. What does the comparison in the last sentence of the passage convey?
 (a) We are as ignorant as infants.
 (b) Our efforts to save the planet are childish.
 (c) Most of the people do not know how to fly an aeroplane.
 (d) We, on Earth, are inexperienced in managing Earth's resources.
- tation and leadership of unions etc need to change. At the same time the attitude of confrontation must change to one of cooperation and active collaboration.
5. Which of the following arguments has been emphasized in the paragraph?
 (a) Only technology or a new set of equipment can improve quality and productivity.
 (b) Only management behind any type of machines can improve quality and productivity.
 (c) By managing the new technology, labour can bring about improvements in quality and productivity.
 (d) Indian labour and management is neither quality nor productivity conscious.
6. The word 'critical' in the passage means
 (a) crucial (b) judicial
 (c) analytical (d) judicious
7. India's strange contradiction of development is
 (a) people are resourceful but new equipment is not given to them.
 (b) people are resourceful but they are neglected.
 (c) labour is not earnest and therefore it is no longer a liability.
 (d) labour is inefficient but still it is pampered.
8. Capital-intensive operations can lead to
 (a) strict labour laws
 (b) new labour laws
 (c) too many labour laws
 (d) irrelevant labour laws
9. The opposite of 'deterrent' as used in the passage is
 (a) help (b) non-interference
 (c) influence (d) patronage
10. Labour-intensive operations can lead to
 (a) better relations between labour and management
 (b) fear of unemployment
 (c) industrial process needing to employ many people
 (d) None of these
11. Which of the following statements on confrontation between labour and management is false?
 (a) Too much governmental interference between labour and management
 (b) Conflicting attitude of labour and management
 (c) Establishment of capital-intensive industries
 (d) Neglect of labour-intensive operations

Passage 2

It is a commonly held belief that quality and productivity are a function of technology or a set of new equipment. No doubt these are essential, but they alone are not sufficient for bringing about improvements in productivity or quality. It is the men and women behind the machines and the people who manage the technology who are critical in bringing about these improvements. It has been a strange paradox of India's economic development that even though people are our most abundant resource, they have so far either been neglected or treated as liabilities rather than as assets. Part of the reason for this has been outdated labour laws which have been a deterrent for industrialists and employers, leading them to establish capital-intensive rather than labour-intensive operations. The other reason has been a confrontationist attitude, both on the part of labour as well as managements. A change must come about in both these factors, outside represen-

Passage 3 (C.D.S. 1995)

It is generally acknowledged that children learn a lot from their parents. It is not so commonly admitted that parents learn a great deal from their children. As adults, it is easy to assume that we are always right, but the laugh was on me one beautiful day.

My daughter Kashmira knew how much I loved flowers. One day when she was of nine years, she picked some branches from our neighbour's blossoming fruit tree. Realising she intended to please me, I didn't scold her, but chose a different approach.

"These are lovely, dear, but do you realise that if you had left them on the tree, each of these blossoms would have become a cherry?"

"No, they wouldn't have", she said firmly.

"Oh, yes, they would have. Each of these blossoms would have grown into a cherry."

"Well okay, mother, if you insist", she finally conceded, "but they were plums last year".

12. What is not commonly acknowledged is that
- children learn a lot from their parents.
 - parents teach their children a great deal.
 - parents learn a great deal from their children.
 - children learn a great deal in spite of their parents.
13. "The laugh was on me" means that
- the mother was caught in the wrong.
 - the daughter was wrong.
 - people laughed at the mother.
 - the mother laughed at herself.
14. What the daughter picked from the neighbour's garden were
- some flowers
 - some branches with blossoms
 - some branches with fruit
15. The mother did not scold the daughter because
- she loved flowers.
 - she liked cherry blossoms.
 - she did not understand why her daughter had done so.
 - she decided to indirectly make her daughter realise her mistake.
16. The mother was caught in the wrong because the daughter

- proved that she had not picked the branch with the blossom
- reminded her that she loved flowers.
- reminded her that the branch with blossoms was from a plum tree.
- proved that those blossoms would not yield any fruit.

Passage 4

S.N. Bose's experimental skill was not confined to physics alone. His energy had been channelised in several directions. One direction in which his energy flowed more consistently than in any other was the popularisation of science. In a newly independent country like India, determined to develop her industries as quickly as possible, there was every danger of leadership in scientific research falling into the hands of those whom C.P. Snow has called 'slide-rule' scientists. As a safeguard against this, even before independence, Bose found a scientific journal in Bengali, Bijnan Parichaya, to spread scientific knowledge among the common people.

17. Bose could allow his energy to flow successfully in several directions. Bose was, thus,
- a vivacious man
 - an energetic man
 - a versatile man
 - a virulent man
18. S.N. Bose made a major contribution to the spread of scientific knowledge among common people
- by channelising his energies in several directions
 - by consistently working for the popularisation of science
 - by becoming a 'slide-rule' scientist
 - by founding a scientific journal in Bengali
19. It is learnt from the passage that India, immediately after becoming independent, sought to progress
- by means of industrialisation
 - by means of popularisation of science
 - by encouraging scientists like S.N. Bose
 - by offering the leadership of scientific research to slide-rule scientists
20. A 'slide-rule' scientist is likely to be interested in
- spreading scientific knowledge among common people
 - diverting his energy in several channels

- depriving common people of scientific knowledge
 - carrying on scientific research on stereotyped ideas
21. S.N. Bose's scientific journal Bijnan Parichaya must have come out
- before 1947
 - after 1947
 - between 1947 and 1957
 - after 1957

Passage 5

(N.D.A. 1993)

The avowed purpose of the exact sciences is to establish complete intellectual control over experience in terms of precise rules which can be formally set out and empirically tested. Could that ideal be fully achieved, all truth and all error could henceforth be ascribed to an exact theory of the universe, while we who accept this theory would be relieved of any occasion for exercising our personal judgement. We should only have to follow the rules faithfully. Classical mechanics approaches this ideal so closely that it is often thought to have achieved it. But this leaves out of account the element of personal judgement involved in applying the formulae of mechanics to the facts of experience.

PRACTICE SET 7Passage 1

Teaching, more even than most other professions, has been transformed during the last hundred years from a small, highly skilled profession concerned with a minority of the population, to a large and important branch of the public service. The profession has a great and honourable tradition, extending from the dawn of history until recent times, but any teacher in the modern world who allows himself to be inspired by the ideals of his predecessors is likely to be made sharply aware that it is not his function to teach what he thinks, but to instil such beliefs and prejudices as are thought useful by his employers.

1. In ancient times the teaching profession was
- reserved for the upper class
 - reserved for a privileged few
 - open to all
 - limited to a highly skilled minority
2. What has transformed teaching into an important branch of public service is
- teaching skills
 - technical developments
 - utilitarian philosophy
 - the demand of the employing industry
3. According to this passage, in modern times a successful teacher is primarily supposed to
- impart knowledge
 - impart new and the latest skills

- (c) toe the lines preferred by those in authority
 (d) instil values he cherishes the most
4. The modern teacher is not able to follow the ideals of his predecessors because
 (a) of tremendous advancements in professional skills
 (b) of social and financial constraints
 (c) the students are not serious about studies.
 (d) the modern teacher has more interest in politics than in academic activity.
5. The author seems to
 (a) be against the current trend in the teaching profession
 (b) approve the recent developments in the mode of teaching
 (c) be a traditionalist in his views
 (d) consider education as a part of public service

Passage 2

How long I remained in the room with the cobra I cannot say. My servant said later that it was only half an hour, and no sound has ever been more welcome to me than the sounds I heard as my servant laid the table for dinner. I called him to the bathroom door, and told him of my predicament and instructed him to fetch a lantern and a ladder. After another long wait, I heard the babel of voices, followed by the scraping of the ladder against the outer wall of the house. When the lantern had been lifted to the window, ten feet above the ground, it did not illuminate the room, so I told the man who was holding it to break a pane of glass and pass the lantern through the opening. The opening was too small for the lantern to be passed in upright. However, after it had been relit three times, it was finally inserted into the room and, feeling that the cobra was behind me, I turned my head and saw it lying at the bottom of the bedroom door two feet away. Leaning forward very slowly, I picked up the heavy bath-mat, raised it high and let it fall as the cobra was sliding over the floor towards me. Fortunately I judged my aim accurately and the bath-mat crashed down on the cobra's neck six inches from its head. As it bit at the wood and lashed about with its tail, I took a hasty stride to the verandah door and in a moment was outside among a crowd of men, armed with sticks and carrying lanterns, for word had got round to the railway quarters that I was having a life-and-death struggle with a big snake in a locked room.

6. The incident narrated in the passage is
 (a) humorous (b) tragic
 (c) dramatic (d) thrilling
7. The room in which the writer is locked in with the cobra is his
 (a) drawing room (b) bath-room
 (c) toilet (d) bed-room
8. "It did not illuminate the room". Here 'illuminate' can be replaced by
 (a) light up brightly (b) make colourful
 (c) throw faint light (d) enlighten
9. A large crowd had gathered outside the writer's room, presumably to
 (a) catch the snake
 (b) kill the snake if it came out
 (c) watch the writer's struggle with the cobra
 (d) break open the door of the room

Passage 3

(N.D.A. 1993)

It is not luck but labour that makes men. Luck, says an American writer, is ever waiting for something to turn up; labour with keen eyes and strong will always turns up something. Luck lies in bed and wishes the postman would bring him news of a legacy; labour turns out at six and with busy pen and ringing hammer lays the foundation of competence. Luck whines, labour watches. Luck relies on chance, labour on character. Luck slips downwards to self-indulgence; labour strides upwards and aspires to independence. The conviction, therefore, is extending that diligence is the mother of good luck; in other words, that a man's success in life will be proportionate to his efforts, to his industry, to his attention to small things.

10. Which of the following statements sums up the meaning of the passage?
 (a) Luck often ends in defeat but labour produces luck.
 (b) Luck is self-indulgent but labour is selfless.
 (c) Luck waits and complains without working while labour achieves success although it complains.
 (d) Luck waits without exertion but labour exerts without waiting.
11. ".....labour turns out at six and with busy pen and ringing hammer lays the foundation of competence". This statement means

- (a) the labourer lays the foundation of the building.
 (b) there is no worker who works so hard as the labourer who begins his day at six in the morning.
 (c) hard work of all kinds makes people efficient.
 (d) the writer and the labourer are the true eyes of the society.
12. Which of the following words in the passage indicate that the writer does not ultimately reject the element of luck?
 (a) "Luck is ever waiting"
 (b) "Luck the postman would bring him news"
 (c) "Luck whines"
 (d) "diligence is the mother of good luck"
13. Which of the following statements is true about the passage?
 (a) Success depends only on hard work.
 (b) Success is exactly proportionate to hard work.
 (c) Luck is necessary for success.

Passage 4

With the coming of the television, the radio no longer holds the same attraction for people as it did once. Yet somehow I have not quite reconciled myself to the idea of sitting in front of the TV, viewing it. I prefer the radio set, the good old box by your bedside. And here, again, the older and the larger the radio set the better for me. I do not like these new-fangled transistors. May be, I am old-fashioned.

14. ".....I have not quite reconciled myself to" implies that the person has not fully
 (a) applied (b) admitted
 (c) accepted (d) understood
15. The word 'new-fangled' suggests
 (a) very complex
 (b) recently assembled
 (c) colourfully decorated
 (d) newly come into fashion
16. The passage implies that the author
 (a) has a liking for television
 (b) dislikes radio sets
 (c) prefers transistors to radio sets
 (d) prefers radio sets to transistors and the television

Passage 5

(Bank P.O. 1995)

Although a smiling face often disguises the mind and heart of villain, an indiscriminate generalisation of this phenomenon will do injustice to the innocent children whose faces bloom like flowers.

17. Which of the following is most nearly the same in meaning as the word 'disguises' as used in the sentence?
 (a) proves (b) hides (c) reflects
 (d) conceals (e) reveals
18. The intention of the author seems to be
 (a) to create a favourable opinion about people with smiling faces
 (b) to forcefully defend the kind acts of villains
 (c) to point out to an exception to the general rule
 (d) to give justice to the generous actions of everyone
 (e) to argue in favour of children who are sometimes guilty
19. The author of the sentence accepts the fact that
 (a) the faces of the villains are never smiling.
 (b) the faces of innocent children are as pleasing as the flowers in bloom.
 (c) the faces of innocent children disguise ill acts.
 (d) all the things that appear most beautiful are the ugliest within.
 (e) an indiscriminate generalisation is justifiable in this case.
20. Which of the following is most opposite of the word 'indiscriminate' as used in the sentence?
 (a) selective (b) broad
 (c) conspicuous (d) promiscuous
 (e) undistinguished
21. The author feels that an indiscriminate generalisation of the phenomenon
 (a) should be done in all cases except children and flower
 (b) would prevent villains from committing ill acts
 (c) may lead good people to involve in ill actions
 (d) would do justice to the children who are guilty
 (e) would brand all people with smiling faces as villain

Passage 6

Do not study too long at once. So long as the mind works with ease, it may be allowed to continue working but if we find it moves slowly and extra trouble is needed to keep the attention fixed, it is far better to break off and take a walk or have some other recreation, than to go on plodding until one feels wholly exhausted. To continue to force the mind to work is likely to lead to injurious result and may end in a nervous breakdown from which recovery is slow and troublesome.

22. While making the observation "Do not study too long", the author suggests that
- excess of everything is bad.
 - reading continuously for long hours is tiring.
 - mind is delicate and it should not be taxed too much.
 - doing mental work beyond a certain limit may cause serious injury to the man.
23. The underlying tone of the passage is that
- man should work within limits.

- man is delicate and should be handled carefully.
- an injury to the mind is more difficult to cure than an injury to any other part of the body.
 - mind controls the entire physical system and should be kept in a perfect state.
24. A man feels that he is exhausted when
- he finds his mind working slowly
 - he has a headache
 - his thought process is clouded
 - he finds it difficult to concentrate
25. The writer suggests that the main cause of nervous breakdown is
- a life of anxiety and worry
 - too much work and little diversion
 - excessive mental work leading to exhaustion
 - a strenuous life

PRACTICE SET 8

Passage 1

(C.D.S. 1993)

Mahatma Gandhi believed that industrialisation was no answer to the problems that plague the mass of India's poor and that villagers should be taught to be self-sufficient in food, weave their own cloth from cotton and eschew the glittering prizes that the twentieth century so temptingly offers. Such an idyllic and rural paradise did not appear to those who inherited the reins of political power.

1. Mahatma Gandhi's views opposed industrialisation of villages because
- it would take away the skill of the villagers.
 - it would undermine self-sufficiency and destroy the beauty of life of the villager.
 - it would help the poor and not the rich.
 - it would affect the culture of the Indians.
2. The meaning of 'the glittering prizes that the twentieth century so temptingly offers' is

- replacement of rural by urban interests
 - absence of violence and corruption.
 - pursuit of a commercialized material culture
 - complete removal of poverty
3. The basis of 'an idyllic and rural paradise' is
- self-sufficiency in food and clothes and simplicity of life style
 - supporting those holding powerful political positions
 - rapid industrialisation of villages
 - bringing to the villages the glittering prizes of the twentieth century
4. Which of the following best illustrates the relationship between the phrases:
- 'eschew the glittering prizes'; and
 - 'idyllic and rural paradise'?
- the meaning of (i) is directly opposite to (ii).
 - (i) and (ii) are identical in meaning.
 - first of all you must have (ii) in order to do (i).
 - unless you do (i), you cannot have (ii).

Passage 2

We are tempted to assume that technological progress is real progress and that material success is the criterion of civilisation. If the Eastern people become fascinated by machines and techniques and use them, as western nations do, to build huge industrial organisations and large military establishments, they will get involved in power politics and drift into the danger of death. Scientific and technological civilisation brings great opportunities and great rewards but also great risks and temptations. Science and technology are neither good nor bad. They are not to be tabooed but tamed and assigned their proper place. They become dangerous only if they become idols.

5. Science and technology will bring benefits to
- nobody
 - only Western nations
 - only Eastern countries
 - all, if tamed properly
6. From the passage, one gathers that the Eastern people must
- build huge industrial organisations and techniques
 - be fascinated by machines
 - appreciate scientific achievements
7. According to the author, science and technology should be
- tabooed and eliminated from life
 - used in a controlled and careful manner
 - encouraged and liberally used
 - extensively exploited for industrial production
8. According to the author, people think that real progress lies in
- working on the same lines as the Western nations
 - taking risks and facing temptations
 - material success and technological growth
 - having large industries and political power

Passage 3 (Translators' Exam, 1994)

In this work of incessant and feverish activity, men have little time to think, much less to consider ideals and objectives. Yet how are we to act, even in the present, unless we know which way we are going and what our objectives are? It is only in the peaceful atmosphere of a university that these basic problems can be adequately considered. It is only when the young men and women, who are in the university today and on whom the burden of life's problems will fall tomorrow, learn to have clear objectives and standards of values that there is hope for the next generation. The past generation produced some great men but as a generation it led the world repeatedly to disaster. Two world wars are the price that has been paid for the lack of wisdom on man's part in this generation.

I think that there is always a close and intimate relationship between the end we aim at and the means adopted to attain it. Even if the end is right but the means are wrong, it will vitiate the end or divert us in a wrong direction. Means and ends are thus intimately and inextricably connected and cannot be separated. That, indeed, has been the lesson of old taught us by many great men in the past, but unfortunately it seldom remembered.

9. People have little time to consider ideals and objectives because
- they consider these ideals meaningless.
 - they do not want to burden themselves with such ideas.
 - they have no inclination for such things.
 - they are excessively engaged in their routine activities.
10. 'The burden of life's problems' in the fourth sentence refers to
- the incessant and feverish activities
 - the burden of family responsibilities
 - the onerous duties of life
 - the sorrows and sufferings
11. The two world wars are the price that man paid due to
- the absence of wisdom and sagacity
 - his not caring to consider the life's problems
 - his ignoring the ideals and objectives of life
 - his excessive involvement in feverish activities
12. According to the writer the adoption of wrong means even for the right end would
- not let us attain our goal
 - bring us dishonour
 - impede our progress
 - deflect us from the right path
13. The word 'vitate' used in the second paragraph means

- (a) negate (b) debase
(c) tarnish (d) destroy

Passage 4

If non-Hindi speaking people fought for one of their own languages to be declared as the official language, it should not have been so great matter of surprise, as it is when one finds these brave patriotic people fighting tooth and nail to retain English as the lingua franca which is as best as foreign language. Mahatma Gandhi never gave the problem of the necessity of a national language any lesser degree of importance than the problem of a national independence. He was strongly opposed to those blind protagonists of English who failed to realise the worth of a national language. He held it a crime against the children to educate them through the medium of foreign language.

14. Which of the following is the first step towards the progress of a nation?
(a) Promotion of national language
(b) Achievement of independence
(c) Educating the children through the medium of national language
(d) Having a foreign language as the official language
15. 'To fight tooth and nail' means
(a) to oppose
(b) to do a work with all possible ideas
(c) to fight with every possible effort
(d) to retain English as the official language
16. Which of the following represents Gandhiji's views on the education of children through foreign language?
(a) Nothing could be done as there was no national language.
(b) It was necessary for the moral development of the nation.
(c) It was a necessary step to develop relations with other countries.
(d) It was not the right act.
17. Which of the following is true in context of the given passage?
(a) English should be made the national language.
(b) Non-Hindi speaking people should fight for one of their own languages to be declared as the official language.
(c) Gandhiji laid more stress on having a national language than on achieving independence.

- (d) Gandhiji was of the opinion that children should be educated through the medium of national language.

Passage 5

(N.D.A. 1995)

But I did not want to shoot the elephant. I watched him beating his bunch of grass against his knees, with that preoccupied grandmotherly air that elephants have. It seemed to me that it would be murder to shoot him. I had never shot an elephant and never wanted to. (Somehow it always seems worse to kill a large animal). Besides, there was the beast's owner to be considered. But I had got to act quickly. I turned to some experienced looking Burmans who had been there when we arrived, and asked them how the elephant had been behaving. They all said the same thing: he took no notice of you if you left him alone, but he might charge if you went close to him.

18. From the passage it appears that the author was
(a) a worried man
(b) possessed with fear
(c) kind and considerate
(d) an inexperienced hunter
19. The phrase 'preoccupied grandmotherly air' signifies
(a) calm, dignified and affectionate disposition
(b) a very superior attitude
(c) pretending to be very busy
(d) being totally unconcerned
20. The author did not want to shoot the elephant because he
(a) did not find the elephant to be ferocious
(b) was afraid of it
(c) did not wish to kill an animal which was not doing anybody any harm
(d) did not have the experience of shooting big animals

Passage 6

(C.D.S. 1995)

After submitting his resignation, Albert came out and took the long narrow road leading to the railway station which was one of the busiest roads in the city. Sad and depressed and worried about looking for a new job, Albert looked around for a cigarette shop. He walked up to the end of the road but found no tobacconist. It was odd that such a busy thoroughfare with thousands of people passing through did not even have a single cigarette shop. He suddenly felt that it was no longer necessary for him to hunt for a job. He decided to open a tobacco shop himself. It was bound to be profitable, he felt.

21. After submitting his resignation, Albert came out worried about
(a) a shelter (b) cigarettes
(c) a job (d) the next available train
22. Albert was sad and depressed because
(a) he had no money for the train journey.
(b) he had had to walk on a long road.
(c) he was not able to buy cigarettes.
(d) he was worried about finding a job.
23. There was no cigarette shop on that road because
(a) smoking is banned in that area.
(b) just by chance nobody had opened one on that road.
(c) it was a very narrow road.
(d) cigarette-shop owners do not make any profit.

24. Albert decided not to look for a new job because
(a) the thought of having to look for a job greatly distressed him.
(b) he did not want to work at all.
(c) there was no hope of finding a job.
(d) he saw the possibility of self-employment.
25. A cigarette shop on a busy road was bound to be profitable because
(a) cigarette shops are known to make a great deal of profit.
(b) any shop on a busy street would attract a large number of customers.
(c) cigarettes are inexpensive items and people buy them willingly.
(d) a cigarette shop on a busy road would attract a large number of customers.

ANSWERS

1. (b) 2. (c) 3. (a) 4. (d) 5. (d) 6. (b) 7. (b) 8. (c) 9. (d) 10. (c)
11. (a) 12. (d) 13. (b) 14. (b) 15. (c) 16. (d) 17. (d) 18. (c) 19. (a) 20. (d)

PRACTICE SET 9

Passage 1

(N.D.A. 1994)

Most employees decide their own working hours, set production quotas, improving product and processes, are responsible for their own quality and for approval of leadership appointments. Every one votes on major corporate decisions and on how to split the profits.

As confidence in its novel approach has grown, Semco has happily abolished a lot more of the conventions by which businesses are usually run. No secretaries, receptionists or personal assistants. Reserved parking spaces and dining rooms, dress codes and almost all rules have gone, including those for travel and expenses.

1. From the passage it is clear that the novel approach referred to is
(a) Aristocratic (b) Autocratic
(c) Democratic (d) Bureaucratic
2. The employees referred to are
(a) Employees of a public sector undertaking
(b) Employees of a private company
(c) Employees of essential services

(d) Government Employees

3. In the given passage, 'Semco' is the name of
(a) A business establishment.
(b) A brand of the product
(c) A novel approach to things and affairs
(d) The leader of secretaries, receptionists and personal assistants
4. The term 'leadership appointments' has been used in this passage to signify
(a) appointing officers-in-charge of various units/sections
(b) selecting political leaders
(c) selecting Company Directors
(d) choosing trade union leaders

Passage 2

It was clear that to climb Annapurna the right men had to be sufficiently high up on the mountain to make their attempt on the peak while still fresh and strong. To ensure that, a chain of high camps must be established and the greater part of the work done by the Sherpas, so that the mountaineers would not tire themselves before they were in a position to attack the peak. Like all other expeditions to the Himalayas, the Frenchmen were to realise the value of the hardy mountain people, without whom they would soon find themselves too helpless to achieve their goal.

5. Annapurna must be the name of
 - (a) a mountain scape
 - (b) a mountain chain
 - (c) a mountain summit
 - (d) a mountain pass
6. To make the final attempt to climb Annapurna, the work that was to be done first was
 - (a) to have a station built on a high position of the mountain
 - (b) to have the greater part of the work done by the Sherpas
 - (c) to realise the nature of the hardy mountain people
 - (d) to remain fresh and strong
7. The work of establishing a chain of high camps had to be mainly done by the Sherpas because
 - (a) the Sherpas were particularly skilled.
 - (b) the Sherpas were particularly hardy.
 - (c) the mountaineers had to preserve their energy.
 - (d) the mountaineers had to maintain their superior status.
8. In the given context the expression 'to attack the peak' means
 - (a) to begin to climb the peak desperately
 - (b) to begin the final phase of climbing the peak with all vigours
 - (c) to rush upon the peak
 - (d) to use all force to climb the peak
9. The author is of the opinion that the French expedition would fail
 - (a) if the mountaineers did not establish a chain of high camps
 - (b) if the mountaineers failed to realise the nature of the Sherpas
 - (c) if the mountaineers did not remain fresh and strong
 - (d) if the mountaineers were deserted by the Sherpas

Passage 3 (Bank P.O. 1994)

The goals of our present system of primary and secondary schooling is to prepare students for the examination system which will take them to the best technical institutions in the country. While the teaching of science and mathematics has over the years been upgraded, the teaching of the humanities and social sciences continues to be straightjacketed in grotesque ways. Those areas of the Indian reality which ought to form the proper subject like caste, poverty and environmental degradation, if we are to create a responsible and aware body of citizens, form no part of the syllabus.

The capacity to think independently and critically about problems that plague modern Indian society, which ought really to be a prominent part of a humanities curriculum, is perceived to be intractable from the point of view of the examiner. Lest the evaluation become subjective, every effort is made to reduce both history and economics to a series of facts; a one-to-one correlation between facts ensures proper systems of grading.

10. What seems to be the purpose of the author in writing this passage?
 - (a) To appreciate the present educational system
 - (b) To reduce importance of science and mathematics in our system of education.
 - (c) To critically look into the methods of teaching of science and mathematics
 - (d) To point out the deficiencies in the curriculum and examination system
 - (e) To put up a case for proper objective system of grading
11. According to the author, the present educational system ultimately helps the students in which of the following?
 1. Understanding the real problems of the people
 2. Acquiring various techniques to face the challenges of the future
 3. Getting admission to renowned technical institutions
 - (a) Only 1
 - (b) Only 2
 - (c) Only 3
 - (d) Only 1 and 2
 - (e) 1, 2 and 3
12. According to the author which of the following is the main reason leading to upgradation of teaching of science and mathematics?
 - (a) It inculcates proper values for becoming an ideal citizen.
 - (b) The syllabus of science and mathematics have been modified from time to time.
 - (c) Science and mathematics can solve our problems.
 - (d) The evaluation of these subjects is objective and critical.
 - (e) Not mentioned in the passage
13. According to the author, the teaching of science and mathematics develops capacity of the students in which of the following?

1. Considering pros and cons of each decision
2. Examining the problem minutely with proper analysis
 - (a) Only 1
 - (b) Only 2
 - (c) Both 1 and 2
 - (d) Either 1 or 2
 - (e) Not mentioned in the passage
14. The author seems to believe in which of the following?
 1. Proper education can help a person to become a responsible and responsive citizen.
 2. Objective evaluation is necessary for social sciences.
 3. The capacity to think can be developed by a properly designed curriculum of humanities and social sciences.
 - (a) Only 1
 - (b) Only 2
 - (c) Only 3
 - (d) Both 1 and 3
 - (e) 1, 2 and 3
15. What problems does the author see in the improvement of the teaching of humanities and social sciences?
 1. The present system of evaluation
 2. The present syllabus of these subjects
 3. The difficulties of the examiners
 - (a) Only 1
 - (b) Only 2
 - (c) Only 3
 - (d) 1, 2 and 3
 - (e) Not mentioned in the passage

Passage 4

Journalism combines writing with news gathering and interpretation. While the journalist's work obviously varies from newspaper to newspaper and from magazine to magazine, all journalists are as much research workers, as they are writers. They cannot write their news or feature stories, unless they locate it and research them first. They must be able to read the in-between lines of the main source-news and interpret that. A great many stories hunt the journalist, who rejects most of them. He carefully sorts and sifts those, taking only a relatively very small proportion of news, may be, coming from an unexpected source. A successful journalist may gather news to the tune of 100 percent but he can use them for his profession only 3-5 percent. He must be able to see or forecast to himself, the news of tomorrow or the day after, from the news of today; because newspapers want advance news or advance warning to give a good, exclusive and exhaustive coverage to anything of interest. But a real 'scoop' is a very rare event. And bogus scoops also bring disrepute to the newspaper.

16. According to the passage, a journalist's work includes
 - (a) writing
 - (b) news gathering
 - (c) sorting out the news
 - (d) all of the above
17. What, according to the passage, is the common characteristic of all journalists?
 - (a) They all write for the newspapers.
 - (b) They all have to first probe into the news they gather.
 - (c) They all make an adventure to find a worthy news.
 - (d) They all can forecast future news.
18. What is most important for a journalist?
 - (a) He must be able to interpret the news correctly.
 - (b) He must know how to sort out the news.
 - (c) He must be able to write effectively.
 - (d) He must know how to gather the right news.
19. What does the passage say about successful journalists?
 - (a) They reject a major portion of the gathered news.
 - (b) They can use a relatively small portion of the news.
 - (c) Their news come from unexpected sources.
 - (d) They present advance news.
20. What is the basic requisite for exclusive and exhaustive coverage of newspapers?
 - (a) Forecast of tomorrow's news from today's news
 - (b) Collecting the news of a 'real scoop'
 - (c) Selection of a small portion of the gathered news
 - (d) Effective style of writing

Passage 5

He had never thought much about the origin of wealth nor about the inequity of human conditions. He firmly believed that if this world was evil, the next could not but be good, and this faith upheld him. He was not like the clever fellows who sell their souls to the devil; he never took the name of God in vain; he lived the life of an honest man, and though he had no wife of his own, he did not covet his neighbour's, for woman is the enemy of strong men, as he learnt by the story of Samson which is written in the scriptures.

21. The passage indicates that the person the writer is talking about was
 (a) not well-educated
 (b) a deeply religious person
 (c) an eccentric
 (d) a scholar of the scriptures
22. The person described in the passage believed that
 (a) one must remain a bachelor if one wanted to be happy.
 (b) one must lead an honest life.
 (c) if this world is not good, the next would certainly bring him happiness.
 (d) repeating the name of God would give him peace of mind.
23. In this passage, the expression "he did not covet his neighbour's" means
 (a) he never showed any anxiety to possess his neighbour's wealth.
 (b) as he had no wife of his own he eagerly desired to have a woman in his life.
- (c) though he had no wife of his own he never showed any interest in the wife of his neighbour.
 (d) he did not find his neighbour's wife attractive.
24. The person mentioned in the passage presumed that woman was the enemy of a strong man because
 (a) he firmly believed that woman was evil.
 (b) he had read the story of Samson.
 (c) surrendering to woman meant for him selling his soul to the devil.
 (d) woman might spoil his chances in the next world.
25. "To sell one's soul to the devil" means to
 (a) sell oneself to make both ends meet
 (b) suppress the voice of one's conscience and take to an immoral life
 (c) sell one's honesty for the sake of monetary benefits
 (d) buy evil by mortgaging goodness

PRACTICE SET 10

Passage 1 (Stenographer's Exam, 1995)

Mountaineering is now looked upon as the king of sports. But men have lived amongst the mountains since pre-historic times and in some parts of the world, as in the Andes and Himalayas, difficult mountain journeys have inevitably been part of their everyday life. However, some of the peaks were easily accessible from most of the cities of Europe. It is quite interesting that while modern mountaineers prefer difficult routes for the greater enjoyment of sport, the early climbers looked for the easiest ones, for the summit was the prize they all set their eyes on. Popular interest in mountaineering increased considerably after the ascent of the Alpine peak of Matterhorn in 1865 and Edward Whymper's dramatic account of the climb and fatal accident which occurred during the descent.

In the risky sport of mountaineering the element of competition between either individuals or teams is totally absent. Rather one can say that the competition is between the team and the peaks themselves. The individuals making up a party must climb together as a team, for they depend upon one another for their safety. Mountaineering can be dangerous unless reasonable precautions are taken. However, the majority of fatal accidents happen to parties which are inexperienced or not properly equipped. Since many accidents are caused by bad weather, the safe climber is the man who knows when it is time to turn back, however tempting it may be to press on and try to reach the summit.

1. Mountaineering is different from other sports because
 (a) it can be fatal.
 (b) it is risky and dangerous.
 (c) there is no competition between individuals.
 (d) it is most thrilling and exciting.

2. People living in the Andes and the Himalayas made mountain journeys because
 (a) they lived in pre-historic times.
 (b) of the challenge offered by the difficult journey
 (c) it was a kind of sport.
 (d) they had to undertake them in their day-to-day life.
3. Mountaineers climb as a team because
 (a) there is no competition among them.
 (b) the competition is between the team and the peak.
 (c) the height is too much for one individual.
 (d) they have to rely on each other for safety.
4. "..... the summit was the prize they all set their eyes on". In the context of the passage this means
 (a) they kept their eyes steadily on reaching the peak.
 (b) reaching the top was their exclusive concern.
 (c) they chose a route from which they could see the summit clearly.
 (d) they cared for nothing but the prize of reaching the summit.
5. "to press on" in the last sentence means
 (a) to force upon others
 (b) to struggle in a forceful manner
 (c) to continue in a determined manner
 (d) to work fearlessly
- enriched her culture, heritage and tradition.
6. The passage speaks volubly of
 (a) India's past glory
 (b) invaders who attacked India
 (c) India's fabulous wealth
 (d) India as a home for foreigners
7. What in India attracted traders, invaders and preachers?
 (a) Its material and economic prosperity
 (b) Its material and spiritual wealth
 (c) The knowledge of truth and salvation
 (d) Its fabulous wealth and glory
8. What exerted the foreigners who came to India?
 (a) India's immense riches
 (b) India's land routes
 (c) Tiresome and risky journeys to India
 (d) Fighting with natives
9. What forced Alexander to move back to his country?
 (a) The resistance of the natives
 (b) The revolt of his army men
 (c) Sickness in his troops
 (d) Lack of fighting spirit in his people
10. What good did Mughals bring to this country?
 (a) They absorbed themselves into the stream of her life.
 (b) They made India their homeland.
 (c) They enriched its glory.
 (d) They increased its wealth.

Passage 3

(C.D.S. 1993)

In most Western countries, it is required that every young man, when his education is complete, shall give three, four or five years to military service. He goes into barracks, is regimented and drilled, makes a unit in the standing army and passes out usually when his term is ended, an efficient soldier, to remain for the rest of his life ready at any moment to join in the armed defence of his country.

11. In the passage, the author opines that
 (a) military training is more important than general education.
 (b) military training should precede college education since it builds up one's mental and physical abilities.
 (c) military training is as important as general training.
 (d) military training must be included in the curricula of schools and colleges
12. Military training is as important as mental training because
 (a) otherwise young men are useless.

Passage 2

India has always been an utmost inspiration for the world at large for her fabulous wealth, both material and economic prosperity as well as her spiritual excellence. It brought here both traders and invaders along with preachers and seekers in search of truth and salvation. All of them came through land routes by undertaking long and hazardous journeys which put a lot of stress and strain on their physique and nerves. Thus, the troops of Alexander mutinied and refused to march beyond Beas because of their weariness and fatigue in fighting and homesickness. They had, therefore, to be perforce despatched back. Many invading tribes like Kushans, Huns and Sakas in the ancient era and the Turks and Mughals during the medieval age, however, chose to make this land their own home and absorbed themselves in the stream of her life. They attempted their best to bring more and more lustre to her glory and

- (b) it is good that every scholar should also be an efficient soldier and be available for the country's defence.
(c) one gets a chance to live in barracks.
(d) war has become a daily affair.
13. Every young man has to undergo military training because he can
(a) get a job after such training.
(b) supplement his general education according to his wish
(c) join the army whenever his country needs to be defended in war
(d) learn and practise discipline
14. In Eastern countries like India, military training of students should be made compulsory
(a) to fight the anti-social elements in every village or town
(b) to make youth serve the nation during times of war and peace
(c) as it can solve the unemployment problem by providing more jobs
(d) to repress communal riots
15. The author, writing in the early part of twentieth century, does not seem to talk about the need of military training for women because
(a) women's education was a new thing then.
(b) she thinks women are not physically strong enough to undergo military training.
(c) women taking part in military service is only a recent phenomenon.
(d) according to her, women should remain indoors.

Passage 4

The greatest thing this age can be proud of is the birth of Man in the consciousness of men. In his drunken orgies of power and national pride man may flout and jeer at it. When organised national selfishness, racial antipathy and commercial self-seeking begin to display their ugly deformities in all their nakedness, then comes the time for man to know that his salvation is not in political organisations and extended trade relations, not in any mechanical re-arrangement of social system but in a deeper transformation of life, in the liberation of consciousness in love, in the realisation of God in man.

16. In the phrase 'the birth of Man in the consciousness of men', Man stands for
(a) noble human qualities
(b) power and arrogance

- (c) an idealistic notion of the human self
(d) egocentricity
17. People jeer at the 'birth of Man' in the human consciousness when they
(a) restructure the social system
(b) become power hungry
(c) begin to think of themselves as God
(d) become mentally deranged
18. In this passage, the phrase 'God in man' implies
(a) God having assumed the shape of man
(b) neither fully godly nor fully human
(c) man being transformed into God
(d) the divine qualities in man
19. According to the author, 'salvation' of human beings lies in the
(a) orgy of national pride
(b) extended trade relations
(c) spiritual transformation of life
(d) whole-hearted participation in political organisations
20. The author uses the expression 'ugly deformities' to show his indignation at
(a) the liberation of human consciousness
(b) selfishness and materialism of the people
(c) the drunken orgies of power
(d) political organisations

Passage 5 (S.S.C. 1995)

The ancient Aztecs, Chinese, Greeks and Romans played games in which a ball was kicked. A game called 'futballe' was so popular in merry old England that King Henry II (1154-1189) became alarmed because he feared his soldiers would neglect practising archery. He, therefore, threatened to imprison any player and any one on whose land the game was played. The game was against the law in England for 400 years. It was made legal during the sixteenth century. By that time archery wasn't needed because firearms were used in warfare. King James I gave the sport his blessing, praising it as a clean, honourable and manly sport.

In 1863, many British football clubs formed an association and agreed to call the game association football. It is also called soccer, a word that comes from the soc in association. In most parts of the world the game is called football. At least ten different forms of football are played in the world today.

21. The writer implies that
(a) English kings were interested in sports.
(b) football became popular in 19th century England.
(c) modern football originated in England.
(d) football is an ancient game.
22. 'Futballe' was banned in England in the 12th century because
(a) players were using other people's land.
(b) King Henry was scared of sports.
(c) very few people wanted to join the army.
(d) soldiers were neglecting archery practice.
23. King Henry's law said that
(a) people playing the game would be imprisoned.
(b) spectators would be imprisoned.
(c) owners of football fields would be imprisoned.
(d) Both (a) and (c)
24. King James allowed people to play football because
(a) he was kinder than Henry II.
(b) he did not force people to practice archery for warfare.
(c) he liked the game very much.
(d) firearms were used in war instead of bows & arrows.
25. Football is a popular sport because
(a) it is an ancient sport.
(b) it is played in England.
(c) it is played all over the world.
(d) there are ten different forms of the sport.

PRACTICE SET 11

Passage 1 (Hotel Management, 1993)

The village has customarily been very conservative in his attitude and approach. He is reluctant to change his traditional way of thinking and doing things. His attitude, in many respects, is : 'home-made is best'. For instance, most cattle-farmers in the villages, prefer to feed their cows and buffaloes with a home-mix comprising of local oil-cakes like mustard or cottonseed, pulses, jaggery, salt etc. It takes numerous visits, hard-convincing, daily trials and experiments to convince the rural cattle farmer that compound feeds, scientifically formulated, improve the yields of milk, without any incremental costs.

The age-old values and attitudes towards caste, creed, women, time and money take time to change. The villager has traditionally been a believer in the philosophy of 'Karma' or fate. He has found it more convenient to blame his economic destitution, poor living conditions, and straitened social status on 'bhagya', 'Karma' or 'fate'. The security that the villagers find in the 'status quo', acts as a discentive to change and experiment, in the short run. Many of these antiquated attitudes, value-system and outlooks are changing, due to improved levels of awareness and education. However, the rate of change is sluggish. Attitudes that have fossilised over the centuries, do take time to change.

1. When will you call a person conservative in his attitude and approach?
(a) When he would like to try out every new idea before accepting it
(b) When he sticks to old ways of thinking and doing
(c) When he solves his problems through tried out methods
(d) When he imputes motives to change-agents
2. What does the phrase "home-made is best" imply?
(a) Whatever is being practised is better than what is new.
(b) The best should not be discarded.
(c) Change for the sake of change is not good.
(d) People should go in for Swadeshi because it is home-made.

3. What is the best method to convince the average Indian villager about the superiority of a new cattle-feed?
(a) Home-visits (b) Field demonstration
(c) Discussion
(d) Distribution of related literature
4. Which of the following is not the usual reason offered by an average Indian villager for his poverty?
(a) It is his destiny.
(b) It is because of his resistance to new ideas.
(c) It is God's will.
(d) It is a result of some of his bad deeds committed in this or the previous birth.
5. Why does a villager feel secure in maintaining 'status quo'?
(a) Because change is seldom for the better
(b) Because of the imagined risk involved in trying a new approach
(c) Because whatever is known should be the best
(d) Because too many people go without advising him

Passage 2

Something is radically wrong with the entire structure of human relationships that makes man delight in killing man, whether it be in the name of civilisation or religion or anything else. Two wrongs do not make a right, hatred must beget hatred. It is this fundamental truth that women have got to bring home to the people in their respective countries. No peace treaties can avail that have revenge as their basis and self righteous arrogance and hypocrisy in the so called victors. But women are the natural preservers of life.

6. Which of the following expresses most accurately the idea contained in the opening sentence of the passage?
(a) Man destroying another man is a painful practice.
(b) A social structure that permits people to kill each other for religion is inherently rotten.
(c) It is strange that one religion encourages its followers to kill the followers of another religion.
(d) It is wrong on man's part to derive pleasure out of killing others for any motive whatsoever.
7. The expression 'Two wrongs do not make a right' means that

- (a) a wrong action in retaliation does not mend matters.
(b) hatred destroys the person who perpetrates it.
(c) a tit for tat policy aggravates hatred.
(d) even repeated assertions of a wrong statement do not make it right.
8. Which of the following statements is not implied in the passage?
(a) It is human tendency to kill others professing different religion.
(b) It is the duty of women to foster peace and harmony amongst their countrymen.
(c) Peace treaties among nations tend to establish peace in the world.
(d) If you hate someone, he is bound to respond with the same feeling.
9. Which word is opposite in meaning to 'preserver' as used in the passage?
(a) enemy (b) destroyer
(c) rival (d) belligerent
10. Which of the following would sum up most suitably the central idea of the passage?
(a) The role of women in the world of hatred and violence
(b) Man's instinct of destroying others
(c) Hatred leads to further hatred
(d) The significance of peace treaties

(S.S.C. 1992)

Bansilal's train was late and it reached Bombay a little after midnight. It was his first visit to the city, and he didn't know where to go. He thought he would go to a choultry where he would not have to pay rent, but he did not know how to find one at that hour. He asked a porter to get him a cheap room. The porter said that if Bansilal gave him three rupees, he would take him to one. But Bansilal waved him away and walked out of the station. He wandered through the streets and asked a number of people, but could not find a room cheap enough for him. He sat down on a park bench to think what he should do next. He was very tired and fell asleep on the bench. He woke up the next morning stiff in every limb but he smiled when he realised that it was the cheapest night's lodging that he had ever had.

11. In the passage, the word 'choultry' should mean
(a) a highway motel
(b) an expensive hotel
(c) a free resting place
(d) a roadside eating shop

12. The porter refused to help Bansilal because
(a) he refused to pay the porter any tips.
(b) he spoke a language which the porter could not understand.
(c) he had no previous acquaintance with the porter.
(d) he was rude to the porter.
13. Bansilal could not get any accommodation for the night because
(a) he wanted to spend the night in the open.
(b) all the hotels in the city were closed.
(c) all the hotel rooms were booked.
(d) the hotels were too expensive for him to afford.
14. The night long in the open
(a) did not affect him at all
(b) made his limbs stronger
(c) gave him aches all over his body
(d) refreshed Bansilal
15. From the passage, Bansilal emerges as
(a) a fun-loving person
(b) an adventure-seeking person
(c) an extravagant spender
(d) a thrifty person

Passage 4

If the census tells us that India has two or three hundred languages, it also tells us, I believe, that Germany has about fifty or sixty languages. I do not remember anyone pointing out this fact in proof of the disunity or disparity of Germany. As a matter of fact, a census mentions all manner of petty languages, sometimes spoken by a few thousand persons only; and often dialects are classed for scientific purposes as different languages. India seems to me to have surprisingly few languages, considering its area. Compared to the same area in Europe, it is far more closely allied in regard to language, but because of widespread illiteracy, common standards have not developed and dialects have formed. The principal languages of India are Hindustani (of the two varieties, Hindi and Urdu), Bengali, Gujarati, Marathi, Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam and Kannada. If Assamese, Oriya, Sindhi, Kashmiri, Pushtu and Punjabi are added, the whole country is covered except for some hill and forest tribes. Of these, the Indo-Aryan languages, which cover the whole north, centre and west of India, are closely allied; and the southern Dravidian languages, though different, have been greatly influenced by Sanskrit, and are full of Sanskrit words.

16. In the passage the author
(a) compares India with Germany
(b) defends the multilingual situation of India
(c) criticises the illiteracy in India
(d) classifies the Indian languages
17. One of the reasons why there are many dialects in India is
(a) vast area (b) population
(c) more communities (d) illiteracy
18. The Dravidian languages have been greatly influenced by Sanskrit. This
(a) makes them inferior to the Indo-Aryan languages
(b) makes them superior to the Indo-Aryan languages
(c) brings them close to the Indo-Aryan languages
(d) makes them very different from the other Indian languages
19. Which of the following statements is true according to the given passage?
(a) India has far too many languages.
(b) India is a vast country with not too many languages.
(c) India has as many languages as Europe does.
(d) Indian languages are not as well developed as those of Europe.

Passage 5

(C.D.S. 1995)

At this stage of the civilisation, when many nations are brought into close and vital contact for good and evil, it is essential, as never before, that their gross ignorance of one another should be diminished, that they should begin to understand a little of one another's historical experience and resulting mentality. It is a fault of the English to expect the people of other countries to react as they do, to political and international situations. Our genuine goodwill and good intentions are often brought to nothing, because we expect other people to be like us. This would be corrected if we knew the history, not necessarily in detail but in broad outlines, of the social and political conditions which have given to each nation its present character.

20. The need for a greater understanding between nations
(a) will always be there
(b) is more today than ever before
(c) was always there

- (d) is no longer there
21. According to the author the 'mentality' of a nation is mainly a product of its
(a) present character (b) politics
(c) international position (d) history
22. Englishmen like others to react to political situations like
(a) each other (b) others
(c) themselves (d) us
23. According to the author his countrymen should
(a) have vital contacts with other nations
(b) not react to other nations
(c) have a better understanding of other nations
(d) read the history of other nations
24. The character of a nation is the result of its
(a) socio-political conditions
(b) gross ignorance
(c) cultural heritage (d) mentality

PRACTICE SET 12

Passage 1 (S.S.C. 1994)

Education, as Mahatma Gandhi described it, "is the tool for the development of consciousness and reconstitution of society". Since Independence, India has stressed reforming and restructuring the educational system as part of state intervention. The National Policy on Education (NPE), 1986, which is hailed as a landmark in the Indian educational system, provided a comprehensive framework to guide the development of education in the country. The NPE and its Programme of Action was again updated in 1992 through similar consensual process involving all the State governments, resource organisations and educationists.

What has been worrying the critics and educationists alike is the non-fulfilment of one of the NPE objectives: education of girl. It has been stated in the NPE that the 'Education For All' meet should have a strong gender focus as Education For All by definition is gender inclusive.

1. According to Mahatma Gandhi, education is
(a) a medium through which people are taught to become sensitive to the realities around them
(b) a tool to develop their conscience and constitution
(c) a tool to develop their understanding of the constitution of society
(d) an instrument to develop their society consciously
2. The National Policy on Education provided
(a) guidelines for the comprehension of education in the country
(b) guidance material to develop education in the country
(c) a comprehensive plan for the development of education in the country
(d) comprehensive development of education in the country
3. According to the passage, critics and educationists are worried that
(a) the education of girls is one of the objectives of NPE.
(b) the objectives of NPE have not been fulfilled.
(c) non-fulfilment of NPE leads to the education of girls.
(d) one of the objectives of NPE has not been fulfilled.
4. According to the passage, 'a strong gender focus' means
(a) a focus on the strength of gender
(b) a focus on strong gender
(c) a strong focus on gender bias.
(d) a focus on male-female ratio
5. In the passage, the author makes a plea for
(a) free education
(b) universal education
(c) the education of men
(d) the education of women

Passage 2 (C.D.S. 1993)

Modern economics does not differentiate between renewable and non-renewable materials, as its method is to measure everything by means of a money price. Thus, taking various alternative fuels, like coal, oil, wood or water power: the only difference between them recognised by modern economics is relative cost per equivalent unit. The cheapest is automatically the one to be preferred, as to do otherwise would be irrational and 'uneconomic.' From a Buddhist point of view, of course, this will not do, the essential difference between non-renewable fuels like coal and oil on the one hand and renewable fuels like wood and water-power on the other cannot be simply overlooked. Non-renewable goods must be used only if they are indispensable, and then only with the greatest care and the highest concern for conservation. To use them carelessly or extravagantly is an act of violence, and while complete non-violence may not be possible on this earth, it is none the less the duty of man to aim at the ideal of non-violence in all he does.

6. In this passage, the author is trying to
(a) differentiate between two economic philosophies
(b) underline the need for conserving natural resources
(c) show that the modern economist is concerned only with costs
(d) differentiate between renewable and non-renewable materials
7. According to the passage, Buddhist economists are not in favour of
(a) using non-renewable sources
(b) measuring everything in terms of money
(c) applying non-violence to every sphere of life
(d) economic development
8. The Buddhist economist's attitude implies that fuels like coal and oil must be used only if
(a) there is no alternative fuel available.
(b) the relative cost of each is lower than that of wood and water.
(c) wood and water power can be dispensed with.
(d) there is a plentiful supply.
9. Which of the following statements may be assumed to be false from information in the passage?

1. The writer finds the attitude of modern economists towards natural resources to be uneconomic.
2. Buddhist economists are indifferent to the cost of fuels.
3. To use oil on non-essentials is contrary to the Buddhist economic philosophy.
4. To fell a tree is an act of violence not permitted by Buddhist economists.

Of the above statements, the correct ones are

- (a) 1 and 2 (b) 1, 2 and 4
(c) 3 and 4 (d) 1, 2, 3 and 4

10. Fill in the blanks with the appropriate pair of phrases:

The passage suggests that while a modern economist considers it uneconomic to use form of fuel, a Buddhist economist considers it uneconomic to use form of fuel.

- (a) a rational - an unessential
(b) an expensive - a nonrenewable
(c) an irrational - an essential
(d) a cheap - a renewable

Passage 3 (C.D.S. 1993)

Over all the countryside, wherever one goes, indications of technique are visible to the seeing eye. By technique is meant an exercise of skill acquired by practice and directed to a well-foreseen end. It is the name for the action of any of our powers after they have been so improved by training as to perform that action with certainty and success.

11. The italicised phrase in the sentence "Over all the countryside, wherever one goes, indications of technique are visible to the seeing eye" implies
(a) seeing the particular characteristics of things
(b) seeing with a clear eyesight
(c) perception caused by understanding
(d) application of some special device for the analysis of the things seen
12. The most important aspect of 'technique', as defined in the passage, is the use of skill
(a) for handling tools and machines
(b) for an understanding of the functions of tools and machinery
(c) for observation and analysis
(d) for a definite purpose
13. 'Skill' in this passage means
(a) 'any of our powers'
(b) the ability to do things well by hand,

- (c) the ability to master techniques
(d) the ability that has been tested by experience which makes success sure
14. The definition of the word 'technique' as given in the passage, does not overemphasize
(a) scientific methods (b) results
(c) theoretical knowledge
(d) practice and performance
15. The implied intention of the writer is to
(a) widen the scope of the term 'technique'
(b) mock at the modern craze for gadgets
(c) reject the popular meaning of the term 'technique'
(d) uphold the superiority of traditional techniques

Passage 4

We stand poised precariously and challengingly on the razor's edge of destiny. We are now at the mercy of atom bombs and the like which would destroy us completely if we fail to control them wisely. And wisdom in this crisis means sensitiveness to the basic values of life; it means a vivid realisation that we are literally living in one world where we must either swim together or sink together. We cannot afford to tamper with man's single minded loyalty to peace and international understanding. Anyone who does it is a traitor not only to man's past and present, but also to his future, because he is mortgaging the destiny of unborn generations.

16. From the tone and style of the passage it appears that the writer is
(a) a prose writer with a fascination for images and metaphors
(b) a humanist with a clear foresight
(c) a traitor who wishes to mortgage the destiny of future generations
(d) unaware of the global power situation
17. The best way to escape complete annihilation in an atomic war is to
(a) work for international understanding and harmony
(b) invent more powerful weapons
(c) turn to religion
(d) ban nuclear weapons
18. The phrase 'razor's edge of destiny' means a/an

- (a) enigma that cuts through the pattern of life like the edge of a razor
(b) a critical situation that foreordains the future
(c) a sharp line of division that marks the alternative courses of action in the future
(d) destiny having sharp edges
19. According to the writer, 'wisdom' in the present crisis means
(a) awareness that we stand poised precariously on the razor's edge of destiny
(b) determination to ban nuclear weapons
(c) responsibility to the 'unborn generations'
(d) awareness of the basic values of life
20. The author is so concerned about the threat of nuclear weapons because he feels that
(a) a nuclear war will destroy human civilisation.
(b) all countries are interlinked and one cannot escape the consequences of what happens to another country.
(c) the world is on the brink of disaster.
(d) his country is threatened by a nuclear war.

Passage 5

(I.E.S. 1993)

Until very recently, it was universally believed that men are congenitally more intelligent than women; even so enlightened a man as Spinoza decided against votes for women on this ground. Among white men, it is held that white men are by nature superior to men of other colours, and especially to black men; in Japan, on the contrary, it is thought that yellow is the best colour. In Haiti, when they make statues of Christ and Satan, they make Christ black and Satan white. Aristotle and Plato considered Greeks so innately superior to barbarians that slavery was justified so long as the master was Greek and the slave barbarian.

21. 'Congenitally' means
(a) falsely (b) fantastically
(c) innately (d) certainly
22. Spinoza decided against votes for women because according to him
(a) they did not deserve to have votes.
(b) they were less educated than men.
(c) they were generally unintelligent.

- (d) they were naturally less gifted with intelligence.
23. In Haiti, Christ's statue is black and Satan's white because the people there believe that
(a) black was good
(b) all white men are evil
(c) Christ was evil (d) Satan was good
24. Aristotle and Plato supported slavery because they thought
(a) slaves to be inferior
(b) that the barbarians belonged to Greece

- (c) the Greeks to be superior to barbarians
(d) the barbarians to be superior to Greeks
25. The author believes that
(a) colours vary from country to country.
(b) some colours are superior to other colours.
(c) some colours are inferior to other colours
(d) colours have no relevance to superiority

PRACTICE SET 13

Passage 1

(N.D.A. 1993)

Passage 2

Books are, by far, the most lasting product of human effort. Temples crumble into ruin, pictures and statues decay, but books survive. Time does not destroy the great thoughts which are as fresh today as when they first passed through their author's mind. These thoughts speak to us through the printed page. The only effect of time has been to throw out of currency the bad products. Nothing in literature which is not good can live for long. Good books have always helped man in various spheres of life. No wonder that the world keeps its books with great care.

1. Of the products of human effort, books are the most
(a) enjoyable (b) useful
(c) permanent (d) important
2. Time does not destroy books because they contain
(a) high ideals (b) great ideas
(c) useful material
(d) subject-matter for education
3. "To throw out of currency" means
(a) extinguish (b) forget
(c) destroy (d) put out of use
4. The world keeps its books with care because
(a) they make us successful.
(b) they help us in various spheres of life.
(c) they bring great ideas to us.
(d) they educate us.

Democracy, so long as it is what it is, imperfectly educated, throws a great responsibility on the leaders. The average voter even in educated England has no opinion of his own on many questions. He chooses his party by tradition or by his agreement with its central aims in those matters on which he has strong views. On other questions he takes his opinions from the leaders. His conscience is clear when the party is chosen and for the rest the leaders decide and the voters obey. In a complex social machine, it is difficult for the units to exercise thought. It is more easy to be obedient automata. It does not even pay to think. Perhaps thought may prove costly. If the leaders want to create public opinion, the machinery of the press and the wireless makes it most easy. Modern conditions afford propagandists vastly increased opportunities of promoting collective excitement and setting the world in a conflagration. A few clever and adventurous leaders can excite people's passions and suppress intellectual freedom. In these circumstances, truth does not win as there is no attempt to find out truth.

5. The most suitable title for the given passage would be
(a) Democracy and public opinion
(b) Democracy and intellectual freedom
(c) The role of leaders in a democracy
(d) The role of voters in a democracy

6. The opening sentence of the passage implies that
- the responsibility of educating a democracy lies with its leaders.
 - leaders in democracy with imperfectly educated voters have to shoulder great responsibility.
 - a well educated democracy is based on responsible leadership.
 - in a democracy with uneducated masses the leaders are highly duty conscious.
7. From the third sentence "He chooses his party by tradition", we gather that
- an English voter selects a party which strongly stands for traditional and popular beliefs.
 - the average voter in England votes for a party because of tradition irrespective of his agreement or disagreement with its basic policies.
 - in England an average voter supports a party either as a practice or because of his agreement with its broad policies.
 - in a democracy one votes for a party with whose objectives and policies he agrees on all matters.
8. "In a complex social machine "— the statement implies that
- it is difficult for an individual to challenge a complicated social machinery.
 - in a society which works like a machine an individual cannot be permitted to have his own political ambitions.
 - in a mechanical age a person cannot have individual aspirations.
 - an individual finds it hard to formulate his own opinion in a complicated social structure.
9. The statement: "it does not even pay to think" means that
- thinking is actually discouraged.
 - thoughtful persons are condemned.
 - thinking brings no advantage.
 - thinking is not allowed.
10. According to the author, it is most convenient for a leader to "create public opinion" because:
- he has been chosen by the public whom he represents.
 - the modern means of mass communication are readily available to him.
 - even an educated voter takes his opinion from the leader.
 - the average voter has no opinion of his own.
11. The word 'conflagration' in the passage signifies
- confusion
 - widespread fire
 - conflict
 - unforeseen calamity
12. Which of the following has the opposite meaning to the word 'suppress' as used in the passage?
- encourage
 - tolerate
 - dominate
 - describe
13. Which of the following statements expresses most accurately the idea contained in the last sentence of the paragraph?
- Some adventurous leaders encourage people's free thinking in an effort to get down to the true state of things.
 - An overambitious leader infuriates the mob and thus spreads falsehoods to serve his own ends.
 - At a time when clever leaders fan public feelings, nobody wants to know the truth which thus gets lost.
 - When public fury is aroused by cunning leaders some people are fed on lies.
14. Which one of the following statements is not implied in the passage?
- In democracy an average voter is generally led by the leader.
 - An individual in a democracy finds it easier to obey his leader than to do his own thinking.
 - A propagandist leader in a democracy can excite mob hysteria so as to cloud the truth.
 - A clever leader in a democracy arouses strong public frenzy in an effort to find out the truth.

Passage 3

(I.E.S. 1994)

The low unit of gas is a real temptation to anyone choosing between gas and electrical processes. But gas-fired processes are often less efficient, require more floor space, take longer and produce more variable product quality. The drawbacks negate the savings many businesses believe they make.

By contrast, electricity harnesses a unique range of technologies unavailable with gas. And many electric processes are well over 90 percent efficient, so far less energy is wasted with benefits in terms of products quality and overall cleanliness, it can so often be the better and cheaper choice. Isn't that tempting?

15. The passage can be described as
- an account of the growth of technology
 - an appeal not to use gas
 - an advertisement for electricity and its efficiency
 - an extract from a science journal
16. What does the writer mean by 'variable quality'?
- The kind of products vary from time to time.
 - The quality of the products is not uniform.
 - The quality of the products cannot be assessed.
 - Products from gas-fired processes are inefficient.
17. "Electricity harnesses a unique range of technologies"— What does the writer mean?
- depends on new kinds of technology
 - makes use of several technologies
 - has developed new technologies
 - ensures power for electricity and its efficiency

Passage 4

There are certain people, however, with whom one has a right to be bored—people who are so self-centred that they cannot listen to anyone else talking, people who engage in long conversations with their cats when visitors are present, people who engage in endless reminiscences of their old school when in the company of a man who was at a different school. Such people are boring because they make one feel for the time being an outsider.

18. Boring persons are generally
- talkative
 - quiet
 - indifferent
 - tedious
19. The most pleasing type of company is where people
- chit-chat with you in a patronising mood
 - listen to you with awe and respect
 - make you feel that they appreciate your conversation
 - shower on you a lot of flattering remarks
20. The expression 'endless reminiscences' stands for
- a boring and lengthy talk
 - a very long conversation
 - a long chain of events
 - an unending recollection of past experiences
21. A person feels an outsider in a company when
- everybody wants to know the details about him.
 - he finds that people are talking of things which do not concern him.
 - he does not know anybody.
 - he finds that everyone present there is more intelligent than he is.

Passage 5

(Railways, 1993)

Gandhiji recognised that while all men should have equal opportunity, all did not have the same capacity. Some had the ability to earn more than others. But he believed that those who had talent would be performing the work of society if they used their talent wisely and well. Gandhiji said that he would allow a man of intellect to earn more and not suppress his talent. But it was his view that the bulk of his larger earnings should go to the common fund. Those with talent and opportunity would find their fulfillment as trustees. Gandhiji extended this concept of trusteeship to cover all fields of life.

22. The title of the passage should be
- Gandhiji's philosophy
 - Gandhiji's services
 - Gandhiji's views
 - Gandhiji's character
23. According to Gandhiji, one can serve the society
- if he worked honestly
 - if he earned well
 - if he is talented
 - if he used his talent wisely
24. Gandhiji never believed in
- political equality
 - social equality
 - equality of opportunities
 - complete equality in all respects
25. The meaning of "Trustee" is
- the person having confidence
 - person who has charge of property in trust
 - a number of trusts
 - state official who executes wills and trusts

ANSWERS

1. (c) 2. (b) 3. (d) 4. (b) 5. (c) 6. (b) 7. (c) 8. (d) 9. (c) 10. (b)

PRACTICE SET 14

Passage 1-

(C.B.I. 1995)

There was a marked difference of quality between the personages who haunted the near bridge of brick and the personages who haunted the far one of stone. Those of lowest character preferred the former, adjoining the town; they did not mind the glare of the public eye. They had been of no account during their successes; and though they might feel dispirited, they had no sense of shame in their ruin. Instead of sigling at their adversaries they spat, and instead of saying the iron had entered into their souls they said they were down on their luck. The misers who would pause on the remoter bridge were of a politer stamp—persons who did not know how to get rid of the weary time. The eyes of this species were mostly directed over the parapet upon the running water below. While one on the townward bridge did not mind who saw him so, and kept his back to the parapet to survey the passer-by, one on this never faced the road, never turned his head at coming foot-steps, but, sensitive to his own condition, watched the current whenever a stranger approached, as if some strange fish interested him, though every finned thing had been poached out of the river years before.

- The two bridges were known
 - for being haunted places
 - for their similar design
 - for attracting dejected people to them
 - for being equi-distant from town
- People belonging to the lower strata, in their moments of distress
 - visited the brick-made bridge
 - remembered their days of glory
 - felt ashamed of their failures
 - dressed shabbily to earn sympathy
- The bridge of stone was frequented by
 - those fond of fishing.
 - the sophisticated but luckless
 - all the sections of society

(d) None of the above

- The attitude of the lowly and genteel towards strangers was
 - entirely different
 - virtually the same.
 - virulently hostile
 - completely indifferent
- In this passage, the author is trying to
 - explain the difference between the construction of two bridges
 - describe the way different sections of people like to dress
 - explain the variety of ways in which strangers can be treated
 - describe how people of different classes behaved when unhappy

Passage 2

(N.D.A. 1995)

The last twenty years have witnessed an explosion of growth opportunities for women in industry, especially at the decision-making level. Today more and more young women have a chance to walk the competitive edge and prove that their abilities are at par with, if not better than, those of their male colleagues.

However, as they are beginning to storm the traditionally male bastions of management they are finding out that the roads to success are paved with difficulties. They discover very early in their career that the battle for supremacy in corporate organisations calls into play not only the forces of power, control and dominance, but issues of gender, attitude and acceptance of women.

- The first sentence of the passage implies that job opportunities
 - in industry have increased
 - for women have increased
 - in the corporate sector have increased
 - for women at the managerial level have increased

- According to the passage, women in high positions also have
 - no problems at all
 - some problems
 - problems related to roles of women in society
 - problems related to power and control
- Which of the following phrases best reflects the meaning of 'male bastions'?
 - Management areas dominated by males
 - Management abilities of males
 - Management styles of males
 - Careers for males

Passage 3

(N.D.A. 1994)

As far as industrial pollution is concerned, while a commendable job has been done by the department of environment in making environmental impact assessment studies and ensuring that new big industries have built-in systems for pollution abatement and control, the problem of controlling pollution caused by small new units and existing plants has so far eluded solution.

The 1986 Act has undoubtedly given greater legal powers to State Pollution Boards and other concerned authorities to penalise offenders. However, it must be recognised that punitive action alone will not suffice. If we are really serious about controlling industrial pollution, the carrot must be used along with the stick.

- The problem of controlling industrial pollution remains unsolved because
 - offenders are not punished.
 - State Pollution Boards and other concerned authorities haven't got sufficient legal powers to deal with the offenders.
 - the problem has not been dealt with in a comprehensive manner.
 - the industrialists are not cooperating with the government.
- In order to control industrial pollution
 - existing plants without pollution abatement and control systems should be closed down.
 - no new small units should be allowed to come up.
 - no new big industries should be allowed to come up.
 - only such new big industries should be allowed to come up that have built-in-systems for pollution control.
- Industrial pollution can be controlled only when
 - State Pollution Boards and other concerned authorities are given more legal powers to deal with the offenders.
 - the policy of reward and punishment is introduced.
 - no small units are allowed to come.
 - existing plants without pollution abatements and control systems are closed down.

Passage 4

Even an ordinary everyday activity may lead to an insight into human nature.

A picnic had been arranged by the department. Everyone was supposed to join it. I, being older than a good many, was ill at ease at the thought of joining a bunch of callow youngsters dreaming of some soft and sweet company on the way to the hill resort.

But the morning of the adventure found the boy in me climbing the first ascent rather steep and hard, to the applause of all Adams and Eves in the troop.

Half way through we started finding snow all around us, but, the boy in me by then was once again lost into oblivion. I found myself lagging behind and often falling down on the soft snow due to soft foam rubber soles of my shoes.

A laughing stock I was. But, soon I found strong healthy arms supporting me. I pleaded, "Let me go, I'll not be able to make it", but they would not let me.

They were the arms of two hill folks who as people, had been described as withdrawn, selfish and aloof by my friends from the plains.

- The narrator in this passage felt ill at ease at the thought of joining the picnic party because there was an age gap between him and the rest of the party. Which one of the following do you think is right?
 - He would feel insulted because of the youngsters treating him as their equal.

- (b) He felt he would not be able to stand to the nonsense of the youth.
 (c) He would be embarrassed at lagging behind the youngsters while climbing the mountain.
 (d) He would suffer psychologically in the company of the youth indulging in romantic approaches and conversations.
14. The writer climbed the first ascent rather fast because
 (a) the sight of so many youngsters infused a spirit in him which made him feel like a young man.
 (b) he suddenly felt that he was still young.
 (c) he became competitive in the company of young boys and girls.
 (d) the sight of so many youngsters reminded him of his younger days.
15. The writer got tired soon because
 (a) his age prevented him from exerting himself for a long time in spite of his best spirit.
 (b) climbing a steep and hard rock was strenuous.
 (c) he had difficulty in walking on the snow.
 (d) falling behind the young climbers dampened his spirit and depressed him.
16. The hill folk did not let him go because
 (a) they had seen that others did not help him.
 (b) they had seen others laughing at him and wanted to add to their joy by supporting him in this way.
 (c) they realised the difficulty of a man from the plains in climbing up the hills which they could do very easily.
 (d) they had seen that he was a weakling and needed support.

Passage 5 (C.D.S. 1995)

Speech is a great blessing but it can also be a great curse, for while it helps us to make our intentions and desires known to our fellows, it can also, if we use it carelessly, make our attitude completely misunderstood. A slip of the tongue, the use of an unusual word, or of an ambiguous word, and so on, may create an enemy where we had hoped to win a friend. Again, different classes of people use different vocabularies, and the ordinary speech of an educated man may strike an uneducated listener as pompous. Unwittingly, we may use a word which bears a different meaning to our listener from what it does to men of our own class. Thus speech is not a gift to use lightly without thought, but one which demands careful handling. Only a fool will express himself alike to all kinds and conditions of men.

17. Speech can be a curse, because it can
 (a) reveal our intentions
 (b) lead to carelessness
 (c) hurt others
 (d) create misunderstanding
18. A 'slip of the tongue' means something said
 (a) unintentionally
 (b) wrongly by chance
 (c) without giving proper thought
 (d) to hurt another person
19. The best way to win a friend is to avoid in speech.
 (a) ambiguity (b) verbosity
 (c) pomposity (d) irony
20. While talking to an uneducated person, we should use
 (a) polite language (b) ordinary speech
 (c) his vocabulary (d) simple words
21. If one used the same style of language with everyone, one would sound
 (a) democratic (b) foolish
 (c) boring (d) flat

Passage 6 (N.D.A. 1994)

The Nobel Committee, in fact, a notoriously conservative body which among other things had a marked antipathy to pure sciences, especially to Mathematical Physics. Restrained by a clause in Alfred Nobel's will that the prize should go to the person whose 'discovery or invention' shall have conferred the greatest benefit to mankind, the committee initially ignored the great theoretical advances in Physics. Wracked, no doubt, by guilt that he had become a merchant of death through his invention of dynamite and smokeless powder and plagued by sadistic fantasies of destruction, the Swedish chemist, engineer and aspiring poet, Alfred Nobel, who has been described as Europe's richest vagabond, left his colossal fortune to the cause of progress in human knowledge. Five prizes were installed, one each for literature ('to the person who shall have produced in the field of literature, the most outstanding work of an idealistic tendency'), Physics, Chemistry, medicine and peace ('to the person who shall have done the most

- or the best work for fraternity among nations for abolition or reduction of armies, and for holding or promotion of peace').
22. The Nobel Committee has been called a conservative body because
 (a) it is conservative in choice of subjects.
 (b) its members believe in a conservative ideology.
 (c) its members are old fashioned.
 (d) it awards prizes only to those people who adopt a conservative approach.
23. In the beginning, the Nobel Committee ignored the great advances in theoretical physics because
 (a) they were different from other branches of physics.
 (b) they were concerned with theory and did not suggest its application.
 (c) the Committee felt that the discovery and invention in the field did not contribute to the benefit of mankind.

- (d) they proved to be merchants of death and hence dangerous to mankind.
24. Noble prize would not be given to
 (a) a diplomat who negotiated a peace settlement
 (b) a doctor who discovered a vaccine
 (c) a composer who composed a symphony
 (d) an author who wrote a novel
25. Alfred Nobel left his colossal fortune to the cause of progress in human knowledge because he
 (a) was 'Europe's richest vagabond'
 (b) was a chemist, engineer and an aspiring poet
 (c) felt guilty for having invented highly destructive things
 (d) felt guilty for having earned so much money

PRACTICE SET 15

Passage 1

Ernest Rutherford was the son of a Scot emigrant to New Zealand. His parents had 12 children, of whom Ernest was the fourth. His education was in a state primary school from which children at the age of 13 could get grants of scholarships to secondary schools and to the universities. Rutherford had no intention of following an academic career. He was no book-worm. He was good in any rough-and-tumble and a keen football player. But he was good at Latin and he had a passion for music and a mechanical bent of mind. At Nelson College, a state boarding school, he was an outstanding pupil, he sat for a scholarship to Canterbury College and this was because his masters expected it of him, and he won it. There, Rutherford as a student was fascinated by Hertz's work on radio waves and he began to conduct his own experiments in the clock room of the college, where the students, hung their gowns.

1. Rutherford was his parent's child.
 (a) last (b) only
 (c) fourth (d) second
2. Nelson College was a
 (a) state boarding school in New Zealand
 (b) college in England
 (c) school in Scotland
 (d) school in the United States
3. Rutherford sat for a scholarship test because
 (a) he was an outstanding student.
 (b) he was a bookworm.
 (c) he thought of following an academic career.
 (d) his masters wanted him to do that.
4. Rutherford carried out his own private experiments in
 (a) some corner of the cloakroom of Nelson College
 (b) some corner of the cloakroom of Canterbury College
 (c) a corner of the room allotted to him in the boarding house
 (d) in the laboratory of Nelson College

5. The phrase 'mechanical bent' suggests that Rutherford
 (a) was quite mechanical
 (b) was devoid of human warmth, emotion, feeling, intelligence etc.
 (c) did things and lived as thoughtlessly as a machine
 (d) had an aptitude for the science of machinery

Passage 2 (Hotel Management, 1995)

It is to progress in the human sciences that we must look to undo the evils which have resulted from a knowledge of the physical world hastily and superficially acquired by populations unconscious of the changes in themselves that the new knowledge has made imperative. The road to a happier world than any known in the past lies open before us if atavistic destructive passions can be kept in leash while the necessary adaptations are made. Fears are inevitable in our time, but hopes are equally rational and far more likely to bear good fruit: We must learn to think rather less of the dangers to be avoided than of the good that will lie within our grasp if we can believe in it and let it dominate our thoughts. Science, whatever unpleasant consequences it may have by the way, is in its very nature a liberator, a liberator of bondage to physical nature and in to come, a liberator from the weight of destructive passions. We are on the threshold of utter disaster or unprecedentedly glorious achievement. No previous age has been fraught with problems so momentous; and it is to science that we must look to for a happy future.

6. What does science liberate us from?
 It liberates us from
 (a) bondage to physical nature
 (b) fears and destructive passions
 (c) idealistic hopes of a glorious future
 (d) slavery to physical nature and from passions
7. To carve out a bright future a man should
 (a) try to avoid dangers
 (b) overcome fears and dangers
 (c) cultivate a positive outlook
 (d) analyse dangers that lie ahead
8. If man's bestial yearning is controlled
 (a) the present will be brighter than the future.
 (b) the present will become tolerant.

- (c) the future will be brighter than the present.
 (d) the future will be tolerant.
9. Fears and hopes, according to the author
 (a) can yield good results
 (b) can bear fruit
 (c) are irrational
 (d) are closely linked with the life of modern man
10. Should human sciences be developed because they will
 (a) eliminate the destruction caused by a superficial knowledge of the physical world
 (b) make us conscious of the changes in ourselves
 (c) make us conscious of the changing world
 (d) provide more knowledge of the physical world

Passage 3 (Translator's Exam, 1994)

That artificial intelligence quotient should seek to replace the time-tested I.Q. as a measure of mental ability is perfectly in consonance with the present day standards in a plastic society. However, the battle over grey cells whether in human or mechanical minds, whose latest round has found Uncle Sam shedding crocodile tears over Japan's failure to deliver on its promise to produce a fifth generation computer, may find the Asian Tiger Cubs—The under-35 Japanese researchers—having the last laugh. For, though all the boastful Tokyo talk a decade ago to build 1,000 processor computers to process knowledge—and not merely numbers which is all the Silicon Valley Chips supposedly do—has remained just talk, the 180 young scientists in the 10-year venture have nevertheless made the big brains at Silicon Valley look rather silly with their product which has a yen for logical programming. The jubilation in the Valley may turn to depression when the inexorable logic of this development pulls down Washington from its pedestal of supercomputer supremacy.

11. Asian Tiger Cubs are
 (a) young Japanese researchers
 (b) mechanical minds
 (c) the big brains at Silicon Valley
 (d) fifth generation computers
12. Uncle Sam reacts to their failure with
 (a) sorrow (b) depression
 (c) jubilation (d) insincere sorrow

13. What have the cubs failed to produce?
 (a) Number 3 processing computer
 (b) Grey cells
 (c) The fifth generation computer
 (d) A plastic society
14. What have they succeeded in producing?
 (a) Grey cells
 (b) A fifth generation computer
 (c) A knowledge processing computer
 (d) A product which has a yen for logical programming.
15. How is their success likely to affect Washington's supremacy?
 (a) It is likely to make it look silly.
 (b) It is likely to dislodge it.
 (c) It is likely to have the last laugh.
 (d) It is likely to produce jubilation in the Valley.

Passage 4 (C.D.S. 1994)

Corduroy is fast establishing itself as this year's fabric. While the ribbed cotton itself provides utilitarian tenacity, texture and warmth, it is the fabric's long-held associations that may provide a hint to its current revival as a fabric for all seasons.

It is Corduroy's link with good breeding and country living that made it an essential ingredient in the gentleman's wardrobe along with Wellington boots and a decent wolly. It combines the comfortable no-nonsense appeal of cotton with the perfectly correct luxury finish of velvet. Corduroy has the ability to appear either supremely sophisticated or rough and ready.

16. According to the author, the special quality of Corduroy is that
 (a) it combines the virtues of both cotton and velvet.
 (b) both the rich and the not-so-rich can afford to buy it.
 (c) it contains the correct mixture of cotton and velvet.
 (d) it needs no ironing.
17. Corduroy is essential in a gentleman's wardrobe because
 (a) it goes with Wellington boots.
 (b) it can be an idea alternative to woollen clothes.
 (c) its current revival gives a taste of the latest fashion.
 (d) it has its associations with good upbringing and a conservative life style.
18. Corduroy is a fabric for all seasons because

- (a) of its peculiar texture and warmth
 (b) it is made popular by catchy advertisements.
 (c) it can be worn not only in winter but also in summer.
 (d) gentlemen can wear it on both formal and informal occasions.
19. When the writer refers to Corduroy's 'utilitarian tenacity' he means that
 (a) it does not need frequent washing.
 (b) though expensive, it is economic in the long run.
 (c) it has remained fashionable over several years.
 (d) it is useful because it is durable.
20. Which one of the following best describes the passage?
 (a) It tells us about the usefulness of Corduroy.
 (b) It talks about the virtues of Corduroy.
 (c) It persuades us to buy Corduroy.
 (d) It makes us understand the everlasting appeal of Corduroy to the young.

Passage 5

Man is not destined to vanish. He can be killed, but he cannot be destroyed, because his soul is deathless and his spirit is irrepressible. Therefore, though the situation seems dark in the context of the confrontation between the super powers, the silver lining is provided by the amazing phenomenon that the very nations which have spent incalculable resources and energy for the production of deadly weapons are desperately trying to find out how they might never be used. They threaten each other, intimidate each other and go to the brink, but before the fatal hour arrives they withdraw from the brink.

21. Which of the following correctly expresses the author's view?
 (a) Huge stockpiles of destructive weapons have so far saved mankind from a catastrophe.
 (b) Mankind is heading towards complete destruction.
 (c) Nations in possession of huge stockpiles of lethal weapons are trying hard to avoid actual conflict.
 (d) Super powers have at least realised the need for abandoning the production of lethal weapons.
22. 'Irrepressible' in the second sentence means
 (a) unrestrainable (b) oppressive
 (c) strong (d) incompatible

23. The phrase 'go to the brink' in the passage means
 (a) declare war on each other
 (b) negotiate for peace
 (c) retreating from extreme danger
 (d) advancing to the stage of war but not engaging in it
24. The author's main point is that
 (a) man's destiny is not fully clear or visible.
 (b) man's safety is assured by the delicate balance of power in terms of nuclear weapons.
 (c) human society will survive despite the serious threat of total annihilation.
 (d) man's soul and spirit cannot be destroyed even by the super powers.
25. Which of the following best expresses the theme of the above passage?
 (a) Mounting cost of modern weapons
 (b) Man's desire to survive inhibits use of deadly weapons.
 (c) Threats and intimidation between super powers.
 (d) Destruction of mankind is inevitable.

Directions Read the following two letters and answer the questions given below them : (B.S.R.B. 1996)

Dear Shri Phutke,

Our earlier letter received no response from you.

What will your neighbours think if we have to send our truck out to your house to repossess that furniture on which you have so far not paid your last as many as six instalments out of the ten?

Sincerely yours,
 Feroz Lakdawala

Dear Shri Lakdawala,

I have discussed the matter you wrote about with all my neighbours and every one of them thinks it would be a mean act by a big and prestigious firm like yours.

Yours truly,

M.T. Phutke

26. It appears that Shri Lakdawala's main purpose of writing the letter is to
 (a) inform Shri Phutke's neighbours about the kind of furniture he sells
 (b) recover the unpaid balance amount from Shri Phutke
 (c) refund the amount of furniture sold by him
 (d) pay the last six unpaid instalments immediately
 (e) send his truck to Shri Phutke to shift his luggage
27. Which of the following made Lakdawala write a letter to Shri Phutke?
 (a) Discussions with Phutke's neighbours
 (b) Delay in recovery of the furniture
 (c) Prompt payment of six instalments
 (d) Purchase of furniture
 (e) None of these
28. How many instalments had Shri Lakdawala received from Shri Phutke?
 (a) Four (b) Six (c) Ten
 (d) Cannot be determined
 (e) None of these
29. Shri Phutke responded to Shri Lakdawala's letter by
 (a) paying the unpaid dues
 (b) returning the furniture
 (c) asking the neighbours for help
 (d) writing a humorous reply
 (e) permitting Lakdawala to take away his furniture
30. Which of the following can be definitely inferred from the above correspondence?
 (a) Lakdawala has so far refrained from writing any letter to Phutke.
 (b) Phutke's neighbours purchase furniture items from Lakdawala.
 (c) Phutke would not like Lakdawala to repossess the furniture.
 (d) Shri Phutke is no longer in need of the furniture he bought from Lakdawala.
 (e) Shri Phutke doesn't intend to withhold the payment any further.

9. THEME DETECTION

In this type of questions, a paragraph is given followed by certain statements which may or may not be inferred from the passage. The candidate is required to choose that statement which contains the gist or the theme of the passage i.e. the idea that it conveys.

Example : Through advertising, manufacturing exercises a high degree of control over consumer's desires. However, the manufacturer assumes enormous risks in attempting to predict what consumers will want and in producing goods in quantity and distributing them in advance of final selection by the consumers.

The paragraph best supports the statement that manufacturers— (S.B.L.P.O. 1995)

- (a) distribute goods directly to the consumers
 (b) can eliminate the risk of overproduction by advertising
 (c) always take moderate and calculated risk
 (d) can predict with great accuracy the success of any product they put on the market
 (e) must depend upon the final consumers for the success of their undertakings

Solution : According to the passage, it is very difficult for the manufacturer to predict the consumers' response to his products. But by advertising, he can stimulate the consumers to buy his product. So, the theme of the paragraph is best mentioned in (b). Hence (b) is the answer.

- (a) is incorrect because it is mentioned in the paragraph that manufacturers distribute goods in advance of their demands and not directly to the consumers.
 (c) is wrong because according to the passage, manufacturers take 'enormous' and not 'moderate' risks.
 (d) is wrong because it is mentioned in the passage that manufacturers take great risk in predicting what the consumers want.
 (e) is a true statement but it does not depict the complete theme of the passage.

PRACTICE SET

Directions : Each of the following questions contains a small paragraph followed by a question on it. Read each paragraph carefully and answer the question given below it :

1. The virtue of art does not allow the work to be interfered with or immediately ruled by anything other than itself. It insists that it alone shall touch the work in order to bring it into being. Art requires that nothing shall attain the work except through art itself.

(Bank P.O. 1996)

This passage best supports the statement that

- (a) art is governed by external rules and conditions.
 (b) art is for the sake of art and life.
 (c) art is for the sake of art alone.
 (d) artist realizes his dreams through his artistic creation.
 (e) artist should use his art for the sake of society.
2. Though the waste of time or the expenditure on fashions is very large, yet fashions have come to stay. They will not go, come what may. However, what is now required is that strong efforts should be made to displace the excessive craze for fashion from the minds of these youngsters.

The passage best supports the statement that :

- (a) fashion is the need of the day.
 (b) the excessive craze for fashion is detrimental to one's personality.
 (c) the hoard for fashion should be done away with so as not to let down the constructive development.
 (d) work and other activities should be valued more than the outward appearance.
3. Due to enormous profits involved in smuggling, hundreds of persons have been attracted towards this anti-national activity. Some of them became millionaires overnight. India has a vast coast line both on the Eastern and Western Coast. It has been a heaven for smugglers who have been carrying on their activities with great impunity. There is no doubt, that from time to time certain seizures were made by the enforcement authorities, during raids and ambush but even allowing these losses the smugglers made huge profits.

The passage best supports the statement that :

- (a) smuggling hampers the economic development of a nation.
 - (b) smuggling ought to be curbed.
 - (c) authorities are taking strict measures to curb smuggling.
 - (d) smuggling is fast increasing in our country owing to the quick profit it entails.
4. The only true education comes through the stimulation of the child's powers by the demands of the social situations in which he finds himself. Through these demands he is stimulated to act as a member of a unity, to emerge from his original narrowness of action and feeling, and to conceive himself from the standpoint of the welfare of the group to which he belongs. (Bank P.O. 1996)
- The passage best supports the statement that real education—
- (a) will take place if the children imbibe action and feeling
 - (b) will take place if the children are physically strong
 - (c) is not provided in our schools today
 - (d) comes through the interaction with social situations
 - (e) comes from the self-centred approach of the students
5. Emerson said that the poet was landlord, searlord, airdlord. The flight of imagination made the poet master of land, sea and air. But a poet's dream of yesterday becomes today an actual achievement and a reality for all men. Even those who invented, improved and perfected the aeroplane could hardly have dreamt of the possibility of flight into outer space.
- The passage best supports the statement that
- (a) seemingly impossible imaginations make one a good poet.
 - (b) all imaginations become a reality some day
 - (c) what man imagined has never been impossible; he has always turned it a reality through his conception of ideas and sheer hard labour

(d) man has reached the climax of technological development with his exploration into outer space.

6. The prevention of accidents makes it necessary not only that safety devices be used to guard exposed machinery but also that mechanics be instructed in safety rules which they must follow for their own protection, and that lighting in the plant be adequate. (S.B.I.P.O. 1995)
- The passage best supports the statement that industrial accidents—

- (a) are always avoidable
- (b) may be due to ignorance
- (c) cannot be entirely overcome
- (d) can be eliminated with the help of safety rules
- (e) usually result from inadequate machinery

7. It is upto our government and planners to devise ways and means for the mobilisation of about ten crore workers whose families total up about forty crore men, women and children. Our agriculture is over-manned. A lesser number of agriculturists would mean more purchasing or spending power to every agriculturist. This will result in the shortage of man-power for many commodities to be produced for which there will be a new demand from a prosperous agrarian class. This shortage will be removed by surplus man-power released from agriculture as suggested above.

The passage best supports the statement that—

- (a) employment in production is more fruitful than the employment in agriculture.
- (b) Indian economy is in a poor shape basically due to improper mobilisation of man-power.
- (c) a shift of labour from agricultural sector to the industrial sector would uplift the living standard.
- (d) the industrial sector is labour-deficient while the agricultural sector is over-manned in our country.

8. To forgive an injury is often considered to be a sign of weakness; it is really a sign of strength. It is easy to allow oneself to be carried away by resentment and hate into an act of vengeance; but it takes a strong character to restrain those natural passions. The man who forgives an injury proves himself to be the superior of the man who wronged himself and puts the wrong-doer to shame. (Bank P.O. 1996)

The passage best supports the statement that :

- (a) the sufferer alone knows the intensity of his sufferings.
- (b) people tend to forgive the things happened in the past.
- (c) natural passions are difficult to suppress.
- (d) mercy is the noblest form of revenge.
- (e) a person with calm and composed nature has depth of thought and vision.

9. Exports and imports, a swelling favourable balance of trade, investments and bank-balances, are not an index or a balance sheet of national prosperity. Till the beginning of the Second World War, English exports were noticeably greater than what they are today. And yet England has greater national prosperity today than it ever had. Because the income of average Englishmen, working as field and factory labourers, clerks, policemen, petty shopkeepers and shop assistants, domestic workers and other low-paid workers, has gone up.

The passage best supports the statement that :

- (a) a country's economic standard can be best adjudged by the per capita income.
- (b) a country's balance of trade is the main criteria of determining its economic prosperity.
- (c) a nation's economy strengthens with the increase in exports.
- (d) English trade has continually increased since the Second World War.

10. Throughout the ages the businessman has helped build civilisation's great cities, provided people with luxuries and artists with patronage, and lift his fellow citizens to understand the standard of living. In the last few centuries the businessman has seeded the Industrial Revolution around the world. (S.B.I.P.O. 1995)

The passage best supports the statement that the businessman

- (a) is accountable to the society
- (b) lives luxurious and comfortable life

(c) is the beneficiary of the Industrial Revolution

(d) is capable of raising his standard of living

(e) has contributed to the growth of civilisation

11. Industrial exhibitions play a major role in a country's economy. Such exhibitions, now regularly held in Delhi, enable us to measure the extent of our own less advanced industrial progress and the mighty industrial power and progress of countries like the U.K., U.S.A. and Russia whose pavilions are the centres of the greatest attention and attractions.

The passage best supports the statement that the industrial exhibitions—

- (a) greatly tax the poor economies
- (b) are more useful for the developed countries like U.S.A. whose products stand out superior to those of the developing countries
- (c) are not of much use to the countries who are industrially backward
- (d) boost up production qualitatively and quantitatively by analytical comparison of a country's products with those of the developed countries

12. Satisfaction with co-workers, promotion opportunities, the nature of work, and pay goes with high performance among those with strong growth needs. Among those with weak growth needs, no such relationship is present — and, in fact, satisfaction with promotion opportunities goes with low performance.

This passage best supports the statement that :

- (a) satisfaction is an inevitable organisational variable.
- (b) job satisfaction and performance are directly and closely related.
- (c) relationship between job satisfaction and performance is moderated by growth need.
- (d) every organisation has few employees having weak growth need.
- (e) high performance is essential for organisational effectiveness.

13. The attainment of individual and organisational goals is mutually interdependent and linked by a common denominator — employee work motiva-

- tion. Organisational members are motivated to satisfy their personal goals, and they contribute their efforts to the attainment of organisational objectives as means of achieving these personal goals. (S.B.I.P.O. 1995)
- The passage best supports the statement that motivation
- encourages an individual to give priority to personal goals over organisational goals
 - is crucial for the survival of an individual and organisation
 - is the product of an individual's physical and mental energy
 - is the external force which induces an individual to contribute his efforts
 - makes organisation and society inseparable
14. The consumption of harmful drugs by the people can be prevented not only by banning their sale in the market but also by instructing users about their dangerous effects which they must understand for their safety. Also the drug addicts may be provided with proper medical facilities for their rehabilitation. This will help in scaling down the use of drugs. (Bank P.O. 1996)
- The passage best supports the statement that consumption of harmful drugs—
- are on increase in the society.
 - can always be reduced.
 - are due to lack of medical facilities.
 - can be eliminated with the help of banning their sale.
 - may be channelised through proper system\0
15. The future of women in India is quite bright and let us hope that they will justify their abilities by rising to the occasion. Napoleon was right when he declared that by educating the women we can educate the whole nation. Because a country can never rise without the contribution of 50% of their population. The passage best supports the statement that
- India is striving hard for the emancipation of women.
 - all women should be well educated.
 - a nation can progress only when women are given equal rights and opportunities as men.
- (d) women ought to be imparted full freedom to prove their worth and contribute to the progress of the nation.
16. The school has always been the most important means of transferring the wealth of tradition from one generation to the next. This applies today in an even higher degree than in former times for, through the modern development of economy, the family as bearer of tradition and education has become weakened. This passage best supports the statement that for transferring the wealth of tradition from one generation to the next—
- there are means other than the school
 - several different sources must be tried
 - economic development plays a crucial role
 - modern technology must be put to use
 - family, as ever, is the most potent means (S.B.I.P.O. 1995)
17. One of the important humanitarian by-products of technology is the greater dignity and value that it imparts to human labour. In a highly industrialized society, there is no essential difference between Brahmin and Dalit, Muslim and Hindu; they are equally useful and hence equally valuable, for in the industrial society individual productivity fixes the size of the pay cheque and this fixes social status. (Bank P.O. 1996)
- The passage best supports the statement that:
- technology decides individual's social status.
 - castes and religions are man made.
 - human labour has dignity and value.
 - all individuals, irrespective of caste and creed, are born equal.
 - industrial society is a great leveller of men.
18. The paragraph above also supports the statement that:
- there are individual differences in industrial productivity.
 - there are numerous side-effects of technology.
 - size of the pay and social status contradict each other.

(d) labour force is treated well in modern day industries.

(e) division of labour based on caste was justified.

19. The Press should not be afraid of upholding and supporting a just and righteous cause. It should not be afraid of criticising the government in a healthy manner. The Press has to be eternally vigilant to protect the rights of the workers, backward and suppressed sections of the society. It should also give a balanced view of the things so that people can be helped in the formation of a healthy public opinion.

The passage best supports the statement that—

- press has a great role to play in a democracy.
- the press is the only means to project to the masses the policies of the government.
- the freedom of press is essential for the proper functioning of democracy.
- the press can be used by the governments as an effective media for the upliftment of the backward sections of society.

(e) all the information given by the press should be well-articulated so as to gain a good opinion towards the ruling party.

20. There is a shift in our economy from a manufacturing to a service orientation. The increase in service-sector will require the managers to work more with people rather than with objects and things from the assembly line.

(Bank P.O. 1996)

This passage best supports the statement that—

- managers should have a balanced mind.
- assembly line will exist in service organisations.
- interpersonal skills will become more important in the future work place.
- manufacturing organisations ignore importance of people.
- service organisations will not deal with objects and things.

10. DERIVING CONCLUSIONS FROM PASSAGES

Directions : Each of the passages given below is followed by some questions. Each question comprises three statements (A), (B) and (C). In the context of the passage, decide which one, two, three or none of the statements is/are true.

Passage 1 (Qs. 1 to 5) (S.B.I.P.O. 1995)

"In the Pandit's complaint he asks why entries could not be made in the savings bank pass book on the strength of the counterfoil of the pay-in-slip. This would save the customer from waiting until the actual voucher passed through various desks/books. The use of the voucher is, in fact the correct procedure. The delay experienced by Mr. Pandit on that day could have been avoided. On our instructions the branch manager concerned has met the complainant and explained the matter. He has also emphasised the great risk to the customer and the bank if entries are made on the basis of the counterfoils."

1. (A) The writer of this paragraph is another dissatisfied customer.

Passage 2

There are two ways of avoiding fear-one is by persuading ourselves that we are immune from disaster, and the other is by the practice of sheer courage. The latter is difficult, and to everybody becomes impossible at a certain point. The former has, therefore, always been more popular. Primitive magic has the purpose of securing safety, either by injuring enemies, or by protecting oneself by talismans, spells or incantations. Without any essential change, belief in such ways of avoiding danger survived throughout the many centuries of Babylonian civilization, spread from Babylon throughout the Empire of Alexander, and was acquired by the Romans in the course of their absorption of Hellenistic culture. From the Romans it descended to medieval Christendom and Islam. Science has lessened the belief in magic, but many people place more faith in mascots than they are willing to avow, and sorcery, while condemned by the Church, is still officially a possible sin.

1. (A) Superstitious beliefs can help man avoid fear.
(B) The medieval civilisations were also characterised by superstitious beliefs.

- (C) Avoiding fear is difficult for a common man.
(a) Only A (b) Only B
(c) Only C (d) Only A and B

Passage 4 (Bank P.O. 1995)

The newly introduced non-stop city buses are a good new service, though they are really useful only during the morning and evening rush hours. During most of the day these buses carry few passengers. I request the State Transport Corporation to run these buses as limited-stop services during the non-rush periods of the day.

1. (A) The non-stop buses are small ones that carry only a limited number of passengers.
(B) Non-Stop buses are now available at all times.
(C) The competent authority to govern these buses is the State Transport Corporation.
(a) Only A (b) Only B
(c) Only C (d) Only A and B
(e) Only B and C
2. (A) The writer says that when there is no rush, limited-stop buses will be more useful.
(B) The writer wants all the non-stop buses to be changed to limited-stop buses.
(C) There are not many commuters except during the morning and the evening.
(a) Only A and B (b) Only A and C
(c) A, B and C (d) None is true
(e) Only A

Passage 3 (Bank P.O. 1995)

Amar Steels, an existing profit-making company enters the capital market with a public issue of 80 lakh shares of Rs. 10/- each on 1st December. The company is engaged in ship breaking at ports in Vishakhapatnam and Madras. It operates a steel-rolling mill in Vishakhapatnam which utilises the scrap from ships. The company is expanding its ship-breaking capacity. Its entitlement to break foreign ships has just been extended to cover Indian flagships.

1. (A) Amar Steels had so far not entered the capital market because of its profit-making status.
(B) Amar Steels had so far not entered the capital market because it had no expansion plans.
(C) Amar Steels expects to get Indian ships also for ship-breaking.

12. PASSAGE COMPLETION (Cloze Test)

This test is to judge a candidate's knowledge of grammar usage and vocabulary. In this, a passage is given, with some (usually 5, 10 or 15) blank spaces in it. For each of these blanks, some alternatives are given. The candidate is required to first read the passage, understand what it is about and then choose the most appropriate word in the context of the passage, from the given alternatives.

Example : Without water ... (1)... animal can survive. In desert regions the greatest ... (2)... to life is drying up. But many creatures are able to make use of ... (3)... little water that exists in arid areas. One of nature's masterpieces ... (4)... creatures equipped to ... (5)... with desert life is the hardy camels. Stories range the desert lands far and wide about ... (6)... endurance feats by camels. It is said that camels can ... (7)... a distance of about 800 miles in eight days through continuous travel ... (8)... an intake of a single drop of water. The popular ... (9)... that camels store water in their hump is ... (10)... in a way, water is indeed stored there but in the form of fat.

- (a) every (b) no (c) any (d) desert (e) exceptional
- (a) need (b) worry (c) threat (d) requirement (e) inadequacy
- (a) what (b) the (c) very (d) that (e) extremely
- (a) for (b) about (c) among (d) with (e) of
- (a) live (b) resist (c) bear (d) cope (e) mix
- (a) remarkable (b) little (c) tolerable (d) popular (e) obvious
- (a) measure (b) reduce (c) lead (d) reach (e) cover
- (a) for (b) without (c) accepting (d) receiving (e) except
- (a) proverb (b) guess (c) belief (d) version (e) statement
- (a) baseless (b) wrong (c) misleading (d) correct (e) untruthful

Solution :

- (b) : It is an established fact that no animal can survive without water.
- (c) : In deserts, drying up is not the 'need' or 'requirement'. It is a 'threat' to living creatures.
- (b) : Article 'the' should be used.
- (c) : According to the passage, camel is a masterpiece amidst all creatures. Another word for 'amidst' is 'among'.
- (d) : 'Mix' is absolutely wrong. The word 'live', 'resist' or 'bear' could be used only if the camel could remain thirsty for long. But since it stores water for future use, it is an adaptation i.e. a way to 'cope' with adverse circumstances.
- (a) : Stories are popular about a creature when it has something unusual or 'remarkable'.
- (e) : The word 'distance' takes the verb 'cover'.
- (b) : Camel moves continuously without intake of water.
- (c) : 'Proverb' is an old saying. 'Version' and 'statement' are clearly wrong in this context. 'Guess' can never be popular. The correct word is 'belief'.
- (c) : Clearly, the belief is not 'correct'. Also, it is not 'baseless', 'wrong' or 'untruthful' as camels do store water though in a different form. So, the answer is 'misleading'.

Now attempt the following Practice Sets 1 to 15 as per the following instructions:

Directions : In each of the following passages, there are blanks each of which has been numbered. These numbers are printed below the passage and against each, some words are suggested, one of which fits the blank appropriately. Find out the appropriate words.

PRACTICE SET 1

Passage 1 (Assistant Grade, 1996)

Many parents greet their children's teenage years with needless dread. While teens ... (1)... assault us with heavy-metal music, ... (2)... outlandish clothes and spend all ... (3)... time with friends, such behaviour ... (4)... adds up to full-scale revolt. Teenage ... (5)..., according to psychologist Laurence Steinberg, has been ... (6)... exaggerated. Sociologist Sanford Dornbusch agrees. "The ... (7)... that teenagers inevitably rebel is a ... (8)... that has the potential for great family ... (9)...," says Dornbusch. He believes the notion can ... (10)... communication during this critical time for parents to influence youngsters.

Passage 3 (Hotel Management, 1995)

All writers are vain, selfish and lazy, and at the very ... (21)... of their motives there lies a mystery. Writing a book is a horrible, exhausting struggle, like a long ... (22)... of some painful illness. One would never undertake such a thing if one were not ... (23)... by some demon whom one can neither ... (24)... nor understand. For all one knows that demon is simply the same ... (25)... that makes a baby ... (26)... for attention. And yet it is also true that one can write nothing readable unless one constantly struggles to ... (27)... one's own personality. Good prose is like a window pane. I cannot say with certainty which of my motives are the strongest, but I know which of them deserve to be followed. And ... (28)... through my work, I see that it is ... (29)... where I lacked a political purpose that I wrote lifeless books and was ... (30)... into purple passages, sentences without meaning, decorative adjectives and humbug generally.

Passage 5 (Asstt. Grade, 1994)

It is not proper to damn a system without understanding it. The Indian bureaucracy may be as bad after all, as it is made out to be. Times without number, it has been ... (41) ... that our bureaucrat is a ... (42) ... creature who has the habit of sitting ... (43) ... the files and also happens to sleep ... (44) ... the remainders. What is worse is ... (45) ... his own word. He turns a ... (46) ... ear to the visitor's request and binds his hands and feet with ... (47) ... tape. However, in all fairness ... (48) ... the bureaucracy, it is necessary to note that a major reason for its ... (49) ... to discharge its functions ... (50) ... throughout has been the concentration of power in the hands of the politicians. The bureaucrat may be a devil, but because he has his own share of difficulties, we would not deny him his due.

PRACTICE SET 16

Passage 1 (C.D.S. 1993)

Some scholars were exploring the forests of Middle America. They discovered, during their exploration some buildings which were in ruins. These buildings were ... (1)... (a) surely / (b) reasonably / (c) apparently ruined by the encroaching forest. It was also clear that these buildings were no ordinary structures. They were remnants of a ... (2)... (a) great / (b) new / (c) ordinary civilisation. The scholars got interested. They excavated more and discovered ... (3)... (a) for / (b) at / (c) to their utmost surprise, the remains of a flourishing civilisation—the Maya's ... (4)... (a) while / (b) as / (c) when they named it. Thus, it was as late as in ... (5)... (a) the / (b) then / (c) at 19th century that the secrets of a new civilisation were ... (6)... (a) unmatched

/ (b) unearthed / (c) unparalleled. For sometime the scholars believed that the Mayans must have ... (7)... (a) being / (b) become / (c) been the descendants of the ancient Egyptians or one of the lost tribes of Israel; or perhaps a brand of the South East-Asia's immigrants. However they could not come to an unanimous decision. Nevertheless, the fact remains that even today the Mayan culture is one of ... (8)... (a) the / (b) a / (c) an most fascinating ancient civilisations. The civilisation was situated in the ... (9)... (a) tail / (b) heart / (c) head of Middle America. It covered an area equivalent to France, ... (10)... (a) but / (a) yet / (c) and spread across Guatemala, Belize and some parts of Mexico Honduras. It started in 2500 B.C. and continued its progress till 34 ... (11)... (a) decades / (b) centuries / (c) years later. Throughout its period of progress, the people struggled against the invading ... (12)... (a) civilisation / (b) forests / (c) enemies. They used to burn the plants and make the land ... (13)... (a) good / (b) fertile / (c) properly for cultivation. Their staple food was maize. But even while ... (14)... (a) doing / (b) fighting / (c) struggling for existence, they found time to build remarkable buildings for ... (15)... (a) it / (b) which / (c) that they used mortar, sandstone and volcanic rock. The buildings do tell us about the technological advances they had attained.

Passage 2

Taj Mahal, a breath taking embodiment of humanity, love and creativity, a unique exercise in architectural excellence and a constant source of inspiration and exuberance for the world. Countless men and women the world over travel miles to ... (16)... (a) appreciate / (b) adore / (c) analyse the medieval masterpiece and ... (17)... (a) revere / (b) repeat / (c) rehabilitate its mesmeric ambiance. Soon, all this is set to change. Taj is dying a slow, ... (18)... (a) frightening / (b) cursing / (c) choking death. Rising air pollution is slowly ... (19)... (a) clinching / (b) enhancing / (c) flinching its pristine splendour. At ... (20)... (a) stake / (b) fire / (c) verge is the tourism industry, officially claimed as the largest bread earner for the town's eight lakh populace.

... (21)... (a) Since / (b) For / (c) From many years, the town is fast being pulled downwards in a relentless ... (22)...

(a) circle / (b) sphere / (c) spiral of environmental decay and human misery. The alarming ... (23)... (a) downfall / (b) decline / (c) depopularisation in tourism has activated an insipid bureaucracy. Pushed by the hoteliers, it has been trying to work ... (24)... (a) up / (b) over / (c) out intelligent plans for boosting tourism. Besides unemployment in Agra has created an army of touts. There are lumpen youth who ... (25)... (a) draw / (b) squeeze / (c) notch out hefty commissions by ... (26)... (a) leading / (b) fetching / (c) summoning unsuspecting tourists to selected hotels.

Like unemployment, pollution is ... (27)... (a) epidemic / (b) endemic / (c) geographic in Agra. The Supreme Court ... (28)... (a) summoned / (b) demanded / (c) ordered the closure of polluting industrial units in Agra until they ... (29)... (a) agreed / (b) abided / (c) complied with the environmental standard. But this hasn't ended Agra's ... (30)... (a) threats / (b) ravages / (c) woes.

Passage 3 (Translators' Exam, 1994)

Apart from the great pleasure the cinema gives us as a means of entertainment, it is in many ways an ... (31)... (a) engagement / (b) enjoyment / (c) education / (d) entertainment in itself. The film companies from time to time produce historical pictures and these pictures are of great ... (32)... (a) assistance / (b) enjoyment / (c) diversion / (d) entertainment to the teacher of history. A couple of hours ... (33)... (a) wasted / (b) given / (c) stayed / (d) spent in the company of historical ... (34)... (a) heroes / (b) characters / (c) models / (d) personages dressed in the proper ... (35)... (a) livery / (b) manner / (c) attire / (d) wardrobe of the period can ... (36)... (a) give / (b) relate / (c) grant / (d) teach us far more than we can ... (37)... (a) learn / (b) deduce / (c) draw / (d) beget from a whole week's reading of a historical text-book. Some educational film companies ... (38)... (a) squander / (b) devote / (c) spend / (d) deploy their time to the filming of the habits and customs of animals and many other branches of scientific life. We can see the ... (39)... (a) dropping / (b) hatching / (c) falling / (d) rolling of the eggs of the fish and their ... (40)... (a) formation / (b) increment / (c) development / (d) enlargement into large fishes.

Passage 4

Democracy has its dangers, the greatest of which is that it may be the rule of ignorance. Citizens who are not ... (41)... (a) barely / (b) sufficiently / (c) highly / (d) perfectly intelligent and educated are ... (42)... (a) sure / (b) deliberately / (c) unlikely / (d) likely to commit errors of judgement in the casting of votes. The best men may thus ... (43)... (a) fail / (b) succeed / (c) try / (d) desire to get elected. Elections are usually a ... (44)... (a) kind / (b) process / (c) matter / (d) result of propaganda. Another criticism of democracy is that it is wanting ... (45)... (a) of / (b) for / (c) at / (d) in efficiency. For prompt and effective action, unity of action is ... (46)... (a) enough / (b) dispensable / (c) essential / (d) superfluous. In a multitude of minds, much ... (47)... (a) profitable / (b) unprofitable / (c) detailed / (d) exhaustive discussion takes place, whereas unity of control is needed for vigorous national life. This criticism, however, is not very ... (48)... (a) unfair / (b) absurd / (c) strong / (d) convincing because in times of war the British Prime Minister usually ... (49)... (a) gains / (b) wields / (c) demands / (d) misuses the powers of a dictator. Another criticism of democracy in times of war is that secrecy in military affairs becomes difficult, if not ... (50)... (a) easy / (b) probable / (c) impossible / (d) obscure, and that the Opposition usually lowers the morale of the people by its condemnation of the actions of the Cabinet.

(C.D.S. 1994)

Be very wary of opinions that flatter your self-esteem. Both men and women, nine times out of ten, are firmly convinced ... (25)... (a) at / (b) on / (c) of the superior excellence of their own sex. That is abundant on ... (26)... (a) few sides / (b) all / (c) both. If you are a man, you can ... (27)... (a) work / (b) point / (c) say out that most poets are men, and many eminent scientists are male; if you are a woman you can retort that ... (28)... (a) so / (b) they / (c) also are most criminals. The question is inherently insoluble but self-esteem conceals this from most ... (29)... (a) men / (b) women / (c) people. We are all, whatever part of the world we come from, persuaded that ... (30)... (a) his / (b) her / (c) our nation is ... (31)... (a) superior / (b) better / (c) inferior to all others. Seeing that each nation has its characteristic ... (32)... (a) values / (b) points / (c) merits and demerits, we adjust our standard of values so as to make out that the merits possessed ... (33)... (a) by / (b) for / (c) in our nation are the really important ones while its demerits are ... (34)... (a) commonly / (b) rarely / (c) comparatively trivial. Here again the rational man ... (35)... (a) should / (b) will / (c) could admit that the question is one to which there is no demonstrably right ... (36)... (a) answer / (b) angle / (c) reply. It is more difficult to deal with ... (37)... (a) an / (b) the / (c) a self-esteem man as man, because we cannot argue out the matter with some non-human mind. The only way ... (38)... (a) to / (b) of / (c) from dealing with his general human conceit is to remind man of his unimportance in the universe, that man is a brief episode in the life of a small ... (39)... (a) orbit / (b) star / (c) planet in a little corner of the universe.

Passage 6

Embroidery is the ... (40)... (a) embellishment / (b) craft / (c) emblaze / (d) threading of any material with patterns or ... (41)... (a) sketches / (b) pictures / (c) practices / (d) designs done with a needle. No ... (42)... (a) matter / (b) wonder / (c) doubt / (d) sooner the Romans called it 'needle painting'. In India, each region developed a ... (43)... (a) design / (b) plan / (c) style / (d) system of its own. In the state of Himachal Pradesh the embroidery has a distinctive charm and is deeply rooted in the 'Pahari' culture, from which it has ... (44)... (a) devised / (b) derived / (c) cultivated / (d) originated its designs, colour combinations and techniques. Embroidery is essentially a child of the landscape and is, therefore, as ... (45)... (a) varied / (b) cultured / (c) strong / (d) huge in its richness and beauty as ... (46)... (a) culture / (b) heritage / (c) beauty / (d) nature is in her manifold representations. It is difficult to ... (47)... (a) trace / (b) represent / (c) follow / (d) study the history of 'Pahari' embroidery because cloth is a ... (48)... (a) mortal / (b) perishable / (c) knitted / (d) delicate material. From the available specimens it can be ... (49)... (a) opined / (b) surmised / (c) found / (d) summarised that the inhabitants of picturesque Himachal Pradesh practised this ... (50)... (a) skill / (b) tradition / (c) craft / (d) style till the first decade of the 20th century.

PRACTICE SET 18

Passage 1

(C.D.S.1995)

Though attacks on hospital staff must be deplored, there seems to be no limit to negligence in public hospitals. The recent death of a patient ... (1)... (a) within / (b) in / (c) inside a public hospital, allegedly as a ... (2)... (a) result / (b) follow up / (c) reason of being administered kerosene ... (3)... (a) in spite of / (b) instead of / (c) along with a saline glucose solution, has alarmed health ... (4)... (a) protectors / (b) supervisors / (c) officials. Despite its free mandate, the inquiry committee has ... (5)... (a) refused / (b) failed / (c) decided to fix responsibility and it is doubtful ... (6)... (a) when / (b) how / (c) whether the police inquiry will discover anything ... (7)... (a) spectacular / (b) new / (c) strange. This kerosene incident and the removal ... (8)... (a) from / (b) of / (c) off the wrong eye of a young girl ... (9)... (a) at / (b) on / (c) in another hospital are not the only ... (10)... (a) symbols / (b) instances / (c) illustrations of quasi-criminal callousness. Often it is ... (11)... (a) almost / (b) undoubtedly / (c) certainly as unsafe to enter public hospitals ... (12)... (a) as / (b) instead / (c) so as to go untreated. The basic requirement of ... (13)... (a) orderliness / (b) calmness / (c) cleanliness is the first casualty in the wards. ... (14)... (a) On / (b) In / (c) At a renowned hospital, bacteria contamination was so ... (15)... (a) intense / (b) deep / (c) acute that 96 percent of the patients suffered from post-hospitalisation infection.

Passage 2

There is a reader who displays the utmost enthusiasm on meeting you. He appears so warm and gratified that you think that here, after all, you have met your ideal reader. It has always been your ... (16)... (a) idea / (b) hope / (c) feeling that you would come across this ... (17)... (a) good / (b) wonderful / (c) ideal person some day, a man who by his very ... (18)... (a) enthusiasm / (b) warmth / (c) contact would make you feel that you ... (19)... (a) did / (b) were doing / (c) have been doing some important work, vital ... (20)... (a) to / (b) for / (c) on human welfare, that it ... (21)... (a) turns out / (b) turns over / (c) turns on to be a very short-lived ... (22)... (a) experience / (b) gratification / (c) satisfaction. Disillusionment is actually round ... (23)...

(a) this / (b) the / (c) a corner. While you are hoping ... (24)... (a) because / (b) for / (c) that you are about to have the ... (25)... (a) pleasure / (b) joy / (c) happiness of listening to his ... (26)... (a) reaction / (b) behaviour / (c) view to your latest weekly effort he ... (27)... (a) says / (b) tells / (c) asks suddenly, 'I am proud to meet you ... (28)... (a) yet / (b) still / (c) but may I know what you ... (29)... (a) usually / (b) invariably / (c) generally write about? This is an unanswerable ... (30)... (a) statement / (b) pronouncement / (c) question.

Passage 3

(N.D.A. 1995)

Gandhiji's epithet is not just horrific; it tells the truth about him. He was indeed a 'great soul'. He may have been the ... (31)... (a) greatest / (b) man / (c) smallest of any that have made ... (32)... (a) their / (b) sudden / (c) our appearance in our time. He ... (33)... (a) had / (b) was / (c) bore undoubtedly the peer of the ... (34)... (a) known / (b) available / (c) greatest souls of previous ages from ... (35)... (a) which / (b) those / (c) whom we have surviving records of ... (36)... (a) outstanding / (b) poor / (c) ordinary personalities.

Passage 4

With increased ... (37)... (a) faith / (b) confidence / (c) trust / (d) zeal I took another step. Next moment I was ... (38)... (a) hardly / (b) utmost / (c) surely / (d) almost thrown off balance as the wind-crust suddenly gave ... (39)... (a) way / (b) away / (c) up / (d) in and I sank through it upto my ... (40)... (a) waist / (b) knee / (c) head / (d) foot. It took me a little ... (41)... (a) effort / (b) time / (c) while / (d) rest to get my breath back. Then I gradually pulled my leg out of the ... (42)... (a) depression / (b) hole / (c) ditch / (d) pit. I was almost upright ... (43)... (a) then / (b) again / (c) after / (d) soon when the wind-crust under the ... (44)... (a) second / (b) upper / (c) other / (d) lower foot gave way.

Passage 5

(N.D.A. 1990)

It is not true to say that stress and anxiety are experiences of recent origin for mankind. Every era has been an age of anxiety. A few hundred years ago, for example ... (45)... (a) here / (b) then / (c) there was no threat of nuclear war ... (46)...

(a) but / (b) yet / (c) still there was the terrible danger of ... (47)... (a) a / (b) the / (c) that plague, which quite literally destroyed whole ... (48)... (a) continents / (b) populations / (c) departments. And everything in human life is ... (49)... (a) impossible / (b) uncertain / (c) unbearable and contingent - you may be rich ... (50)... (a) always / (b) now / (c) today and poor tomorrow, or healthy or sick; this has been true throughout history.

PRACTICE SET 19

Passage 1

(I.E.S. 1994)

Every bird has feathers, and nothing that is not a bird can show any trace of them. The whole body of the birds is fitted to the habit of flying. We have long envied the bird and its power to fly. In fact, it was the virus that 1. [(a) trained (b) taught (c) demonstrated] us to build our aeroplanes after the 2. [(a) strength (b) structure (c) shape] of their wings and bodies. The bird's wings 3. [(a) have served (b) serve (c) can serve] as propellers, for they have both lifting and 4. [(a) driving (b) soaring (c) flying] power. The tail is the rudder and helps to 5. [(a) soar (b) dive (c) steer]. It also serves the important function of 6. [(a) support (b) brake (c) anchor] when the bird alights. Some birds, like the birds of 7. [(a) prey (b) passage (c) paradise], soar and remain in the air a long time 8. [(a) with (b) at (c) on] motionless wings. They can sail in or 9. [(a) spiral (b) circle (c) tangent] to a great height. Others dart like 10. [(a) herons (b) swallows (c) swans].

Passage 2

During my service I have dealt with problems of 11. [(a) serious (b) intentional (c) assertive (d) evasive] lawlessness. I have had to order arrests, 12. [(a) spread (b) split (c) disperse (d) acquit] unruly crowds, deal with dangerous criminals, even of a nature where a hand grenade was thrown at me. I can 13. [(a) vow (b) vouch (c) confess (d) observe] without fear of 14. [(a) dispute (b) contradiction (c) counteraction (d) contention] from any reasonable quarter that when one is 15. [(a) dealing (b) indulging (c) involved (d) entangled] with blatant lawlessness, 16. [(a) fright (b) terror (c) threat (d) anticipation] of serious crime, it is 17. [(a) awkward (b) unexpected (c) absurd (d) incredible] to expect that the situation can be tackled by 18. [(a) pleading (b) begging (c) beckoning (d) pestering] to the law breakers and criminals to be 19. [(a) confiscated (b) contained (c) arrested (d) capsized] without use of force, by not handcuffing where the criminal is a dangerous outlaw and can be 20. [(a) expected (b) anticipated (c) believed (d) emancipated] to play with his life in assaulting to free himself.

Passage 3

(Railways, 1994)

I noticed George Ramsay at the restaurant. He was staring into space. He looked as though the burden of the whole world sat on his shoulders.

I 21. [(a) agreed (b) suspected (c) believed] at once that his unfortunate brother 22. [(a) will cause (b) was causing (c) had been causing] trouble again. I suppose every family has a black 23. [(a) wolf (b) sheep (c) goat]. Tom had been a 24. [(a) sweet (b) bitter (c) sore] trial to his family 25. [(a) in (b) for (c) since] twenty years. He had begun life decently enough; he went 26. [(a) to (b) for (c) into] business, married and had two children. The Ramsays were 27. [(a) wholly (b) perfectly (c) utterly] respectable people, and there was every 28. [(a) point (b) cause (c) reason] to suppose that Tom Ramsay would have a successful and 29. [(a) honourable (b) bad (c) profitable] career. But one day without warning, he 30. [(a) wrote (b) announced (c) said] that he did not like to work, and that he was not suited 31. [(a) with (b) for (c) to] marriage. He wanted to enjoy 32. [(a) others (b) idleness (c) himself]. He would listen 33. [(a) with (b) in (c) to], no advice. He left his wife and his 34. [(a) relatives (b) house (c) job]. He had 35. [(a) no (b) little (c) a little] money and he spent two happy years in the various capitals of Europe. Rumours of his 36. [(a) whereabouts (b) doings (c) habits] reached his relations from time to time and they were 37. [(a) disappointed (b) shocked (c) deeply]. He certainly 38. [(a) will have (b) had (c) has] a very good time. They shook their heads and asked what 39. [(a) will happen (b) happened (c) would happen] when his money was spent. They soon found out that he was broke and wanted to 40. [(a) settle (b) go (c) come back] home.

Passage 4

The human mind seems to have built in 41. [(a) ideas (b) prejudices (c) safeguards (d) interests] against original thought, for instance, we 42. PRACTICE SET 20

Passage 1

(C.D.S. 1995)

India will find herself again when freedom opens out new horizons. Future will then fascinate her far more than the immediate past of frustration and humiliation. She will go 1. [(a) in (b) forward (c) up] with confidence, rooted in herself and yet eager to learn from others and cooperate with them. Today she swings 2. [(a) amidst (b) among (c) between] a blind adherence to her old customs and a slavish imitation of foreign ways. In 3. [(a) both (b) neither (c) either] of these can she find relief or life or growth. It is obvious that she has come out of her 4. [(a) shell (b) groove (c) cell] and take full part 5. [(a) in (b) between (c) of] the life and activities of the modern age. It should be equally 6. [(a) patent (b) obvious

(c) important] that there can be no real cultural or spiritual growth based on imitation. Such imitation can only be 7. [(a) linked (b) confined (c) ascribed] to a small number which cuts itself 8. [(a) down (b) out (c) off] from the masses and the 9. [(a) springs (b) lakes (c) wells] of national life. True culture derives its 10. [(a) inspiration (b) ideal (c) force] from every corner of the world, but it is 11. [(a) original (b) indigenous (c) home-grown] and has to be 12. [(a) identified (b) based (c) dependent] on the wide mass of the people. Art and literature remain 13. [(a) inert (b) static (c) lifeless] if they are 14. [(a) continually (b) blindly (c) rapidly] thinking of foreign models. The day of a 15. [(a) communal (b) tribal (c) narrow] culture confined to a small fastidious group is past.

We have to think in terms of the people generally, and their culture must be a continuation and development of past trends and also represent their new urges and creative tendencies.

Passage 2

When in 1939, Trinity College offered me the Newton Mathematics Prize Scholarship I thought Dad was going to burst, he was so 16. [(a) arrogant (b) vainglorious (c) proud]. We all drove up to the University city 17. [(a) from (b) across (c) for] the weekend to check my future digs, before 18. [(a) running (b) prancing (c) strolling] round the colleges' cloisters and through Great Court. The 19. [(a) dark (b) only (c) peculiar] cloud on this otherwise 20. [(a) tarnished (b) unilluminated (c) unblemished] horizon was the thunderous one of Nazi Germany. 21. [(a) Prescription (b) Conscription (c) Subscription] for all those over twenty was being 22. [(a) debated (b) nominated (c) amended] in Parliament, and I couldn't wait to play my 23. [(a) part (b) battle (c) life] if Hitler dared to plant 24. [(a) as much as (b) as much so (c) as long as] a toe on Polish soil. My first year at Cambridge 25. [(a) disappeared (b) spent (c) went] well, mainly because I was being 26. [(a) mastered (b) tutored (c) brought up] by Horace Badford who, along with his wife Victoria, were 27. [(a) considered (b) admired (c) counted] to be the pick of the bunch 28. [(a) at (b) among (c) of] a highly talented group of mathematicians who 29. [(a) liked (b) are (c) were] teaching at the University at that time. Although Mrs. Badford was rumoured to have won the Wrangler's prize for coming out in flying colours, her husband explained that she was not given the 30. [(a) costly (b) prestigious (c) respectable] award, simply because she was a woman.

Passage 3 (Stenographers' Exam, 1994)

Kunti was a worshipper of the Sun-god. One day she 31. [(a) summoned (b) invited (c) invoked (d) attracted] the Sun-god with the help of a prayer-charm. This prayer-charm has been given to her by a sage. As a result the Sun-god 32. [(a) appeared (b) stood (c) flashed (d) came] before her. Seeing the Sun-god before her she got 33. [(a) amused (b) frightened (c) unconscious (d) demoralised] as she had never expected so. Consequently she began to 34. [(a) wave (b) stammer (c) tremble (d) faint] with fear. She did not know what to do. Hence, she prayed to the Sun-god to go back to his kingdom in the sky, but the Sun-god 35. [(a) warned (b) fondled (c) loved (d) chided] Kunti passionately. When he left for his kingdom in the sky, he 36. [(a) gave (b) left (c) deserted (d) discarded] Kunti with a son in her womb. In due course of time Kunti became the mother of a very beautiful and 37. [(a) ugly (b) freak (c) strange (d) promising] child. He was born with an armour as shining as 38. [(a) silver (b) glass (c) gold (d) steel] itself. Besides he had strange, shining ear rings in his ears. This, as a result of the 39. [(a) promise (b) wish (c) donation (d) compliment] granted to her by the Sun-god. Thus, Karna was born to Kunti even while she was unmarried. It was but natural, but she was extremely 40. [(a) sorry (b) disturbed (c) annoyed (d) amused] in her mind.

Passage 4

The problem of adult literacy is 41. [(a) making (b) giving (c) causing (d) compelling] rise to considerable 42. [(a) anger (b) annoyance (d) anxiety (d) disappointment]. The number of young people who leave school without the 43. [(a) power (b) skill (c) cleverness (d) ability] to read is rapidly 44. [(a) increasing (b) collecting (c) crowding (d) widening]. It would seem that if urgent 45. [(a) actions (b) cures (c) solutions (d) steps] are not taken to 46. [(a) increase (b) accelerate (c) improve (d) stop] this situation, we shall soon be living 47. [(a) in (b) with (c) by (d) for] a population 48. [(a) equal (b) similar (c) like (d) resembling] to that of the middle 49. [(a) years (b) centuries (c) ages (d) periods] when only a small number of people were 50. [(a) literate (b) literacy (c) literal (d) littoral).

PRACTICE SET 21

Passage 1

(N.D.A.1996)

When I got off the plane at Heathrow airport, I had the first taste of English hospitality. For I was immediately bounded off to a hospital. No, not because I was 1. [(a) senseless (b) ill (c) wicked] but to find out whether I was. And truth to say, it wasn't 2. [(a) actually (b) factually (c) materially] a hospital, but only the sick bay at the airport. Someone at the immigration counter had taken it into his 3. [(a) judgement (b) head (c) mind] that I was too thin and an instant X-ray would be in order. Needless to say, I much 4. [(a) resented (b) liked (c) respected] this extra attention. I would much rather have walked away like the other passengers. The X-ray 5. [(a) extracted (b) demanded (c) took] an extra half-hour of my time. This did not 6. [(a) please (b) annoy (c) excite] me as much as the discovery that the famous British sense of humour was by no means ubiquitous.

Passage 2

Operation Flood Scheme was 7. [(a) devoted (b) launched (c) created (d) visualised] with the primary objective to 8. [(a) locating (b) bringing (c) linking (d) joining] rural milk producers with urban milk consumers, by 9. Fed on horror stories about ragging and the like, it is with a fair bit of 34. [(a) trepidation (b) hesitation (c) fluster] that many a youngster set foot on the campus.

Passage 5

(N.D.A. 1992)

What is an earthquake and how is it caused? In the early history of the earth, when it was cooling down the rocks deep in the earth's crust created huge 'islands' which floated on the softer and hotter rocks below just as wood floats on water. Slowly these islands began to 35. [(a) move (b) drift (c) float] apart to make the land masses we call 36. [(a) countries (b) continents (c) mountains]. But even now these 'islands' are not stable. Their continued but imperceptibly slow movements create stress in the rocks many miles below the 37. [(a) surface (b) covering (c) exterior]. Whenever a rock splits below, it sends a 38. [(a) tremor (b) shock (c) stir] above, i.e., causes an earthquake. There are several zones in the world where earthquakes are more likely to occur. The recent earthquake in Garhwal was 39. [(a) produced (b) caused (c) created] in such a zone or fault-line. Scientists believe that there are three other causes which lead to occurrences of earthquakes. At intervals the gravitational 40. [(a) energy (b) pulls (c) powers] of the sun and the moon in certain situations combine to exert a stronger-than-normal influence on the earth.

Passage 6

[(a) One (b) All (c) Several (d) Each] tribal group has distinct and unique beliefs that are basic to that tribe's culture. Most tribes cling to the Old Teachings because they know that once gone, it would mean the 10. [(a) regeneration (b) death (c) tradition (d) march] of their culture.

Passage 2

A modern welfare state cannot adopt a 'hands off' attitude in regard to the requirements of physical and mental well-being of its citizens. This is more so in the case of prisoners who are in 11. [(a) captivation (b) custody (c) seizure (d) sentence] of the state and compelled to live, because of 12. [(a) incarceration (b) compulsion (c) neglect (d) seclusion], under very difficult conditions—13. [(a) physically (b) bodily (c) structurally (d) literally] crowded and uncomfortable mentally 14. [(a) debarred (b) devoured (c) isolated (d) flustered] and frustrated. 15. [(a) Adequate (b) Required (c) Essential (d) Needy] care of prisoner's health is needed not merely on humanitarian 16. [(a) basis (b) foundation (c) stage (d) grounds] but for jail discipline and 17. [(a) acquiring (b) attaining (c) gaining (d) securing] positive 18. [(a) response (b) attitude (c) support (d) reply] from the inmates to all. Such measures 19. [(a) intended (b) introduced

(c) induced (d) instigated] to ensure their moral 20. [(a) construction (b) regeneration (c) revival (d) restoration] and social rehabilitation.

(Central Excise 1992)

His talk used to be full of wit and humour. He liked reading. He was a 21. [(a) fervent (b) voracious (c) anxious (d) enthusiastic] reader and would pore over books 22. [(a) barring (b) including (c) containing (d) covering] a wide range of interests as 23. [(a) soon (b) quickly (c) firmly (d) urgently] as he got them. He had 24. 13. CHOOSING THE APPROPRIATE FILLER

This section deals with two types of questions :

TYPE I : Choosing the most appropriate phrase to complete a sentence

Example 1. Pick out the best filler which can complete the given sentence correctly.

He passed the examination in the first class because he..... (Section Officer' 1993)

- (a) was working hard for it
- (b) had worked hard for it
- (c) worked hardly for it
- (d) was hard working for it

Solution : Clearly, the correct sentence would be 'He passed the examination in the first class because he had worked hard for it'.

Hence, the answer is (b).

Example 2. Choose the correct alternative so as to fill in the blank and make the sentence meaningfully complete.

He has no money now (Bank P.O. 1995)

- (a) because he always spends money with utmost care.
- (b) because he had received huge donations once.
- (c) because he was very rich once.
- (d) as he has given up all his wealth.
- (e) although he was very poor once.

Solution. Clearly, the statements (a), (b), (c) contradict the given part of the sentence, and statement (e) also does not suit well. Thus, the correct sentence would be 'He has no money now although he was very poor once.'

Hence, the answer is (d).

TYPE 2 : Choosing the most appropriate sentences to complete a paragraph

Example 3 : Find out which of the sentences A, B and C can fill up the gap between the given sentences in order to make the theme complete.

The proposal was summarily rejected (.....).

Therefore, the public have the only option of resorting to guessing. (S.B.I.P.O. 1995)

- (A) The authorities were convinced that there were some malpractices involved in bringing out the project.
- (B) It was an outcome of unholy nexus between the traders and decision makers.
- (C) However, they did not give any reason for rejection.

- (a) Only A and B
- (b) Only B and A
- (c) Only A and C
- (d) Only C and A
- (e) A or B and C

Solution. The first sentence talks about rejection of the proposal. Clearly, sentence (A) provides continuity by giving the reason for rejection. However, the last sentence given still does not come in continuity with the first two. Now, sentence (C) provides the reason for why people have to resort to guessing.

Hence, the most appropriate fillers in the correct order are A and C. So, the answer is (c).

2. Before words beginning with consonant sound e.g. a boy, a box, a dog.
3. With vowel letters having consonant value.
e.g. a university, a unique article, a euphenism, a unit, a European language. (all these begin with consonant sound of 'yu')
4. With units and rate (per) :
e.g. He earns rupees five hundred a month.
Rice sells ten rupees a kilo.
Give me a metre length of the cloth.
5. In exclamatory expressions before singular countable nouns :
What a pretty girl !
How sunny a day !
6. When two subjects or articles are thought of as a single unit.
He was ready with a cup and saucer.
A cigarette is made of a paper and tobacco.
7. With certain expressions of quantity :
a lot of, a dozen, a great deal of, a couple.

8. With a person's name to indicate that the person is perhaps unknown to the person addressed :
A Mr. Roy is at the door.

9. With a special meal (to celebrate something or in someone's honour)
I called my friends to a lunch to celebrate my success.
A dinner was arranged to welcome the Principal.
10. To make a common noun of a proper noun.
This man is 'a second Newton'.
(This phrase means 'a philosopher as great as Newton')
'A Daniel' came to judgement.
(The phrase means 'a wise man')

ERRORS IN USE OF PRONOUNS

Pronouns are words used to replace nouns or noun groups already mentioned.

| Nominative / Vocative case (comes before verb) | Accurative/ Objective case (comes after verb) | Possessive case | Reflexive Pronoun |
|--|---|-----------------|-------------------|
| I | Me | My | Myself |
| We | Us | Our | Ourselves |
| He | Him | His | Himself |
| She | Her | Her | Herself |
| They | Them | Their | Themselves |
| Who | Whom | Whose | - |

1. The pronoun 'One' must be followed by 'One's'.
e.g. One must do one's duty to one's country.
2. When 'one' means 'one in number', the pronoun for it is third person singular pronoun (he, she, it).
One of them has given up one's studies. (x)
One of them has given up his studies. (✓)
3. 'Everyone' or 'Everybody' must be followed by 'his'.
e.g. Everyone should love his country.
4. Each, every, anyone, anybody must be followed by the singular pronoun of their person.
e.g. Anyone can do this if he tries.
5. 'Let' is followed by pronoun in the objective case.
e.g. Let him go.
Let you and me solve this puzzle.
6. 'But' and 'except' are followed by pronoun in the objective case.
e.g. Everyone attended the party except him.
'such as' is followed by pronoun in the subjective case.

7. Verbs like 'enjoy', 'avail', 'pride', 'resign', 'apply', 'acquit', 'assert', 'absent' are followed by reflexive pronouns.
He absented himself from the class.
We enjoyed ourselves at the party.
I availed myself of the opportunity.
She prides herself on her wealth and beauty.
He resigned himself to fate.
8. Reflexive pronouns are never used with verbs 'keep', 'conceal', 'qualify', 'spread', 'rest', 'stay'.
e.g. I stayed away from my class.
He qualified in the test.
She kept away from the show.
9. When first, second and third person singular pronouns (I, you and He) are used together, they are placed in the order : You, he and I.
e.g. You, he and I are neighbours.
In case of plural pronouns, 'we' comes first, then 'you' and then 'they'.
e.g. We, you and they must work together.
But if we have only two persons including first, then first person pronoun is written first.
e.g. I and Sanjeev have done this job.
10. 'Who' denotes subject and 'whom' denotes object.
e.g. Who do you think did the job ?
Whom did you abuse ?
11. 'Whose' is used for persons and 'which' for lifeless objects.
e.g. This is the table which I was talking about.
He married Sunita who is the daughter of Mr. Roy.
12. 'Which' conveys additional information and 'that' explains a certain thing.
I will tell you the first thing which I remember.
I am talking about traffic management that forms a part of his duties.
13. The following expressions usually take 'that' in place of 'who' or 'which'.
Only, Any, It is, All, Superlatives
e.g. He is the only man that can do it.
Any man that listens to you is a fool.
It is the same watch that was stolen by him.
All that glitters is not gold.
This is the best that we can do.
14. 'Each other' is used for two; 'one another' for more than two.
Rahul and Renu love each other.
They help one another.

15. The complement of the verb to be, when it is expressed by a pronoun, should be in Nominative case.
e.g. It was he who did it.
If I were he, I would not go there.
16. When the same person is the subject and object, it is necessary to use reflexive pronouns.
e.g. I cut me shaving this morning. (x)
I cut myself shaving this morning. (✓)
17. When a pronoun is the object of a verb or preposition it should be in objective case.
e.g. These books are for you and I. (x)
These books are for you and me. (✓)
Between him and me there is an understanding.
18. The Relative Pronoun should be placed as near as possible to the antecedent.
e.g. Here is the book that you lent me.
I have read Shakespeare's works who was a great dramatist. (x)
I have read the works of Shakespeare who was a great dramatist.
19. The case of the pronoun following 'than' and 'as' is decided by mentally supplying the verb and completing the sentence.
e.g. She is taller than I. (am)
I love you more than he. (loves you)
I love more than (I love) him.

ERRORS IN USE OF CONJUNCTIONS

1. Scarcely or hardly is followed by when.
e.g. Scarcely had I entered the room when I heard a shriek.
 Hardly had I slept when the telephone rang.
2. Though is followed by yet.
e.g. Though he worked hard yet he failed.
3. No sooner is followed by than.
e.g. No sooner did we reach there than it began to rain.
4. Not only is followed by but also.
e.g. Not only did he help her, but also dropped her home safely.
5. Lest is negative and so should not be followed by not; it is followed by should.
e.g. Work hard lest you should fail.
 If would or may is used in place of should, then else should be used in place of lest.
e.g. Give him water, else he may die.
 Leave on time, else you would miss the train.
6. Both is complemented by and, not by as well as.
e.g. Both Amit and Satish are good at Science.
7. So.....as is used in negative sentences, whereas as..... as is used in affirmative sentences.
e.g. He is not so tall as his brother.
 He is as tall as his brother.
8. Other is followed by than.
e.g. He has no other claim than his wealth.
9. The word reason is not followed by because, but by that.
e.g. The reason why he didn't go was that his mother was ill.
10. because denotes reason. in order that denotes purpose.
e.g. He went to the doctor because he was ill.
 He went to Delhi in order that he might see Mr. Roy.
11. Words such as regard, describe, define, treat, mention, depict, portray are followed by as.
e.g. I regard her as my sister.
 He was treated as a slave.
12. As and since are also used to express reason.
e.g. As he was not there, I spoke to his brother.
 Since he did not come to the party, his gift was sent to him.
13. Neither is followed by nor and both are followed by same auxiliary verb.
e.g. Neither Ravi nor Raju was seen.
 Neither did I read nor did I write.
14. Either is followed by or.
e.g. Either you are or he is to blame.
15. Unless, until, if not, so that should not be followed by not.
e.g. Wait here until I come.
 Do not go unless I return.
16. If is used in conditional sense; Whether is used in uncertainty.
e.g. If he does not return the books, he will not be awarded the certificate.
 I don't know whether he was present.
17. To express time before use until or till and to express how long use as long as.
e.g. He continued to be lazy, until he was ten years old.
 Work as long as you live.
18. Such is followed by as.
e.g. We talked about such subjects as the weather.
Such is followed by that if we emphasize degree of something by mentioning the result.
e.g. The extent of the disaster was such that not a single man could survive.
19. Like is followed by pronoun, as is followed by a clause.
e.g. He runs like me.
 He runs as I do.

ERRORS IN SUBJECT-VERB AGREEMENT

1. Singular subject must have singular verb.
e.g. He writes. I write.
2. Plural subject must have plural verb.
e.g. They write. We write.

3. Two subjects joined by and will always take a plural verb :
e.g. The doctor and nurse work together.
The doctor and nurses work together.
The doctors and nurse work together.
4. Two singular subjects joined by or or nor will take a singular verb :
e.g. A doctor or a nurse is working in the hospital.
5. A singular subject and a plural subject joined by or or nor will take a singular or plural verb depending on which subject is nearer the verb :
e.g. Neither Deepak nor his friends are joining the tour.
Neither his friends nor Deepak is joining the tour.
6. If the subject is singular and the predicate is plural, the verb must agree with its subject and not its predicate :
e.g. Physical conditioning and mental attitude are winning combination.
The winning combination is physical conditioning and mental attitude.
7. Indefinite pronouns such as someone, somebody, each, nobody, anyone, anybody, one, no one, everyone, everybody, either, neither etc. always take a singular verb :
e.g. Each of my friends calls me once a month.
8. Indefinite pronouns which indicate more than one (several, few, both, many) always take plural verbs :
e.g. Both of the books require careful reading.
Several of the fielders regularly run four or five kilometers a day.
9. Collective nouns (fleet, army, committee, crowd) are singular when the group works together as a unit and hence take singular verbs :
e.g. The jury has reached its verdict.
The team runs in a smooth way.
10. Collective nouns are plural when the members of the group are acting individually and hence take plural verbs :
e.g. The jury have argued for five hours.
The team are putting on their uniforms.
11. Some words (such as news, measles, mumps etc.) end in -s but represent a single thing. These words need singular verbs :
e.g. The 7 o'clock news is about to begin.
Measles sometimes has rather serious side effects.
12. Some words (such as scissors, trousers, spectacles, shorts etc.) end in -s and

- seem to represent a single thing, but they are two parts to that single thing. These words take plural verbs :
e.g. The scissors are on the table.
His trousers are very costly.
13. Words (such as politics, ethics, athletics etc.) that end in -ics are usually singular and hence take singular verbs :
e.g. Mathematics is his favourite subject.
Politics is itself a dirty game.
But these words are singular when they refer to a study, science or practice. If these words have modifiers with them, they become plural and hence take plural verbs :
e.g. His politics are somewhat divided.
The mathematics of the tax-return are flawless.
The school's athletics are all for both boys and girls.
14. Title of the books need singular verbs :
e.g. Great Expectations is a good book.
Tom Jones is a book of Fielding.
15. Some nouns in the plural form represent an amount, a fraction, or an element of time. These nouns are considered singular and hence take singular verbs :
e.g. Sixty minutes is enough to finish this work.
Three-fourths of the land is barren.
16. If two subjects are joined together by as well as the verb will act according to the first subject :
e.g. Students as well as the teacher are playing.
He as well as his brothers is sitting there.
I as well as he am going out of station for a week.
17. The subject Many a ... is always followed by the singular verb :
e.g. Many a man was drowned in the sea.
18. If two subjects are joined together by with the verb will act according to the subject :
e.g. The Principal together with his students was seeing the final match.
The students together with the Principal were seeing the final match.
19. If the subject is The number of... use a singular verb :
e.g. The number of books is very small.
The number of boys in this team is ten.
20. If the subject begins with A number of ... (= many), use a plural verb :
e.g. A number of books are missing.
21. If two subjects express one idea, use a singular verb :

e.g. Bread and butter is wholesome food.
Soup and salad is too light a lunch.

22. When adjectives such as much, less, little and more are used as nouns, they must have a singular verb :
e.g. A little of good habits makes our life happy.
Less than a million of rupees is required.

ERRORS IN THE USE OF TENSES

The changed forms of a verb that indicate time of the action are called tenses of the verb.

- When the verb in the Principal Clause is in the Past tense, the verbs of the Subordinate Clauses should be in the Past tense :
e.g. He said that he had finished his work.
I was infomed that her mother was ill.
- But a Past tense in the Principal Clause may or may not be followed by the Past tense in the sub-ordinate clause if the latter expresses universal or habitual truth :
e.g. The teacher said that the earth revolves round the sun.
My brother told me that smoking is injurious to health.
- Any tense may be used in the sub-ordinate clause if it gives a comparison by using the word than :
e.g. He respected you more than he respects his uncle.
The teacher liked Anil better than he liked me.
- Any tense can be used when the sub-ordinate clause is in a quotation :
e.g. She said, "He will go to Madras tomorrow."
I said, "I am going to Delhi today."
- The Present Perfect Tense (subject + has/have + V₃) cannot be used when an expression of Past time (yesterday, last night, ago etc.) is used :
e.g. We wrote to you yesterday about his mother.
I finished my letter last night.
- In conditional sentences the subordinate clause, beginning with if, is generally in Present or Past tense but not in future tense :
e.g. If I go to Delhi, I shall see the Red Fort.
If he had worked hard, he would have passed.
- With the phrases as if and as though, Past tense and plural form of the verb should be used

e.g. He behaves as if he were a millionaire.

8. Past Perfect tense (subject + had + V₃) is used when a sentence refers to two past actions and one of them occurs earlier than the other :
e.g. When my uncle came to India I had passed M.A.
9. Words like usually, generally, often, whenever etc. are used in Present Indefinite tense :
I usually go to play cricket.
I often laugh at him.
10. If the action began in the past and is still continuing in the present, use Present Perfect tense (Subject + has/have + been V₁ + ing) :
e.g. I have been reading in this class for two months.
11. Do not use the Future or the Present tense after such expressions as suppose that, it is high time, it is time, as if etc. :
e.g. It is high time that you went home.
It is time that we played football.

GERUND & INFINITIVE

USE OF GERUND (V₁ + ing)

- When an action is being considered in general sense, gerund is used as subject :
e.g. Swimming is his favourite pastime.
Walking is a good exercise.
- Gerund is used as subject in short prohibitions :
e.g. Smoking is prohibited.
- Verbs such as help, stop, detest, avoid, finish, dread, mind, prevent, dislike, risk, deny, recollect, no good, no use, resent, delay, postpone, defer, enjoy, forgive, pardon, excuse, suggest etc. are followed by the gerund :
e.g. It is no use saying.
It is no good repenting.
I avoid calling out loudly.
- A gerund is placed after a preposition :
e.g. She is tired of walking.
He is fond of riding.
But the prepositions except and but are followed by an infinitive.
- A gerund, showing physical activity, is put after come or go :
e.g. He is to go shooting.
Come fishing with us.
- Nouns, followed by a gerund, are put in the possessive case.
e.g. He hates his brother's drinking everyday.
She dislikes her child's playing all the time.

7. If there is a sense of dislike, hesitation, risk etc. in a sentence, use gerund :
e.g. I dislike reading cheap novels.
She hesitates singing in the company of her friends.
8. Adjective before gerund are put in the possessive case :
e.g. I do not mind your going away.
What is the good of his trying to do that?
9. With a view to is always followed by a gerund and not an adjective.
e.g. We go to school with a view to studying.

INFINITIVE (To + V₁)—

- Verbs such as learn, remember, promise, swear, consent, neglect, refuse, purpose, try, endeavour, attempt, fail, care, hope, decide, hesitate, prepare, determine, undertake, manage, arrange, seem, forget, agree, regret etc. are followed by infinitive :
e.g. We endeavour to invite such persons.
We promise to do this work soon.
- Verbs such as order, tell, invite, oblige, allow, permit, compel, teach, instruct, advise, tempt, encourage, urge, request, show, remind, forbid, warn etc. are followed by object and infinitive :
e.g. The teacher instructed the students to go.
She told me to come there.
- Verbs or expressions like—will, can, do, must, may, let are followed by infinitive without to :
e.g. Let him do this work.
Let it be done.
- Expressions like would rather, would sooner, rather than, sooner than, had better are followed by infinitive without to :
e.g. You had better tell him.
I would do rather than suffer.
- See can be used with infinitive or without it :
e.g. Go to see him.
Go and see him.
- The infinitive is used after adjectives like delight, angry, glad, astonished, surprised, horrified, disappointed etc. :
e.g. I was astonished to find him.
I was horrified to see the scene.
- The verb know is never directly followed by the infinitive. It is followed by a conjunction and then the infinitive :
Do you know to play the harmonium? (×)
Do you know how to play the harmonium? (✓)

8. ...had better is always followed by the infinitive without to :
You had better to stop taking the medicine which has harmful side-effects. (×)
You had better stop taking the medicine which has harmful side-effects. (✓)
9. Infinitive is not used with to after verbs of perception like-to see, to hear, to feel, to watch etc. :
e.g. I saw him cross the street.
She heard her come downstairs.
10. Avoid using split-infinitive :
He planned to not go on a vacation this year. (×)
He planned not to go on a vacation this year. (✓)

AUXILIARY VERBS

These are helping verbs.

- May implies permission, doubt or possibility :
e.g. It may rain tonight.
May I use your pen?
- Might is the past form of may but it does not necessarily represent past time. Often it implies more doubt than may :
e.g. If the clouds are salted, the rains might come.
- Can is used to express ability :
e.g. He can do this work.
- Could is the past form of can but it does not necessarily represent past time. Often it implies a more uncertain condition than can.
e.g. She could refuse, but she never does.
- Should is the past form of shall. It is used in sub-ordinate clauses after in case and sometimes after if :
e.g. I shall get some money in case brother comes.
If you should see Raj, give him my regards.
It is also used in past sentences with so that and, in order that :
e.g. He turned the stereo down very low so that he should not disturb him.
Should can also be used in sub-ordinate clauses when we are expressing the idea that something must be done or is important. The fact is that this happens after verbs like command, order, request, insist, suggest, advise etc. & after adjectives - like important, vital, essential, necessary, eager, anxious, concerned etc.
e.g. She insisted that the contract should be read aloud.
I am anxious that nobody should be hurt.

Should is also used in sub-ordinate clauses in sentences where we express personal reactions to events. We express our reactions with words like—amazing, interesting, shocked, sorry, normal, natural, it's a shame etc.

- e.g. I am sorry you should think I did it on purpose,
I was shocked that she should not have invited Mr. Kapoor.
6. Must is followed by the infinitive without to :
e.g. I must get up at five tomorrow.
Must is used to give strong advice or orders :
e.g. I really must stop drinking.
You must be here by 8 o'clock.
Must is used to say that we are sure about something :
e.g. I am in love—that must be nice.
Must is used after a past reporting verb.
e.g. I felt there must be something wrong.
7. Should and Ought have similar meanings, but ought is followed by to. Ought to has a more objective force and is used when we are talking about laws, duties and regulations :
e.g. We ought to see her tomorrow.
Should and ought to can also be used to talk about strong probability :
e.g. He has bought thirty pints of whisky—that ought to be enough.
To talk about things which did not happen, although they were supposed to, we use should and ought to with the perfect infinitive :
e.g. The taxi should have arrived at 8.30.
8. Do is used to make question and negative forms of ordinary verbs :
e.g. Do you know Rajat ?
I don't like trout.
Do is used in question-tags and short answers :
e.g. You know painting, do you ?
Does he know I am here ? —Yes, he does.
Do is used before an imperative to make the request more persuasive :
e.g. Do accompany us.
Do is not used in questions which have who, what or which as their subject :
e.g. Who said that ?
What happened ?
Which one's that ?
But if who, what or which is the object of the sentence, do is used :

e.g. Who did you see ?

Which department do you want ?

Do is also used with an -ing form when we want to talk of activity that takes a certain time or that is repeated. In this case we find determiners like—the, my, some, much, etc. :

I usually do most of my washing on Sundays.

Can you do the shopping for her ?

ERRORS IN USE OF ADJECTIVES

Word qualifying a noun or pronoun is called an adjective.

- The adjectives ending in -ior (prior, junior, senior, superior, inferior, posterior) take 'to' and not 'than' after them. e.g. He is senior to me.
This book is superior to that book.
- Some adjectives like unique, ideal, perfect, extreme, complete, universal, infinite, perpetual, chief, entire, round, impossible are not compared.
e.g. It is the most unique book. (×)
It is a unique book. (✓)
- Comparative degree is used in comparing two things or persons.
e.g. It is the better of the two books.
Superlative degree is used in comparing more than two things or persons.
e.g. He is the best of the three boys.
- Double comparatives and double superlatives must not be used.
He is more wiser than his brother. (×)
He is wiser than his brother. (✓)
- When we compare two qualities in the same person or thing, the comparative ending -er is not used.
You are wiser than old. (×)
You are more wise than old. (✓)
- When two adjectives in superlative or comparative degree are used together, the one formed by adding 'more' or 'most' must follow the other adjective.
He is more intelligent and wiser than his brother. (×)
He is wiser and more intelligent than his brother. (✓)
- When two adjectives with differing degrees of comparison are used they should be complete in themselves.
He is as wise, if not wiser than his brother. (×)
He is as wise as, if not wiser than his brother. (✓)
- When two changes happen together, comparative degree is used in both.

- e.g. The higher you go, the cooler you feel.
- When comparative degree is used in superlative sense, it is followed by any other.
Kapil is better than any bowler. (×)
Kapil is better than any other bowler. (✓)
 - Compound adjective formed by adding 'worth' is placed after the noun it qualifies.
This is a worth seeing sight. (×)
This is a sight worth seeing. (✓)
 - When two or more comparatives are joined by 'and', they must be in the same degree.
e.g. Russel was one of the wisest and most learned men of the world.
 - When there are two objects of comparison, then to avoid repetition of noun, 'that' is used for singular noun and 'those' for plural noun.
e.g. The climate of Ranchi is better than Gaya. (×)
The climate of Ranchi is better than that of Gaya. (✓)
 - If comparison is made by using 'other', 'than' is used instead of 'but'.
e.g. He turned out to be no other than my old friend.
 - Likely, certain and sure are followed by 'to'.
e.g. He is likely to win.
We are sure to need help.

Confused Adjectives :

- Beautiful is used for woman ; handsome for man.
e.g. He is a handsome youth.
She is a beautiful girl.
- Less refers to quantity, fewer denotes number.
e.g. He takes no less than a litre of milk.
They have fewer books than I have.
- Last is the final one ; Latest is last upto the present.
e.g. Z is the last letter of the alphabet.
This is the latest edition of the book.
- Each is used for one of two or more things ; every is used for more than two things, taken as a group.
e.g. Each of the two boys was wrong.
He read every book I gave him.
- Older refers to persons or things.
e.g. This tree is older than that.
Elder refers to persons only.
e.g. He is my elder brother.
- Little means 'not much'.
A little means 'at least some'.
e.g. He slept little.
He slept a little.
- Farther means 'more distant'.

- Further means 'additional'
e.g. Bombay is farther than Delhi.
I shall get further information.
- Latter means the second of two things.
Keats and Byron are romantic poets, but I prefer the latter.
Later refers to time.
She came to school later than I.

ERRORS IN USE OF ADVERBS :

Adverbs are words that add information about the verb.

Adverbs of manner, place and time are usually placed after the verb or object.

e.g. He was running slowly.
Reena does her work carefully.
I met him yesterday.
They followed Rachna everywhere.

- Adverbs of frequency (e.g. never, often, usually, always, rarely, etc.) and other adverbs (like already, almost, just, quite, nearly, hardly) are normally put between subject and verb. If there is more than one word in the verb, they are put after first word.
e.g. He often goes to Delhi.

I quite agree with you.
But if verb is 'am', 'is' and 'are', adverb is placed after the verb.
e.g. I am never late for school.

- The adverb enough is placed after the adjective.
e.g. She is cunning enough to tackle him.
- 'Ever' is sometimes incorrectly used for 'never'.
He seldom or ever tells a lie. (×)
He seldom or never tells a lie. (✓)
- Adverb 'not' shouldn't be used with words having negative meaning.
The teacher forbade me not to go. (×)
The teacher forbade me to go. (✓)
- The word 'only' should be placed immediately before the word it modifies.
e.g. Hari answered only two questions.
- An adverb should not be used before an infinitive.
He quickly did the job. (×)
He did the job quickly. (✓)
- The auxiliaries have to and used to come after the adverb.
He often used to go to cinema.

Some More Tips of Usage :

- Avoid the use of lots, a lot and a whole lot in the sense of much or a great deal :
He expects to earn a lot of money on his sale of farm products. (×)

- He expects to earn a great deal of money on his sale of farm products. (✓)
- Plenty is a noun and is always followed by of :
e.g. He has plenty of room in his old house.
 - Due to always modifies a noun and not a verb. Hence, no sentence should begin with due to, it must be used only after some form of the verb to be :
e.g. His death was due to natural causes.
 - Alright is incorrect, use all right :
I think it is quite alright if you stay. (×)
I think it is quite all right if you stay. (✓)
 - If the gender is not determined, use the pronoun of the masculine gender :
If anybody has got the book let her return it. (×)
If anybody has got the book let him return it. (✓)
 - When two nouns are closely connected, apostrophe 's' will be written after second only :
Ravi's and Shikha's mother is ill. (×)
Ravi and Shikha's mother is ill. (✓)
 - Both and as well as cannot be used together in the same sentence because both convey the same sense :
Both Pinki as well as Pooja are beautiful. (×)
Both Pinki and Pooja are beautiful. (✓)
 - Supposing and if cannot be used together in the same sentence :
Supposing if he fails, what will he do? (×)
If he fails, what will he do? (✓)
 - Endure suggests suffering, usually in silence and tolerate, means to allow it with some degree of approval :
e.g. He endured the pain without complaint.
He will not tolerate laziness.
 - Avoid the use of had with ought :
You had not ought to do it. (×)
You ought not do it. (✓)
 - As is used when one compares things or persons of equal or about equal size or quality, so is used when one compares things or persons which are unequal :
e.g. He weighs as much as his father.
He does not weigh so much as his father.
 - Avoid using the double comparative and double superlative :
The weather is more hotter than it was yesterday. (×)
The weather is hotter than it was yesterday. (✓)
- This pen is the most costliest in this store. (×)
This pen is the costliest in this store. (✓)
- Cent per cent and word by word are wrong uses. The real terms are hundred percent and word for word.
 - When two comparatives are used in a sentence for proportion, the is used before both of them :
e.g. The higher we go, the cooler it is.
 - Do the needful is incorrect, write do what is necessary.
 - Never say family members, say members of the family :
e.g. His family members have gone to Bombay. (×)
The members of his family have gone to Bombay. (✓)
 - Else is always followed by but and never by than :
It is nothing else but your pride which makes you say such a thing.
 - All of is used in conversation, not in standard written English :
She gave all of her antiques to the museum. (×)
She gave all her antiques to the museum. (✓)
 - Talking terms is wrong, use speaking terms :
He is not on talking terms with his brother. (×)
He is not on speaking terms with his brother. (✓)
 - Verbs like resemble, recommend, comprise, order, accompany, reach, join, shirk, attack, emphasise, discuss, fear, succeed, resist, request, assist, benefit, afford etc. are not followed by any preposition when used in the active voice.
He emphasised on the need for discipline. (×)
He emphasised the need for discipline. (✓)
She will accompany with you to Madras. (×)
She will accompany you to Madras. (✓)
 - The phrase type of, sort of and kind of do not follow a or an :
What kind of a friend are you? ((×)
What kind of friend are you? (✓)
 - A full hour number follows o'clock, but in fraction it does not follow :
He left this place by 10.40 o'clock. (×)
He left this place by 10.40. (✓)
 - Yet means up to the present time something that has not happened :
His brothers are not married even yet.

I hope the end is not yet.

Still means that a situation, state, or action which began at an earlier time has continued right up to the present :

I still do not understand.

24. And joins two clauses of the same nature, but joins two antithetical clauses of quite opposite meaning :

e.g. It was lovely and warm outside.

It was a long walk but it was worth it.

25. Hardly refers to degree, while scarcely refers to quantity :

e.g. I hardly see how I can finish this work.

I have scarcely enough money for my own needs.

26. Words like divide and share are followed by between when we use several singular nouns :

e.g. I divided my time between teaching, writing and delivering lecture.

I shared his property between his wife, his son and his daughter.

27. In relative sentences any is usually followed by that, not by which or who :
e.g. Borrow any book that interests you.

28. Since is used as an adverb, as a preposition and also as a conjunction :

I met Raj last Tuesday but have not seen him since. (Adverb)

Ajay has eaten nothing since yesterday. (Preposition)

What have you done since we last met ? (Conjunction)

TYPE 2: DETECTING ERRORS IN SPECIFIC WORDS IN A SENTENCE

In this type of questions, generally a sentence is given in which some words are marked and labelled (a), (b), (c) and (d). The candidate is required to choose out the erroneous part. The error may be in the spelling of the word, or in its usage in context of the sentence. If, however, all the four words are appropriate and correctly spelt, then option (e) i.e. 'All correct' is the answer.

Ex. 1. : The distribution (a) / of fuel and power resources is irregular, (b) / so that few countries (c) / have all sources available (d) / to them. All correct (e)

Sol. Clearly, in the given sentence, the word 'available' is wrongly spelt. The correct spelling is 'available'. Hence, the answer is (d).

Ex. 2. According (a) / to me he is the ideal (b) / choice for performing (c) / this roll. (d) / All correct (e).

Sol. Clearly, in the above sentence, the word 'roll' has been wrongly used. The correct word is 'role'. Hence, the answer is (d).

16. SENTENCE IMPROVEMENT

This chapter is analogous to 'Spotting Errors'. In this type of questions, a sentence is given with a word or phrase italicised. The candidate is required to examine this italicised part in accordance with the rules of grammar usage and vocabulary and decide upon its correctness. Some substitutes to the italicised part are given below the sentence. The candidate is required to choose the alternative which when substitutes the italicised part, the sentence becomes grammatically correct. If the italicised part is correct as it is, then the correct option is 'No improvement' or 'No correction required'.

Here are a few examples.

Example 1 : This project would encourage development and enable every villager to govern their own destiny. (Bank P.O. 1994)

- (a) to govern his (b) to governing his (c) have governed his
(d) may govern their (e) No correction required

Solution : Clearly, the usage 'to govern' is correct. But since 'villager' is singular, so 'his' should be used instead of 'their'.

Hence, the answer is (a).

Example 2 : He told his friends that he drank tea every morning.

- (a) will drink (b) drinks (c) would drink
(d) drunk (e) No correction required

Solution : Since a habitual action is denoted by Simple Present Tense, so here 'drinks' should be used instead of 'drank'.

Hence, the answer is (b).

Example 3 : My school is in a stone's throw from my house.

- (a) at a stone's throw (b) to a stone's throw (c) on a stone's throw
(d) within a stone's throw (e) No correction required

Solution : The correct idiom is 'within a stone's throw'. So, the answer is (d).

For Rules of Grammar & Vocabulary Usage, refer to the Section 'Tips for Correct Usage'.

Passage 2

National integration is, therefore, the need of the hour. India had already suffered (3) centuries of servitude and enslavement. Perhaps India is the only country in the world, which has suffered foreign rule of (9) more than seven hundred and fifty years. The internal dissensions among the Rajput kings and princes allowed the Muslim rulers (10) to establish their foothold in India, which was prolonged (11) as long as five centuries.

Then there was once again a time when destiny gave India a chance to be united. But the British ingeniously succeeded in creating a rift (12) between different kings and established their sway which was discarded (13) only when the different links of Indian nationhood were joined together again by Indian leaders of unparalleled political skill (14), who were not creations of history but creators of history. They had realised that India's sorrow had risen (15) from disunity. The mighty efforts of these leaders succeeded and India achieved independence, but India's heart had been (16) vivisected in the creation of Pakistan.

19. RECONSTRUCTION OF SENTENCES

In this type of questions, you are provided with the first and last parts of a sentence. The remaining sentence is broken into four parts labelled (P), (Q), (R) and (S). You are required to arrange these parts so as to form a complete meaningful sentence and then choose the correct combination.

Example 1 :

- (1) On being asked by the teacher
(P) and then picking up the bag
(Q) why he always came late
(R) to the class,
(S) the student first kept quiet
(6) left the class red with shame and anger.

The proper order is

- (a) RSPQ (b) QRSP

(Stenographers' Exam, 1995)

- (c) SPQR (d) PQRS

Solution : For solution, proceed by questioning.

On being asked by the teacher—what? — why he always came late—where?—to the class,—what did the student do?— the student first kept quiet and then? — and then picking up the bag - left the class red with shame and anger.

So, the correct combination is QRSP. Hence, the answer is (b).

Example 2 :

The Collector said that the

- (P) supply of water for irrigation
(Q) dams should receive water
(R) upto a particular level
(S) to ensure uninterrupted

The proper sequence should be

- (a) QRSP (b) RQSP

- (c) SPRQ (d) SRPQ

(N.D.A. 1996)

Solution : Clearly, the correct sentence which would be formed is : 'The Collector said that the dams should receive water upto a particular level to ensure uninterrupted supply of water for irrigation.'

Thus, the correct sequence is QRSP.

Hence, the answer is (a).

20. REARRANGEMENT OF SENTENCES
IN A PARAGRAPH

In this type of questions, six sentences are given and labelled S₁, P, Q, R, S and S₆. S₁ and S₆ are the first and the last sentences of a paragraph respectively. The middle four sentences viz. P, Q, R and S are given in a jumbled order. The candidate is required to arrange these four sentences in a meaningful sequence and then choose the correct order from among the alternatives provided.

Example : Considering the positions of S₁ and S₆ as fixed, rearrange the four sentences P, Q, R and S and choose one of the four alternatives which would be the most logical sequence of the sentences in the passage.

S₁: Speech was the first means of conveying information. (a) PQSR (b) QPRS
(c) QPSR (d) QRPS

P: Thirdly printing helped in dissemination of knowledge in a permanent form.

Q: Then writing as a means introduced a capacity for storing information.

R: Computer is the only medium that can not only store but analyse information to make decision.

S: However, all these are passive media.

S₆: Therefore, computer is hailed as the fourth information revolution.

(N.D.A. 1996)

The proper sequence should be

Solution : Clearly, the author speaks of 'passive media' of conveying information on the one hand and 'computer' on the other hand. In S₁, speech is talked of as the first means. Then comes sentence Q which talks of writing as the next means.

P follows Q because it discusses about printing as the third means.

The next sentence is S because the author conveys that all these three are passive media. Since S₆ (the last sentence) is concerned with computers, so the fifth sentence in the paragraph should be R.

Hence, the correct sequence is QPSR.

So, the answer is (c).

PRACTICE SET 1

Directions : In each of the following questions, there are six sentences marked S₁, S₆, P, Q, R, S. The positions of S₁ and S₆ are fixed. You are required to choose one of the four alternatives which would be the most logical sequence of the sentences in the passage.

1. S₁. The Hound of Baskervilles was feared by the people of the area.

S₆. The Hound of Baskervilles remains an unsolved mystery.

P: Some people spoke of seeing a huge, shadowy form of a hound at midnight on the moor.

Q: But they spoke of it in tones of horror.

R: Nobody had actually seen the hound.

S: This shadowy form did not reveal any details about the animal.

P: Many educationists protested vigorously against these measures.

Q: But this came to grief soon after the enactment in 1823, of new measures for the control of the press.

R: He brought out a bilingual, Bengali-English magazine.

S: Later, desiring an all - India circulation, he published a weekly in Persian, which was recognised then as the language of the cultured classes all over India.

S₆. Rammohan Roy even addressed a petition to the King - in - Council in England.

 P: But for spiritual knowledge mere memory of holy texts will be of no use in passing the texts.
 Q: One can score in them by the power of memory.
 R: A competent guru alone can provide the necessary guidance to an earnest disciple.
 S: What the text says has to be reflected upon and experienced by the speaker.
 S₆. Thus, reading, reflection and experience are the three stages in gaining spiritual knowledge.

 P: Interestingly, some clinicians claim that those with acute physical illness don't yawn until they are on the road to recovery.
 Q: It can be a symptom of brain lesions, haemorrhage, motion sickness and encephalitis.
 R: But what is currently known about yawning is essentially anecdotal, mostly because the yawn has not got the respect it deserves.
 S: On the other hand, it has been reported that psychotics rarely yawn, except those suffering from brain damage.

15. S₁. For a conversation to be stimulating and sustained, the participants must be active talkers as well as active listeners.
 S₆. It's better to paint the big picture first, and if your partner wants to know more, you can always fill in with details.

- P: This is usually unnecessary, confusing and even boring to your partner.
- Q: Some people feel that they have to give long-winded explanations of their views.
- R: Make a point of throwing the conversational ball to the other person after you have presented your ideas in an abridged form.
- S: Be sure to do both in conversation.

16. S₁. But how does a new word get into the dictionary?
S₆. He sorts them according to their grammatical function, and carefully writes a definition.
- P: When a new dictionary is being edited, a lexicographer collects all the alphabetically arranged citation slips for a particular word.
- Q: The dictionary makers notice it and make a note of it on a citation slip.
- R: The moment a new word is coined, it usually enters the spoken language.
- S: The word then passes from the realm of hearing to the realm of writing. (C.D.S. 1995)

17. S₁. Gandhi's first political fast was made soon after his return from Africa.
S₆. He did not fast against the mill owners, but in order to strengthen the determination of the strikers.
P: He had also received help from this man's sister.
Q: This was when the poor labourers of the cotton mills of Ahmedabad were on strike.
R: He was a friend of the largest mill-owner.
S: Gandhi had made the strikers promise to remain on strike until the owners agreed to accept the decision of an arbitrator.

19. S₁. We must also understand that the fruits of labour are sweeter than the gifts of fortune.
S₆. The best life, therefore, is lived both in thought and deed.
P: Moreover, too much of thinking is also a disease.
Q: Indeed, thought and action can be separately analysed but can never be separated from each other.
R: Hence, thought to be complete demands action and action without thought also has no value.
S: It keeps us depressed and gloomy.

23. S₁. A transformation of consciousness is now beginning to express itself in the field of theoretical architecture.
P: In the still theoretical structure an attempt is being made to create a house that is "a domestication of an ecosystem."
Q: What is happening in the architecture is a shift from the international style of the post-industrial era to a symbolic structure.
R: Since architecture is the collective unconscious made visible, the architect does not himself always understand the full cultural implications of his own work.
S: The new form is not a celebration of power over new materials, but a celebration of cooperation with ecosystem.
S₆. The relationship between culture and nature is changed, for the architect grows a house like a garden.

27. S₁. Science means finding out how things actually do happen.
 S₆. But Galileo proved his point experimentally by dropping weights from the Leaning Tower of Pisa.
 P: He showed that a light object falls to the ground at the same rate as a heavy object.
- Q: It does not mean laying down principles as to how they ought to happen.
 R: This did not agree with the views of most learned men of that time.
 S: The most famous example of this concerns Galileo's discovery about falling bodies.

28. S₁. Moncure Conway devoted his life to two great objects: freedom of thought, and freedom of the individual.
 P: They threaten both kinds of freedom.
 Q: But something also has been lost.
 R: There are now dangers, somewhat different in form from those of the past ages.
 S: In regard to both these objects, something has been gained since his time.
 S₆. Unless a vigorous and vigilant public opinion can be aroused in defence of them, there will be much less of both a hundred years hence than there is now.

33. S₁. If you want to do well in your examinations you need to be able to think for yourself which means not just following the guide - books but write what you think yourself.
 P: That will not help much.
 Q: Few if any students do this.
- R: By discussing things with other students, with your teachers, and with any intelligent people you meet you will find you can pick up a lot of new ideas but it is no good first accepting these ideas, swallowing them undigested and then repeating them in the examination.
 S: At first you will find it difficult but if you go on trying you will find clear independent thought becomes easier.
 S₆. If however you turn these ideas over in our mind accepting those which you agree with and fitting them into your stock of knowledge and rejecting the others you may get somewhere.

16. S₁. We speak today of self-determination in politics.
S₆. Cultural subjection is ordinarily of an unconscious character and it implies slavery from the very start.
P: So long as one is conscious of a restraint, it is possible to resist it or to bear it as a necessary evil and to keep free in spirit.
Q: Slavery begins when one ceases to feel the restraint and it depends on if the evil is accepted as good.
R: There is, however, a subtler domination exercised in the sphere of ideas by one culture on another.
S: Political subjection primarily means restraint on the outer life of people. (C.D.S. 1994)

21. RECONSTRUCTION OF PARAGRAPHS

In this section, the candidate is given a paragraph of five or six sentences, which are put in a jumbled order. The candidate is required to arrange the given sentences to form a meaningful paragraph and answer the questions based on the sequence so formed.

Example : Rearrange the following sentences into a meaningful sequence and then answer the questions that follow. (Bank P.O. 1994)

- (A) But I think a better definition of happiness is 'the capacity for enjoyment'.
 (B) Turning to adults, ask any adult what he means by happiness and you will find a puzzled face for a moment.
 (C) In the teen age years the concept of happiness changes to enjoyment and pleasure.
 (D) Because the more we can enjoy what we have, the happier we are.
 (E) The meaning of the word happiness changes with growing years, for a child happiness has a magical quality.
 (F) Leave the puzzled face and refer to a dictionary it defines happy as 'lucky' or 'fortunate'.

- Which sentence should come first in the paragraph?
(a) B (b) C (c) D (d) E (e) F
- Which sentence should come second in the paragraph?
(a) A (b) B (c) C (d) D (e) E
- Which sentence should come third in the paragraph?
(a) B (b) C (c) D (d) E (e) F
- Which sentence should come fourth in the paragraph?
(a) E (b) F (c) A (d) B (e) C
- Which sentence should come last in the paragraph?
(a) C (b) D (c) E (d) F (e) A

Solution : Note that the sentence E gives a general comment on happiness and talks about what it means for a child. So, the correct answer of 1 is (d).

Next, we have sentence C because it deals with concept of happiness for teenager. So, the correct answer of 2 is (c). The third sentence should be B because it now moves on to the view of adults. So, the correct answer of 3 is (a) Since B ends with 'puzzled face' and F begins with the same, so F should follow B as the fourth sentence. So, the correct answer of 4 is (b).

Next comes the author's view which is given in A. So, A is the fifth sentence.

Since sentence A talks about enjoyment & happiness and D gives the relation between these two, so D should follow A as the last sentence of the paragraph. So, the correct answer of 5 is (b).

PRACTICE SET 1

Directions : Rearrange the given five sentences A, B, C, D, and E in the proper sequence so as to form a meaningful paragraph and then answer the questions given below them.

Questions 1 to 5 (Bank P.O. 1994)

- (A) Would you steal a software program out of a retail shop?
 (B) The industry on its part has formed an organisation to specially gather information, educate and drag the software pirates to courts.
 (C) But more than the legality, there is always a different way of looking at piracy and that is in terms of morality.

- (D) The Government on the other hand has initiated National Enforcement Committees.
 (E) As far as the issue of tackling piracy is concerned, both the industry and the Government have already started initiating action.

Questions 23 to 27

(Bank P.O. 1993)

The recognition of task and relationship as two critical dimensions of a manager's behaviour has been an important part of management research over the last several decades.

(A) Therefore, it was also felt that it could be represented on a single continuum, moving from very authoritarian leader behaviour (task) at one end to very participative leader behaviour (relationship) at the other end.

(B) These two dimensions have been given various labels ranging from "autocratic" and "democratic" to "employee oriented" and "production oriented".

(C) In particular, extensive leadership studies at Ohio State University questioned this assumption and showed that other assumptions were more reasonable and would lead to more useful theories of leadership.

(D) For sometime, it was believed that task and relationship behaviours were either/or styles of leadership.

(E) In more recent years, the idea that task and relationship behaviours were either/or leadership styles has been dispelled.

(d) 4, 2, 8, 6, 5, 7, 1, 3

(G.I.C.A.A.O. 1990)

Technique of Solving :

The first thing is what is being talked about.

In the above example, it is the 'artificial satellites'. Since all other parts except (2) contain 'they', so the introductory sentence should be (2).

After (2), a question arises : why they do not fall? The answer to this is (6). So, the next part is (6).

Now, we consider two alternatives (b) and (d).

On rearranging according to these, we find that a meaningful paragraph is formed with the order given in (b). Hence, the answer is (b).

PRACTICE SET

Directions : In each of the following questions, a paragraph or a sentence has been broken up into different parts. The parts have been scrambled and numbered as given below. Choose the correct order of these parts from the given alternatives.

23. WORD FORMATION

This is one of the recently added types of questions. In this, a word is given, whose alphabets are written in a jumbled order and numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6. The candidate is required to arrange these alphabets so as to form a meaningful word and then choose the correct order from the alternatives given.

Example : Select the combination of numbers so that letters arranged accordingly will form a meaningful word.

V A R S T E

1 2 3 4 5 6

(a) 2 3 1 6 4 5 (b) 4 5 2 3 1 6 (c) 6 3 4 5 2 1 (d) 3 2 4 5 6 1

Solution : The given letters, when rearranged in the order 452316, form the word 'STARVE'. Hence, the answer is (b).

PRACTICE SET

Directions : Select the combination of numbers so that letters/words arranged accordingly will form a meaningful word.

TYPE II ; USE OF PHRASES TO FILL IN THE BLANKS

In this type of questions, four phrases are suggested and labelled (a), (b), (c) and (d). These phrases serve as alternatives to fill in the blanks in some sentences that follow. The candidate is required to examine each phrase in context of the given sentence and then choose the most effective one as his answer. Here is an example.

Directions : Of the four alternatives given below find the one that best fits into the blank in each of the following sentences.

- (a) call up (b) call for (c) call out (d) call to

- The occasion prompt action.
- The fire brigade was twice yesterday.
- It is difficult for an old man to the events of his childhood.
- Seeing my friend on the roadside in a car I him, but he could not hear me.
- He his opponent, but the fellow was too great a coward to come.

Solution : 'call up' means 'to bring to memory'. So, the blank in sentence 3 should be filled up with (a).

'call for' means 'to demand'. So, the blank in sentence 1 should be filled up with 'calls for'. Hence, answer is (b).

'call out' means 'to challenge' or 'to require'. So, (c) is the answer for sentences 2 & 5.

'call to' means 'to address loudly'. So, (d) is the answer for sentence 4.

25. ACTIVE & PASSIVE VOICE

In a sentence, when the subject acts, the verb is said to be in Active Voice, but when the subject is passive and receives action, the verb is said to be in Passive Voice.

e.g. (i) Ajay writes a letter.

This sentence indicates that the subject 'Ajay' does something. So, it is in Active Voice.

(ii) A letter is written by Ajay.

In this sentence, the verb 'written' indicates that something is done by Ajay. So, the verb here is in Passive Voice.

The following are the different forms of sentences which are given to be transformed from one Voice to another :

Active Voice

27. TRANSFORMATION

This section deals with questions related to different forms in which two sentences may be combined.

In this type of questions, generally two sentences are given followed by three proposed beginnings of a sentence, which are marked as (A), (B) and (C). The candidate is required to decide which of these three forms may be used to express the same meaning as that conveyed by the two given sentences in the form of single sentence.

Example. He was a good teacher. He was a successful administrator.

- (A) Besides (B) He was not (C) In spite of
- (a) Only A (b) Only B (c) A & C (d) A & B (e) A, B & C

Solution. Clearly, the two given sentences may be combined as :

- (A) Besides being a good teacher, he was a successful administrator.
- (B) He was not only a good teacher but also a successful administrator.

The beginning (C) cannot be used to express the above fact.

Hence, the answer is (d).

LATEST PAPER SCENARIO

BANK P.O. EXAMINATION, 1996

Directions : (Questions 1 to 15) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it in the context of the passage. Certain words/phrases in the passage are printed in bold to help you to locate them while answering some of the questions.

The strength of Indian democracy lies in its tradition, in the fusion of the ideas of democracy and national independence which was characteristic of the Indian nationalist movement long before independence. Although the British retained supreme authority in India until 1947, the provincial elections of 1937 provided real exercise in democratic practice before national independence; during the Pacific war India was not overrun or seriously invaded by the Japanese and after the war was over the transfer of power to a government of the Indian Congress Party was a peaceful one as far as Britain was concerned. By 1947 'Indianization' had already gone far in the Indian civil service and army, so that the new government could start with effective instruments of central control.

After independence, however, India was faced with two vast problems; the first, that of economic growth from a very low level of production and the second, that of ethnic diversity and the aspirations of subnationalities. The Congress leadership was more aware of the former problem than of the second; as a new political elite which had rebelled not only against the British Raj but also against India's old social order, they were conscious of the need to initiate economic development and undertake social reforms, but as nationalists who had led a struggle against alien rule on behalf of all parts of India, they took the cohesion of the Indian nation too much for granted and underestimated the centrifugal forces of ethnic division, which were bound to be accentuated rather than diminished as the popular masses were more and more drawn into politics. The Congress Party was originally opposed to the idea of recognizing any divisions of India on a linguistic basis and preferred to retain the old provinces of British India which often cut across linguistic boundaries; it was only in response to strong pressures from below that the principle of linguistic states was conceded as the basis for a federal 'Indian Union'. The rights granted to the states created new problems for the central government. The idea of making Hindi the national language of a united India was thwarted by the recalcitrance of the speakers of other important Indian languages, and the autonomy of the states rendered central economic planning extremely difficult. Land reforms remained under the control of the states and many large-scale economic projects required a degree of co-operation between the central government and one or more of the states which it was found impossible to achieve.

Co-ordination of policies was difficult even when the Congress Party was in power both in the states and at the centre; when a congress Government in Delhi was confronted with non-Congress parties in office in the states, it became much harder.

- The provincial elections of 1937 in India showed that the
 - British rule was not popular in India.
 - Supremacy of British in India was likely to be short-lived.
 - Indians were peace-loving people.
 - India was capable of bringing into practice the idea of democracy.
 - Indian Congress was the single largest party in India.

Income Tax And Central Excise—1996

Directions : In Questions (1-15), you have three brief passages with questions following each passage. Read the passage carefully and choose the best answer to each question out of the four alternatives.

Passage I (Questions 1 to 5) :

The object underlying the rules of natural justice is to prevent miscarriage of justice and secure 'fair play in action.' As pointed out earlier the requirement about recording of reasons for its decision by an administrative authority exercising quasi-judicial functions achieves this object by excluding chances of arbitrariness and ensuring a degree of fairness in the process of decision-making. Keeping in view the expanding horizon of the principles of natural justice, we are of the opinion that the requirement to record reason can be regarded as one of the principles of natural justice which govern exercise of power by administrative authorities. The rules of natural justice are not embodied rules. The extent of their application depends upon the particular statutory framework where under jurisdiction has been conferred on the administrative authority. With regard to the exercise of a particular power by an administrative authority including exercise of judicial or quasi-judicial functions the legislature, while conferring the said power, may feel that it would not be in the larger public interest that the reasons for the order passed by the administrative authority be recorded in the order and be communicated to the aggrieved party and it may dispense with such a requirement.

1. According to the passage, there is always a gap between
(a) demand for natural justice and its realisation.
(b) intention and execution.
(c) rules of natural justice and their application.

- (d) conception of a rule and its concretisation.
2. According to the passage, natural justice can be brought about by :
- (a) administrative authority framing rules suitably.
 (b) administrative authority observing the rules of fair play.
 (c) administrative authority remaining vigilant.
 (d) administrative authority upholding rules of natural justice.
3. 'To dispense with a requirement' means :
- (a) to drop the charge.
 (b) to cancel all formal procedure.
 (c) to alter the provisions of the case.
 (d) to do without the demand.
4. 'The rules of the natural justice are not embodied rules' means that these rules :
- (a) are flexible.
 (b) can not be visualised.
 (c) are left deliberately vague.
 (d) can not be satisfactorily interpreted.
5. From the passage it is clear that it is the legislature that :
- (a) invests the administrative authority with enormous powers.
 (b) embodies rules.
 (c) has the larger interests of public welfare.
 (d) leaves administrative authority enough discretion to interpret rules.

Passage II (Questions 6 to 10) :

Many Sociologists have argued that there is a functional relationship between education and economic systems. They point to the fact that mass formal education began in industrial society and is an established part of all industrial societies. They note that the expansion of the economies of industrial societies is accompanied by a corresponding expansion of their educational systems. They explain this correspondence in terms of the needs of industry for skilled and trained man-power, needs which are met by the educational system. Thus, the provision of mass elementary education in Britain in 1870 can be seen as a response to the needs of industry for a literate and numerate work-force at a time when industrial processes were becoming more complex and the demand for technical skills was steadily growing.

6. The Sociologists referred to in the passage say that the relationship between industry and elementary education was one :

- (a) based on mutual need.
 (b) based entirely on the need of the industry.
 (c) based entirely on economic need.
 (d) based on some inexplicable historical forces.

7. The author argues that :
- (a) formal education can be traced to industrial society.
 (b) industrial society changed the pattern of education.
 (c) industrial society is responsible for expansion of education at the mass level.
 (d) industrial society changed the pattern of education.
8. By 'functional relationship' is meant :
- (a) a short term relationship.
 (b) temporary arrangement.
 (c) practical and utilitarian relationship.
 (d) close and unbreakable relationship.
9. The observations of the Sociologists are based on a study of :
- (a) growth of industry in the 19th century.
 (b) economic system of the 19th century.
 (c) the statistical data available in a historical context.
 (d) the correlation between industry and education in a historical context.
10. The industry needs a literate work-force because :
- (a) it relies heavily on expertise.
 (b) it promotes a competitive spirit.
 (c) its expansion needs sound learning.
 (d) its operations need intricate technical knowledge.

Passage III (Questions 11 to 15) :

Organizations are institutions in which members compete for status and power. They compete for the resources of the organization, for example, finance to expand their own departments, for career advancement and for power to control the activities of others. In pursuit of these aims, groups are formed and sectional interests emerge. As a result, policy decisions may serve the ends of the political and career systems rather than those of the concern. In this way, the goals of the organization may be displaced in favour of sectional interests and individual ambition. These preoccupations sometimes prevent the emergence of organic systems,

Many of the electronics firms in their study had recently created research and development departments employing highly qualified and well-paid scientists and technicians. Their high pay and expert knowledge were sometimes seen as a threat to the established order of rank, power and privilege. Many senior managers had little knowledge of the technicalities and possibilities of new developments and electronics. Some felt that close co-operation with the experts in an organic system would reveal their ignorance and show that their experience was now redundant.

11. The author makes out a case for :
- (a) research and development in organizations.
 (b) a refresher course for senior managers.
 (c) an understanding between senior and middle level executives.
 (d) organic system.
12. The author tends to see the senior managers as :
- (a) ignorant and incompetent.
 (b) jealous of their younger colleagues.
 (c) a little out of step with their work environment.
 (d) robbed of their rank, power and privilege.
13. 'Organic system', as related to the organization implies its :
- (a) natural and unimpeded growth.
 (b) growth with inputs from science and technology.
 (c) growth with the help of expert knowledge.
 (d) steady all-round development.
14. Policy decisions in organization would involve :
- (a) modernization of the organization.
 (b) co-operation at all levels in the organization.
 (c) attracting highly qualified personnel.
 (d) keeping in view the larger objectives of the organization.
15. The theme of the passage is :
- (a) groupism in organizations.
 (b) frustration of senior managers.
 (c) individual ambitions in organizations.
 (d) emergence of sectional interests in organizations.

S.S.C. CLERK'S GRADE EXAMINATION, 1996

Directions (Questions 1 to 5) :
Below is given a passage followed by five questions. Read the passage carefully and choose the best answer to each question out of the four alternatives.

Language, they say, is the lens through which human beings perceive the world. If so, English is perhaps the most distorting lens through which to see animals. It has perpetuated a cross-eyed view of birds, beasts, fish and fowl. The very word 'animal' connotes the brutish and the sensual. Animal instinct implies baseness and vulgarity. The language transfers negative human traits to animals, making the former appear as characteristics of the latter. Thus, the chicken is cowardly, frightened, faint hearted; the goat lustful and foolish; the bear rough and ill-bred. Butterflies are flighty, seals slippery and foxes notorious for craftiness and cunning. Much the worst are the reptiles particularly the snake, creeping, base, malignant, abject, ungrateful and treacherous, always the snake in the grass.

Each species carries its denigration forever embedded in its English name giving the language as many unpleasant adjectives as it could possibly want. To be bull-headed is to be impetuous and obstinate; the cattish woman is spiteful and back-biting. An elephant's walk is ungainly, bird-brains are to be ridiculed and the herd mentality draws only contempt. You can be as blind as a bat and batty, if you are crazy as well.

1. According to the passage, English language is the lens
(a) through which people see the beautiful animal world
(b) through which people see a distorted animal world
(c) through which people see a correct picture of the world
(d) that does not permit one to see a correct picture of the world
2. According to the passage, the chicken is
(a) faint-hearted, the goat lustful and ill-bred and the bear crafty
(b) simple, the goat foolish and the bear rough
(c) cowardly, the goat cunning and the bear ill-bred
(d) cowardly, the goat lustful and foolish, and the bear rough and ill-bred
3. The phrase "Always the snake in the grass" implies
(a) a harmless person
(b) the snake hiding in the grass for its victims
(c) a dangerous person
(d) a person secretly working against you

Directions (Questions 21 to 29) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it.

The Indian economy rests on agricultural base and for decades and generations the picture that India presented to the world was one of the famine and of an unchanging peasantry reluctant to depart from the cultural practices handed down to them by their forefathers. Indian agriculture, it was said, was a gamble on the rains. Some visionaries, and civil servants had sought to change all this. Their experiments at rural transformation were watched with amused interest and if their efforts did not meet with more than temporary and isolated success, it was because they were operating individuals and in very limited areas within what was basically an inhospitable and unresponsive administrative environment. The scale of effort was enlarged during the Second World War with the launching of the 'grow more food campaign'. But, the administrative structure remained largely unaltered.

It was to change all this, that the Community Development Programme was introduced. There were three problems that had to be tackled. First, if the farmer was to change methods, he had to be educated to see the possibility to change through actual demonstration in his field at no cost to himself. If the farmer tilled the land in the same manner as his father before him, it was because tradition had not optimised risks and the farmer had no margin on the basis of which to gamble on strange new practices and risk no merely a financial loss but his very survival. Second, there was no one agency to whom the farmer could turn for assistance or advice. If he wanted better seeds, he had to go to the Agriculture Department. For irrigation he had to knock at the doors of the Irrigation Department. Roads were the responsibility of the Public Works Department. Land problems had to be taken up with the revenue authorities and so on. In short, the administration was totally fragmented at the point which touched the life of the farmer. Co-ordination was difficult and the totality of the farmer's problem could never be adequately comprehended, let alone ameliorated, by the administration. Third, even if the administration sought to promote rural transformation, and the farmers were willing, how was the new knowledge to be transmitted not merely to every village but to each cultivator?

The Community Development Programme sought to provide answers to these three problems. Something in the nature of the single-line administration was established under a chain of command running through the District Development officer and Block Development officer to the multipurpose village-level worker. Instead of having to go to several departments to get anything done, the farmer could now deal with a single community development authority with which all the executive agencies involved in rural development were associated. The many thousands of field demonstrations laid out under the Community Development Programme demonstrated the possibility of change in a manner that carried conviction and at no risk to the peasant. Once the farmer was persuaded, his alleged age-old conservatism vanished and the next problem was to satisfy his evergrowing demands. Meanwhile, the establishment of a National Extension Service first time created a permanent transmission system for the propagation and demonstration of new ideas and methods, not just in isolated pockets, but over very wide areas.

21. For the people in the world, the image of Indian village is that of:

- an opponent of traditionalism and conservatism
- a rule-bound, conservative and culture-groomed person
- an inhospitable and unresponsive person
- a visionary and a perfect gambler
- None of these

22. Which of the following was the objective of launching Community Development Programme?

- To minimise farmer's financial losses and risks.
- To eradicate illiteracy of the rural folk.
- To solve the diverse problems of farmers on a single platform.
- To switch over to mechanisation in agro-sector.
- None of these

23. The success of the efforts put in for rural transformation was limited because:

- these efforts were not whole-hearted
- their experiments were watched with amusement
- their focus was on temporary achievements
- of their limited field of operation in an advanced environment
- None of these

24. The experiments undertaken by some visionaries were aimed at:

- temporary and isolated success
- upliftment of peasants and rural development
- evolution of new operational strategies
- changes in administrative environment
- None of these

25. What was the probable disadvantage of the fragmented administration to the farmers?

- Uncertainty of rains during the crop season

- Loss of time, money and energy
- Availability of manures, fertilisers and seeds
- Exposure to novel techniques and strategies
- None of these

26. The apparent plus-point of the Community Development Programme demonstrations was that:

- they were free from any cost or risk to the farmers
- they were conducted by single community development authority
- they were conducted by multipurpose workers
- they were not against the farmers' traditional practices.
- the changes as demonstrated were all familiar to the farmers.

27. What was the impact of these demonstrations on the farmers?

- Their standard of living remained unaltered.
- Their tendency to cling to past traditions vanished.
- Their unreasonable demands increased disproportionately.
- National Extension Service was established by them.
- None of these

28. If the administration and also the farmers were willing to promote rural transformation, which was the main hindering factor in their way?

- Lack of co-ordination among different agencies
- Lack of availability of facilities for cultivation
- Want of irrigation facilities
- Comprehension of the farmers' problems
- None of these

29. Which of the following was/were the advantage (s) of the Community Development Programmes?

- Diverse problems of the farmers could be solved by a single authority.
 - There was no danger of deviating from the past practices.
 - These programmes didn't involve any risk to farmers.
- All the three
 - Only A and B
 - Only A and C
 - Only B and C

Questions 48 to 50

- (A) In fact, it prevents us from helping children to analyse conflict, to learn to cope with it and counter it.
(B) Children have always known that there is conflict in the adult world.
(C) However, the make-believe world that nineteenth century rationally imposed on childhood in Europe and which we impose in an institutionalised manner through our modern education system can hardly be described as related in this regard.

- (D) We may therefore conclude that conflict in an institutionalised manner is not a matter of faith in children's capacities, rather, it is lack of faith in ourselves as adults.
(E) Further, psychologists tell us and story tellers have always known that the child's desire to search for order and coherence gathers strength from the knowledge of conflict.

COMPREHENSION

Directions (Questions 56 to 85) : In this section, you have six short passages. After each passage, you will find five items based on the passage. First, read passage I and attempt the items based on it. Then go on to the next passage.

Passage I

Though it may be inessential to the imagination, travelling is necessary to an understanding of men. Only with long experience and the opening of his wares on many a beach where his language is not spoken, will the merchant come to know the worth of what he carries, and what is parochial and what is universal in his choice. Such delicate goods as justice, love and honour, courtesy, and indeed all the things we care for, are valid everywhere but they are variously moulded and often differently handled, and sometimes nearly unrecognisable if you meet them in a foreign land, and the art of learning fundamental common values is perhaps the greatest gain of travelling to those who wish to leave at ease among their fellows.

56. According to the passage, travelling leads to

- (a) exploiting foreign lands
 (b) selling our wares to the others
 (c) understanding human nature
 (d) establishing our superiority over foreigners
57. When we meet other people while we travel, we learn to differentiate between
 (a) friends and foes
 (b) communities and nationalities
 (c) local and universal values
 (d) imagination and understanding
58. The author terms justice, love, honour and courtesy as delicate goods because they are
 (a) important (b) desirable
 (c) fragile (d) perishable
59. Travelling helps those who
 (a) want to learn foreign languages
 (b) wish to make money
 (c) want to resolve differences amongst people

- (d) wish to learn fundamental common values
60. The things we care for are available in foreign lands in
 (a) plenty (b) unrecognisable forms
 (c) some form or the other
 (d) easily recognisable forms

Passage II

Soft-bodied animals like caterpillars often fall a prey to voracious hunters like birds or reptiles. Despite having no means to 'actively' defend themselves, with weapons like claws or jaws, they have nevertheless, evolved other equally effective deterrents. A particular species of the caterpillar lives at an altitude of over 2,500 metres in the Himalayas. It uses prominent colours to inform would-be predators of its inedibility. In the event that an inexperienced or adventurous bird did eat the caterpillar, it would probably vomit it out soon after, and subsequently desist from attacking similar species in the future. Though this would do the unfortunate victim no good, the species benefits. A rare example of the martyr among animals.

61. Caterpillars cannot defend themselves because they
 (a) are lazy
 (b) have no claws or jaws
 (c) are passive animals
 (d) cannot acquire weapons
62. The expression "other equally effective deterrents" means
 (a) deterrents that are as powerful as those the caterpillars have
 (b) preventive weapons which have equal effect of others
 (c) preventive equipment which is as effective as something that has been already mentioned in the passage
 (d) mechanism which scares everyone equally well
63. The Himalayan caterpillar uses prominent colours to
 (a) defend itself (b) warn the predator
 (c) reveal itself (d) attack the predator

64. Experienced birds do not attack the Himalayan caterpillars because they are
 (a) diseased (b) inedible
 (c) repulsive (d) very aggressive
65. In the context of this passage, a martyr is one who dies
 (a) to save others
 (b) while defending one's homeland
 (c) without any gain to oneself
 (d) without putting up resistance

Passage III

I do not suggest that the cultural side of education should be ignored. On the contrary, I think, it is essential to the production of the sort of adult who best fits the modern world. But I think that what is important in cultural education should be conveyed, at any rate in the early stages, by methods far more attractive than those now usual. History and Geography should be taught at first by means of the cinema. When taught this way, they will give pleasure; attention will be spontaneous and therefore the impression will be less temporary. In spite of reforming movements, there is still among educators a feeling that what is enjoyed without effort cannot have much educational value. I would have children made aware of the manners and customs of tribes and nations utterly remote from their own. Education conducted on these lines would do more than many books to cure provincialism in space and time and to make children realise that actual human beings with actual feelings can be outwardly very different from the people among whom they live, but inwardly composed of the same human material. A Zulu would not appear strange, remote or savage but one like themselves.

66. The writer said that the cultural side of education is needed to make man
 (a) admire his environment
 (b) suitable for modern civilisation
 (c) appreciate other civilisations
 (d) appreciate one's heritage
67. The writer criticised traditional educators for not

- (a) imparting information about various cultures
 (b) imparting information about remote tribes
 (c) making learning an enjoyable activity
 (d) using cinema as a method of teaching
68. The response of the learners to teaching through cinema is
 (a) superficial (b) enthusiastic
 (c) long-lasting (d) absorbing
69. The expression "to cure provincialism in space and time" means to get rid of
 (a) selfish opinion (b) narrow views
 (c) obscure ideas (d) regional feelings
70. One of the goals of education should be to make children realise that
 (a) there is a unified system of human values underneath cultural diversity
 (b) they must respect values of alien culture
 (c) regional cultures should not be ignored
 (d) human culture is diverse

Passage IV

"The history of science is the real history of mankind." In this striking epigram a nineteenth century writer links science with its background. Like most epigrams, its power lies in emphasising by contrast an aspect of truth which may be easily overlooked. In this case it is easy to overlook the relations between science and mankind and to treat the former as some abstract third party, which can sometimes be praised for its beneficial influences, but frequently and conveniently blamed for the horrors of war. Science and mankind cannot be divorced from time to time at men's convenience. Yet we have seen that, inspite of countless opportunities of improvement, the opening years of the present period of civilisation have been dominated by international conflict.

Is this the inevitable result of the progress of science or does the fault lie elsewhere?

71. The science "The history of science is the real history of mankind" means

- (a) science has given man countless opportunities for improvement
 (b) science and mankind cannot always be divorced
 (c) mankind has progressed as science has developed
 (d) the good and bad uses of science reflect the character of man
72. The epigram given in the passage highlights
 (a) the evolution of science
 (b) the real history of man
 (c) the contrast between science and civilisation
 (d) an elusive truth about human nature
73. The aspect of truth likely to be overlooked is that science
 (a) has made war horrible
 (b) is beneficial to man
 (c) is what man has made it
 (d) has created international conflicts
74. The writer implies that international conflict is the result of
 (a) faulty relations between nations
 (b) human weaknesses
 (c) invention of deadly weapons
 (d) progress of science
75. The last sentence suggests that
 (a) civilisation could prosper well without scientific inventions
 (b) the trouble lies with human beings themselves
 (c) people have missed opportunities to improve their lot
 (d) the horrors of modern life are the inevitable result of the progress of science.

Passage V

There is more than a modicum of truth in the assertion that "a working knowledge of ancient history is necessary to the intelligent interpretation of current events". But the sage who uttered these words of wisdom might well have added something on the benefits of studying, particularly, the famous battles of history for the lessons they contain for those of us who lead or aspire to leadership. Such a study will reveal certain qualities and attributes which enabled the winners to win—and certain deficiencies which caused the losers to lose. And the student will see that the same pattern recurs consistently, again and again, throughout the centuries.

76. The expression "more than a modicum of truth" means

- (a) nothing but truth
 (b) some truth
 (c) much truth
 (d) more than a small amount of truth

77. In this context, "intelligent interpretation of current events" means

- (a) skilful interpretation of events
 (b) intellectual outlook on events
 (c) appropriate understanding of events
 (d) rational explanation of events

78. According to the writer, a study of the famous battles of history would

- (a) provide food to modern leaders for reflection
 (b) be beneficial to wise men
 (c) help us understand the art of human warfare
 (d) be more useful than a general knowledge of ancient history

79. A person who aspires to lead could learn from the history of battles

- (a) the qualities and deficiencies of commanders of these battles.
 (b) what led the previous leaders win a battle
 (c) what made them lose a battle
 (d) the strategies they have evolved in course of these battles

80. A knowledge of history is necessary to interpret current problems because

- (a) they may be repetitions of past events
 (b) only then they can be put in a proper context
 (c) they have roots in the past
 (d) they can be contrasted with the past events

Passage VI

No one knows when or by whom rockets were invented. In all probability the rocket was not suddenly 'invented' but evolved gradually over a long period of time, perhaps in different parts of the world at the same time. Some historians of rocketry, notably willy Ley, trace the development of rockets to 13th century China, a land noted in ancient times for its fire work display. In the year 1232 A.D., when the Mongols laid siege to the city of Kai—Feng Fu, the capital of Honan province, the Chinese defenders used weapons that were described as "arrows of flying fire". There is no explicit statement that these arrows were rockets, but some students have concluded that they were because the record does not mention bows or other means of shooting the arrows. In the same battle, we read, the defenders dropped from the walls of the city a kind of bomb described as "heaven—shaking thunder". From these meagre references some students have concluded that the Chinese, by the year 1232, had discovered gunpowder and had learned to use it to make explosive bombs as well as propulsive charges for rockets.

81. The passage gives primarily a history of

- (a) the bravery of the Chinese
 (b) the invention of rockets
 (c) the attack on China by the Mongols
 (d) the battle against the Chinese wall

82. According to this passage, rockets were invented by

- (a) Willy Ley
 (b) unknown people
 (c) the Mongols
 (d) the ruler of Honan Province

83. According to this passage, rockets were

- (a) a gift of God to the Chinese
 (b) invented in the twentieth century
 (c) invented in 1232 A.D.
 (d) developed over many centuries

84. The phrase "arrows of flying fire"

- (a) means some ancient phenomenon in the skies
 (b) refers to lightning and thunder
 (c) is another name for rockets
 (d) is assumed to refer to rockets

85. The bombs have been referred to as "heaven shaking thunder" because they

- (a) contain gunpowder
 (b) make thunderous noise
 (c) are propelled by rockets
 (d) seem to fall from heaven

ORDERING OF SENTENCES

Directions (Questions 116 to 120)
: In the following questions, each passage consists of six sentences. The first and the sixth sentences are given in the beginning. The middle four sentences in each have been removed and jumbled up. These are labelled P, Q, R and S. You are required to find out the proper order for the four sentences.

116. S₁. Metals are today being replaced by polymers in many applications.

S₆. Many Indian Institutes of Science and Technology run special programmes on polymer science.

P: Above all, they are cheaper and easier to process, making them a viable alternative to metals.

Q: Polymers are essentially long chains of hydrocarbon molecules.

R: Today polymers as strong as metals have been developed

S: These have replaced the traditional chromiumplated metallic bumpers in cars.

- (a) QRPS (b) QRSP
(c) RQSP (d) RSQP

117. S₁. The cooperative system of doing business is good way of encouraging ordinary workers to work hard.

S₆ The main object is to maintain the interest of every member of the society and to ensure that the members participate actively in the projects of the society.

P: If the society is to be well run, it is necessary to prevent insincere officials being elected to the committee which is solely responsible for the running of the business.

Q: They get this from experienced and professional workers who are not only familiar with the cooperative system, but also with efficient means of doing business.

R: To a large extent, many cooperative societies need advice and guidance.

S: The capital necessary to start a business venture is obtained by the workers' contributions.

- (a) SQPR (b) SRQP
(c) PSRQ (d) PQSR

118. S₁. Biological evolution has not fitted man to any specific environment.

S₆ That brilliant sequence of cultural peaks can most appropriately be termed the ascent of Man.

P: It is by means a biological evolution, but it is a cultural one.

Q: His imagination, his reason, his emotional subtlety and toughness, make it possible for him not to accept the environment but to change it.

R: And that series of inventions by which man from age to age has reshaped his environment is a different kind of evolution.

S: Among the multitude of animals which scamper, fly, burrow and swim around us, he is the only one who is not locked into his own environment.

- (a) QRSP (b) QPRS
(c) SQRP (d) SRQP

119. S₆. Since the sixties there has been an increasing interest in human neurophysiology, which deals with the neural bases of mental activity and behaviour.

S₆. So far the journal has published a mixture of articles including reports and investigations.

P: It has format which is very similar to that of Brain and Language, a sister journal.

Q: Since then, a number of journals devoted entirely to this area of research have appeared.

R: Before the 1960s when this field was the concern of a small number of investigators, research articles were scattered in various neurological journals.

S: Brain and Cognition is one such journal.

- (a) QRSP (b) QSPR
(c) RQSP (d) RSPQ

120. S₁. For decades, America society has been called a melting pot.

S₆. In recent years, such differences—accentuated by the arrival of immigrants from Asia and other parts of the world in the United States—have become something to celebrate and to nurture.

P: Differences remained—in appearance, mannerisms, Customs, speech, religion and more.

Q: The term has long been a cliché, and a half-truth.

R: But homogenisation was never achieved.

S: Yes, immigrants from diverse cultures and traditions did cast off vestiges of their native lands and become almost imperceptibly woven into the American fabric.

Directions (Questions 77 to 91) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words in the passage are printed in bold to help you to locate them easily for answering some of the questions.

(Bank P.O. 1997)

It is time we looked at the latent causes. Where does the strength of India lie? Not in numbers, not necessarily in our moral stands on international issues. In modern times, the strength of a nation lies in its achievement in science and technology. This is not to say that other fields do not count.

In the five decades after independence, we have yet to demonstrate our originality in applied science and technology. Though Japan also started like us, by cultivating the technology of the West, the Japanese adapted, improved and displayed originality in several areas of science and technology. The generation which is at the helm of affairs in science and technology in our country after independence, mostly consisted of self-seekers. By and large, with a few exceptions, the science and technology managers in India concentrated in gaining power and influence. They loved publicity. Most of them stopped doing science while they managed science. Things would have been better had they been humble enough to acknowledge the difference between doing and managing science. Instead, they claimed they were the foremost in science and technology, simply because they were at the helm of affairs. As a result, they ceased to inspire the younger lot. India continues to be a borrower of science and technology, even though its potential for originality is substantial.

Our achievements in nuclear science and technology may be dazzling to our people. But, in worth and originality, they are ordinary and routine. While our own people remain ignorant, the people of other countries know all about the pretensions to knowledge of our nuclear science and technology managers. One subtle way of sabotaging our nuclear goals is to help hollow persons reach and remain at the helm of affairs. International bodies came in as handy tools in the subtle process. The veil of secrecy effectively protects the mismanagement in our nuclear establishments. The talk of national security comes as an easy weapon to prevent any probe into mismanagement. On nuclear matters, the media in our country, by and large, avoid the investigative approach. As a result, the mismatch between promise and performance in the nuclear field does not get exposed as much as the management in other fields.

77. The author of the passage has
(a) appreciated the Japanese scientists unduly and exorbitantly
(b) criticised the power-hungry Indian technocrats
(c) underestimated the Japanese and Chinese scientists and technologists
(d) hailed India's technological advancement in the past five decades.
(e) unreasonably criticised the Indian politicians for their apathy.
78. What according to the passage is the criterion to decide the strength of a country?
(a) International understanding cherished by the people
(b) Potential of people to achieve desired targets
(c) The country's population
(d) The moral values of the people
(e) None of these
79. The author of the passage thinks that
(a) India lacks the necessary potential to compete with other nations
(b) India's potential for originality is not put to optimum utilisation
(c) India should continue to borrow

- technology from abroad.
- (d) Our achievements in nuclear science and technology are dazzling
- (e) Our scientists did all their best to inspire the younger lot
80. Which of the following is the commonality between the Indian and the Japanese scientists? Both have displayed
- (a) an advancement of substandard quality
(b) greed for influence and power
(c) originality in applied sciences
(d) remarkable lust for publicity
(e) None of these
81. 'Doing science' and 'managing science' as applied by the author is analogous to.
- (a) fact and fantasy
(b) Inspiration and aspiration.
(c) originality and adaptability
(b) Scientific investigations and discovery of principles
(e) set target and achieving it
82. What does the author mean by 'doing' science?
- (a) Concentrating on such researches which have very low practical utility.
(b) Demonstrating exaggerated performance without achieving the desired level
(c) Displaying genuine acumen and performance in scientific studies
(d) Managing effectively the administrative functions involved in the power game
(e) None of these.
83. Which of the following is the correct assessment of India's post-independence nuclear and scientific advancements?
- (a) Our achievements are of a very ordinary quality and routine nature.
(b) Our achievements in nuclear science and technology are dazzling.
(c) Originality and adaptability is duly displayed in the field of applied science.
(d) Our scientists have given full justice to the developmental needs of nuclear science.
(e) None of these.
84. Which of the following factors help prevent the exposure of drawbacks in nuclear establishments?

- (A) The concept of secrecy
(B) The constraint of National Security
(C) The investigative approach of the Media
(a) only A (b) only A and B(c)
only A and C (c) only B
(e) only C

85. It appears that the author of the passage is fully convinced that
- (a) India's potential for originality in science and technology is over utilised
(b) India's strength lies in its moral stands on international issues
(c) Most of the managers of science and technology are not doing their work properly
(d) Our scientists though criticised in our country are recognised abroad
(e) People lacking the desired qualities are supported to get at the helm of affairs.

Directions (Questions 92 to 97) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below.

(M.B.A. 1997)

The second of what I have called the three methods of setting about the pursuit of knowledge is that of the natural sciences. We need not attempt a complete definition of natural science and if we were to try we should find that its margins tend to grow indistinct as we concentrate on them. A perfectly adequate practical definition is the statement that its central function is to acquire verifiable knowledge. A verifiable fact is one that has shown itself to have a relation to certain definable conditions such that wherever and whenever the conditions have been produced the fact in question has always accompanied them such verification is the characteristic and only sanction of science. Whether we like a given fact or not and whether it seems true or revolts our reason, are quite irrelevant on its scientific validity.

All knowledge comes from noticing resemblances and recurrences in the events that happen around us. Although some of us may be much quicker than others in the power of seeing and comparing, it is obvious that the greatest talent cannot carry us very far as long as observation and experiment are applied only to random experience. It is the discovery of natural science that experience can be simplified so that on the one hand resemblances and recurrences in events can be, more easily seen, and on the other hand the conditions in which they occur can be completely specified. Thus, using the term in the broadest sense, is the experimental method. In one aspect it may be regarded as a mere refinement of the rough and ready trial and error of the craftsman and the common man. In another aspect, however, the change is so great as to be virtually a qualitative one and to make the method distinct from all others. It is not necessary to dilate here on the power it has displayed in advancing knowledge or the huge acceleration it has imparted to that process. It is more relevant to note the limits to which its application is subject. The scientific method is unfitted to tackle directly the turbulent stream of everyday experience and common affairs, it must run off minute fractions of it into carefully specified and engineered channels before it can bring its power to bear. Thus, for example, the work of social government is not as such directly accessible to it on account of the jumbled miscellaneity of the matters involved.

In saying this I must guard myself against being thought to pronounce on a wholly different question which might be supposed to be similar. It is of course, obvious that government now existing fail to make use of much knowledge already established by science and capable of immediate application. Even, however, if this deplorable lag could be abolished, the direct application of scientific method to government itself as a whole would, with our present powers, be impossible.

After what has been to some extent a digression we pick up the line of our argument again when we ask ourselves what part in the scientific method is taken by what I have called the extended reasoning process. The history of science is generally supposed to furnish a wonderful display of triumphs of human reason. I must confess that the reading of it does not induce me any such grandiose conception of the mind. The separate steps of progress have really been much prepared for by long flights of rational forecast. Great investigators seem mostly to have led from fact to fact, to have depended on a kind of intuitive flair for behaviour of their material, and to have used reasoning rather for the planning of their work and the design of experiments than for elaborate structures of argument. Although rational and imaginative speculation is of the greatest general value to science in keeping it from going dry and orthodox, as an actual implement of research it has not very much to its credit.

92. According to the author the triumph of human reason

- (a) is observed only in political fields
 (b) is supposed to be wonderfully displayed in the history of science
 (c) is displayed wonderfully in the foreign policy of different governments.
 (d) is observed in none of the above occasions
93. According to the author, a complete practical definitions of natural science.
 (a) is that its main function is to collect bits of knowledge from natural phenomena which are not repeatable.
 (b) is that its main function is to conduct accurate experiments
 (c) is that its main function is to acquire verifiable knowledge
 (d) cannot be formulated accurately
94. The scientific method.
 (a) is not deliberately applied by some government to the fields when it can bring improvement
 (b) is not always applicable to the situation where jumbled miscellaneity of the matters is involved
 (c) is applicable when all the required conditions are roughly satisfied
 (d) is applicable in every aspect of life and its effect is of immense value to the progress of society and social government
95. We acquire knowledge about anything in the world
 (a) through the quick and accurate observation of talented persons
 (b) from the observation of randomly occurring natural phenomena
 (c) from the unnatural events that occur in nature occasionally.
 (d) from the resemblances and recurrences in the events around us
96. The direct application of the scientific method to government itself
 (a) would be impossible on account of the jumbled miscellaneity of the matter involved
 (b) is not done by any government as it cannot bring improvement to the public
 (c) is never done by any government which aims at people's welfare
 (d) is usually done by all socialist governments.
97. A fact may said to be verifiable when
 (a) it seems to be true according to our reason
 (b) it has shown to have a relation to certain definable conditions such that whenever the conditions are reproduced the fact would accompany.
 (c) it is occasionally repeated though the time of occurrence cannot be forecasted
 (d) none of the above
- Direction (Question 98 to 102) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below.
- Aquisitive nature has become the hallmark of people in modern times.
 It a neighbour possesses a kitchen gadget like a mixie or a grinder, we two have the desire to own the same. All efforts are geared to make this purchase, whether the item is essential or not.
 Shopkeepers vie with each other to sell these things. It is as if the whole world has conspired to sell the mixie or grinder to me whether I want it or not. Of course, my wife wants it.
98. In this passage acquisition means :
 (a) working regularly
 (b) being lazy
 (c) gaining things
 (d) giving away things
99. According to the passage, the purchase is made :
 (a) when the article is useful
 (b) because the article is essential
 (c) whether the article is needed or not
 (d) only when the article is in demand
100. Possessing new things sets up a kind of.
 (a) Competition among neighbours
 (b) love among neighbours
 (c) hatred among neighbours
 (d) indifference among neighbours
101. The writer considers acquisitive nature to be :
 (a) a depressing quality in people
 (b) a bad quality in people.
 (c) a good quality in people

- (d) an encouraging quality in people
102. From the passage it is clear that the writer
 (a) wants to buy a mixie
 (b) is keen on buying a mixie
 (c) does not want to buy a mixie
 (d) is indifferent to buy a mixie.

Directions (Questions 103 to 110) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words / phrases are printed in bold to help you to locate them while answering some of the questions. (B.S.R.B. 1997)

There is a fairly universal sentiment that the use of nuclear weapon is clearly contrary to morality and that its production probably so, does not go for enough. These activities are not only opposed to morality but also to law and if the legal objection can be added to the moral, the argument against the use and the manufacture of these weapons will considerably be reinforced. Now the time is ripe to evaluate the responsibility of scientists who knowingly use their expertise for the construction of such weapons which have deleterious effect on mankind.

To this must be added the fact that more than 50 percent of the skilled scientific manpower in the world is now engaged in the armaments industry. How appropriate it is that all this valuable skill should be devoted to the manufacture of weapons of death in a world of poverty is a question that must touch the scientific conscience.

A meeting of biologists on the long term world wide biological consequences of Nuclear War added frightening dimensions to those forecasts. Its report suggested that the long biological effects resulting from climatic changes may at least be as serious as the immediate ones.

Sub-freezing temperatures, low light levels and high dose of ionizing and ultraviolet radiation extending for many months after a large-scale nuclear war could destroy the biological support systems of civilization, at least in the Northern Hemisphere. Productivity in natural and agricultural ecosystems could be severely restricted for a year or more. Post-war survivors would face starvation as well as freezing conditions in the dark and be exposed to nearlethal dose of radiation. If, as now seems possible, the southern Hemisphere were affected also, global disruption of the biosphere would ensue. In any event, there would be severe consequences, even in the areas not affected directly, because of the interdependence of the world economy. In either case the extinction of a large fraction of the earth's animals, plant and micro-organism seems possible. The population size of Homospiens conceivably could be reduced to prehistoric levels or below, and extinction of the human species itself cannot be excluded.

103. The author of the passage seems to be of the view that.
 (a) the evaluation of the scientists' expertise show their incompetence
 (b) spending money on manufacture of weapons may be justifiable subject to the availability of funds
 (c) utilization of scientific skills in manufacture of weapons is appropriate
 (d) utilization of valuable knowledge for manufacture of lethal weapons is inhuman
 (e) manufacture of weapons of death would help eradication of poverty
104. It appears from the passage that the use of nuclear weapons is considered against morality by
 (a) almost all the nations of the world
 (b) a minority group of scientists who have the necessary skill and competence
 (c) only those nations which cannot afford to manufacture weapons
 (d) most of the scientists who devote their valuable skills to manufacture nuclear weapons
 (e) only the superpowers who can afford to manufacture and sell weapons
105. The author's most important objective of writing the above passage seems to.
 (a) explain scientifically the climatic changes resulting from use of nuclear weapons
 (b) summarise the long biological effects of use of nuclear weapons

- (c) highlight the use of nuclear weapons as an effective population control measure
- (d) duly highlight the supremacy of the nations which possess nuclear weapons
- (e) illustrate the devastating effects of use of nuclear weapons on mankind
106. Which of the following is one of the consequences of Nuclear War ?
- (a) Post-war survivors being very few will have abundant food
- (b) Fertility of land will last only for a year or so
- (c) Southern hemisphere would remain quite safe in the post-war period
- (d) Lights would be cooler and more comfortable
- (e) None of these
107. Which of the following statements (1), (2) and/or (3) is/are definitely true in the context of the passage?
- (1) Living organisms in the areas which are not directly affected by the consequences of nuclear war would also suffer.
- (2) There is a likelihood of extinction of the human species as a consequence of nuclear war
- (3) The post-war survivors would be exposed to the risk of near-lethal radiation
- (a) only (1) (b) only (2)
- (c) only (3) (d) only (1) and (2)
- (e) All the three
108. According to the passage, the argument against the use and manufacture of nuclear weapons
- (a) becomes stronger if legal and moral considerations are combined
- (b) is acceptable only on moral grounds
- (c) does not stand the test of legality
- (d) possesses legal strength although it does not have moral standing
- (e) None of these
109. Which of the following best explains the meaning of the word 'devoted' as used in the passage ?
- (a) overutilized (b) underutilized
- (c) utilized for betterment
- (d) abused for destruction
- (e) dedicated for a good cause

110. Choose the word which is most opposite in meaning of the word 'deleterious' as used in the passage :

- (a) harmful (b) non-cognizable
- (c) beneficial (d) revolutionary
- (e) irreparable

Directions (Question 111 to 119) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words/phrases in the passage are given in bold to help you to locate them while answering some of the questions :

(B.S.R.B. 1997)

Globalisation, liberalisation and free market are some of the most significant modern trends in economy. Most economists in our country seem captivated by the spell of the free market. Consequently, nothing seems good or normal that does not accord with the requirements of the free market. A price that is determined by the seller or, for that matter, established by anyone other than the aggregate of consumers seems pernicious. Accordingly, it requires a major act of will to think of price-fixing as both normal and having a valuable economic function. In fact, price-fixing is normal in all industrialised societies because the industrial system itself provides, as an effortless consequence of its own development, the price-fixing that it requires. Modern Industrial planning requires and rewards great size. Hence a comparatively small number of large firms will be competing for the same group of consumers. That each large firm will act with consideration of its own needs and thus avoid selling its products for more than its competitors charge is commonly recognised by advocates of free-market economic theories. But each large firm will also act with full consideration of the needs that it has in common with the other large firms competing for the same customers. Each large firm will thus avoid significant price-cutting, because price-cutting will be prejudicial to the common interest in a stable demand for products. Most economists do not see price-fixing when it occurs because they expect it to be brought about by a number of explicit agreements among large firms' it is not.

Moreover, those economists who argue that allowing the free-market to operate without interference is the most efficient method of establishing prices have not considered the economics of non-socialist countries. Most of these economies employ intentional price-fixing, usually in an overt fashion. Formal price-fixing by cartel and informal price-fixing by agreements covering the members of an industry are common place. Were there something peculiarly efficient about the free market and inefficient about price-fixing, the countries that have avoided the first and used the second would have suffered drastically in their economic development. There is no indication that they have.

Socialist industry also works within a framework of controlled prices. In the early 1970's the Soviet Union began to give firms and industries some flexibility in adjusting prices that a more informal evolution has accorded the capitalist system. Economists in the USA have hailed the change as a return to the free-market. But the then Soviet firms were not in favour of the prices established by a free-market over which they exercised little influence; rather, Soviet firms acquired some power to fix prices.

111. Considering the literal meaning and connotations of the words used in the passage, the author's attitude towards "most economists" can best be described as
- (a) critical and condescending
- (b) derogatory and antagonistic
- (c) impartial and unbiased
- (d) indifferent
- (e) spiteful and envious
112. The author feels that price fixed by seller seems pernicious because
- (a) people don't have faith in large firms
- (b) people don't want the Government to fix prices
- (c) people do not want to decide prices
- (d) most economists believe that consumers should determine prices
- (e) most economists believe that no one group should determine prices
113. According to the passage, price-fixing in non-socialistic countries is generally

- (a) conservative and scarce
- (b) conservative and inflexible
- (c) illegitimate but beneficial
- (d) intentional and widespread
- (e) legitimate and innovative

114. The author's primary concern seems to
- (a) criticise a point of view
- (b) make people aware of recent discoveries
- (c) predict the probable results of a practice
- (d) prepare a research proposal
- (e) Summarise conflicting viewpoints
115. Which of the following statements (A), (B) and/or (C) is/are TRUE in the context of the information given in the passage? The information in the passage is helpful to
- (A) know some of the ways in which prices can be fixed
- (B) identify the products for which price-fixing can be more beneficial
- (C) differentiate between the economies of various countries
- (a) Only (A) (b) Only (A) and (B)
- (c) Only (B) (d) only (C)
- (e) None of these
116. Which of the following statements is definitely TRUE in the context of the passage? Price fixing is
- (a) an inevitable result of the industrial system
- (b) the joint result of a number of carefully organised decisions
- (c) a phenomenon uncommon to industrialised societies
- (d) a profitable result of economic development
- (e) a result of joint venture of the Government and industry
117. The author's primary objective of writing the passage seems to
- (a) advocate that price-fixing is unavoidable and it is beneficial to the economy of any industrialised Society
- (b) believe the popular belief that the free-market helps enhance development of industrial societies
- (c) create awareness among the general public regarding combating price-fixing by large firms.

- (d) explain the methodology of fixing price to stabilise free - market.
 (e) prove that price - fixing and free-market are compatible and mutually beneficial to industrialised societies.

118. Which of the following statements about the socialist industry is/are false?

- (A) It works under certain price restrictions
 (B) It has no authority to determine prices
 (C) It hails the strategy to price fixing, as a major deviation.

- (a) Only (A) is false
 (b) (A) and (B) are false
 (c) Only (B) is false
 (d) (B) and (C) are false
 (e) Only (C) is false

119. What was the result of the then Soviet Union's change in economic policy in the 1970's ?

- (a) They acquired some authority to fix prices.
 (b) They became more responsive to free - market.
 (c) They had less control over the free-market.
 (d) They showed greater profits.
 (e) They were able to adjust to techno - advancement.

Directions (Questions 120 to 122) :
 Choose the word which is most opposite in meaning of the word given in capitals as used in the passage.

120. PERNICIOUS :

- (a) extravagant (b) harmful
 (c) deadly (d) promotive
 (e) impracticable

121. OVERT :

- (a) obvious (b) concealed
 (c) unambiguous (d) manifest
 (e) inexplicable

122. CAPTIVATED :

- (a) seized (b) tamed
 (c) repelled (d) unlocked
 (e) enchanted

Directions (Questions 123 to 125) :
 Choose the word which is most nearly the same in meaning as the word or group of words given in capitals as used in the passage.

123. ADVOCATES :

- (a) lawyers (b) supporters
 (c) experts (d) loyalist
 (e) recommends

124. STABLE :

- (a) permanent (b) unvarying
 (c) uniform (d) fluctuating
 (e) restored

125. EXPLICIT :

- (a) unambiguous (b) obvious
 (c) clean (d) implied
 (e) specifically

Directions (Questions 126 to 130) :
 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below :

(MBA 1997)

Entrepreneurs innovate. Innovation is the specific instrument of entrepreneurship. It is the act that endows resources with a new capacity to create wealth. Innovation, indeed, creates a resource. There is no such thing as a "resource" until man finds a use for something in nature and thus endows it with economic value. Until then, every plant is a weed and every mineral just another rock. Not more than a century ago, neither mineral oil seeping out of the ground nor bauxite, the ore of aluminium, were resources. They were nuisances; both render the soil infertile. The penicillin mold was a pest, not a resource. Bacteriologists went to great lengths to protect their bacterial cultures against contamination by it. Then in the 1920s, a London doctor, Alexander Fleming, realized that this "pest" was exactly the bacterial killer bacteriologists had been looking for - and the penicillin mold became a valuable resource.

The same holds just as true in the social and economic spheres. There is no greater resource in an economy than "purchasing power". But purchasing power is the creation of the innovating entrepreneur. The American farmer had virtually no purchasing power in the early nineteenth century, he therefore could not buy farm machinery. There were dozens of harvesting machines on the market, but however much he might have wanted them, the farmer could not pay for them. Then one of the many harvesting - machine inventors, Cyrus McCormick, invented installment buying. This enabled the farmer to pay for a harvesting machine out of his future earnings rather than out of his past savings and suddenly the farmer had "purchasing power" to buy farm equipment.

Equally, whatever changes the wealth producing potential of already existing resources constitutes innovation. There was not much new technology involved in the idea of moving a truck body off its wheels and onto a cargo vessel. This "innovation", the container did not grow out of technology at all but out of a new perception of the "Cargo vessel" as a materials - handling device rather than a "ship", which meant that what really mattered was to make the time in port as short as possible. But this humdrum innovation roughly quadrupled the productivity of the ocean-going freighter and probably saved shipping.

Without it, the tremendous expansion of world trade in the last forty years - the fastest growth in any major economic activity ever recorded - could not possibly have taken place.

What really made universal schooling possible more so than the popular commitment to the value of education, the systematic training of teachers in schools of education, or pedagogic theory - was that lowly innovation, the textbook. Without the textbook, even a very good teacher cannot teach more than one or two children at a time; with it, even a pretty poor teacher can get a little learning into the heads of thirty or thirty - five students.

Innovation, as these examples show, does not have to be technical does not indeed have to be a "thing" altogether. Few technical innovations can compete in terms of impact with such social innovations as the newspaper or insurance installment buying literally transforms economies. Wherever introduced, it changes the economy from supply-driven to demand-driven, regardless almost of the productive level of the economy. The hospital, in its modern form a social innovation of the enlightenment of the eighteenth century, has had greater impact on health care than many advances in medicine. Management, that is the "useful knowledge" that enables man for the first time to render productive people of different skills and knowledge working together in an "Organisation". It has converted modern society into something brand new, something, by the way, for which we have neither political nor social theory; a society of organisations.

Books on economic history mention August Borsig as the first man to build steam locomotives in Germany. But surely far more important was his innovation - against strenuous opposition from craft guilds, teachers, and government bureaucrats - of what to this day is the German system of factor organisation and the foundation of Germany's industrial strength. It was Borsig who devised the idea of the Master, the highly skilled and highly respected senior worker who runs the shop with considerable autonomy; and the apprenticeship system, which combines practical training on the job with schooling in the classroom.

And the twin inventions of modern government by Machiavelli in The Prince and of the modern national state by his early follower, Jean Bodin, sixty years later, have surely had more lasting impacts than most technologies.

126. Which of the following could be the most suitable title for the passage?

- (a) Natural resources
 (b) Innovation and science
 (c) Innovation and society
 (d) None of these

127. For the American farmer, the innovation was

- (a) cooperative farming
 (b) installment plan
 (c) harvesting machine
 (d) None of these

128. Which of the following statement' could be termed to be true as per the author ?

- (a) every innovation has to be technical
 (b) management is purely a non - technical innovation
 (c) ship is different from a Cargo vessel
 (d) hospital is a technical innovation

129. Natural resources are so called because

- (a) somebody has been creative enough to put these to use
 (b) these are found in nature.
 (c) somebody has been able to locate these

- (d) None of these
130. The innovation of a text book has
- (a) helped the students
- (b) helped the teachers
- (c) helped the publishers do a business
- (d) helped the cause of universal education

Directions (Questions 131 to 135) :

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below :

August 6, day Hiroshima was atom-bombed in 1945, symbolises at once man's nightmare and his greatest dream, the nightmare of a nuclear war, and the dream of genuine and lasting peace. Beginning with the survivors of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the awareness of the danger and sentiment for disarmament and peace has become universal, transcending national and ideological barriers. And yet more deadly nuclear weapons are being piled on top of the heap, that is enough to wipe out all traces of life from this planet. Forty years after Hiroshima, there is no light at the end of the tunnel - only occasional flickers. The arms limitation talks between the superpowers, who hold the key to disarmament and peace, have yielded nothing so far.

The main responsibility for suppressing the nuclear threat is that of the superpowers. However, other powers also have nuclear weapons and they must share the responsibility. And not only they, but those nations which have or are developing nuclear capability must see the issues in a longer term and larger perspective.

Nuclear war like peace is not divisible. Agreement on disarmament at the superpower level is essential. But, it must be followed by similar agreements on the bilateral and regional level, for all of us are in a sense the citizens of Hiroshima.

131. August 6, 1945 is a significant date in history because it was on this day that :
- (a) a peace treaty was signed.
- (b) the second World War came to an end.
- (c) a nuclear weapon was used for the first time
- (d) Japan surrendered to the Allies.
132. The atom bomb has produced a nightmarish effect on nations because of :

- (a) the possibility of destruction of a whole civilization.
- (b) its potential for unabashed arms race.
- (c) the threat to peace from the powers that could produce such weapons.
- (d) their awareness of man's defencelessness against such weapons.
133. The super powers are trying to counter the dangers of a nuclear war by :
- (a) discontinuing nuclear tests.
- (b) withholding financial aid to nations trying to go nuclear.
- (c) holding talks on peace and disarmament.
- (d) trying to stop making nuclear weapons.
134. The author thinks that negotiations for the control of nuclear arms have made
- (a) little progress
- (b) tremendous progress
- (c) constructive suggestions
- (d) contingency plans to stop the disasters
135. According to the author :
- (a) superpowers alone should shoulder the responsibility of controlling nuclear arms.
- (b) developing nations should hold talks for disarmament.
- (c) other powers that have nuclear capability should join hands with superpowers to restrain potential nuclear powers.
- (d) a nuclear disarmament agreement at the superpower level should be followed by similar agreements at bilateral and regional levels.

Directions (Questions 136 to 145) :

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words/phrases are printed in bold to help you to locate them while answering some of the questions. (Bank P.O. 1997)

In modern times Abraham Lincoln stands as the model of a compassionate statesman. He showed this quality not only in striving for the emancipation of the American blacks but in the dignity with which he conducted the American Civil War.

Lincoln did not fancy himself as a liberator. He thought it would be better for all if emancipation was a gradual process spread over many years. He proposed compensation for slave-owners in US bonds and grants for the rehabilitation of blacks - 'colonisation' as he called it. But fate was to deem otherwise. The haste with which the south wanted to 'break away from the Union with the North, compelled him to move faster than he expected. Perhaps more than most men of his time he had thought through the issue of slavery. 'We must free the slaves', he said, 'or be ourselves subdued'. Before reading his first draft of the Proclamation of Emancipation, he told his colleagues, 'In giving freedom to the slaves, we assure freedom to the free'.

On September 22, 1862, Lincoln set his hand on the Proclamation of Emancipation declaring that on the first day of January 1863, all persons held as slaves within any state, 'shall be then, and forever free'.

Lincoln's revulsion for slavery left him without any moral indignation or passion against the slave-owners. The guilt of the slave-owners, he felt, should be shared by the whole country, the North and the South, for it seemed to him that everyone in the nation was an accomplice in perpetuating that system. To have whipped up any hatred against slave-owners would, to him, have been an act of malice.

I shall do nothing in malice; he wrote, 'what I deal' with is too vast for malicious dealing; As the Civil War was coming to a successful conclusion, a Northerner demanded of Lincoln :

'Mr President, how are you going to treat the southerners when the war is over?'

Lincoln replied, 'As of they never went to war?'

When the news came of the victory of the Northern against the confederate forces, some one suggested that the head of the confederation Administration, Jefferson Davis, really ought to be hanged. 'Judge not, that ye be not judged', Lincoln replied. As to the demand for the prosecution of rebels, Lincoln replies. We must extinguish our resentments if we expect harmony and union. This was his last recorded utterance.

136. What came in Lincoln's way of carrying out emancipation as a gradual process?

- (a) His proposition to give grant for the rehabilitation of slaves.
- (b) His own over-enthusiasm to complete the process fast.
- (c) The inadequate compensation given to slave-owners.
- (d) The haste of the south to break away from the union with the North.
- (e) None of these.

137. The sentence 'In giving freedom to the free' means :

- (a) if we give freedom to the slaves, they will serve us better.
- (b) if we do not give freedom to the slaves, they will free themselves.
- (c) by freeing slaves, we are honouring the concept of freedom.
- (d) by freeing slaves, we are safe-guarding our own interests.
- (e) None of these

138. The term 'colonisation' as used in the passage means :

- (a) handing over slaves to the slaveowners.
- (b) efforts made by American blacks to free themselves.
- (c) making separate dwelling arrangements for slave-owners.
- (d) rehabilitation arrangements made for slave-owners.
- (e) None of these.

139. Which of the following makes Abraham Lincoln a compassionate statesman ?

- (a) His hesitation in striving for emancipation of American blacks.
- (b) His efforts to force the American blacks from slavery.
- (c) His indifference in conducting the American Civil War.
- (d) His efforts to conclude the American Civil War without dignity.
- (e) None of these.

140. The incidents in the passage prove that Lincoln was :

- (a) not an administrator.
- (b) sympathetic and kind-hearted statesman.
- (c) afraid of the majority of slaves.
- (d) unduly concerned for the safety of rebels.

- (e) unreasonably in favour of slaves.
141. According to Lincoln, the culprits of the system of slavery were :
- (a) the slave - owners alone.
(b) the slaves alone
(c) both the slaves and the slave - owners.
(d) all the people in the country.
(e) unreasonably in favour of slaves.
142. The author of the passage seems to be :
- (a) impressed with Lincoln's good qualities.
(b) an advocate of the system of slavery.
(c) an opponent of the system of slavery.
(d) a staunch and biased critic of Abraham Lincoln.
(e) indifferent to Lincoln's remarkable achievements.
143. Lincoln did not have any hatred for the slave-owners because.
- (a) they were in a vast majority.
(b) they were not quilty at all.
(c) they all belonged to upper caste.
(d) they would have treated him with malice.
(e) None of these.
144. which of the following statements is true in the context of the passage ?
- (a) Lincoln turned down the demand of the prosecution of rebels.
(b) Lincoln wondered how mere compassion could lead to harmony.
(c) Lincoln hailed the demand of hanging Jefferson Davies.
(d) The Civil War was fought by the Northerners and Southerners against the enemies.
(e) None of these.
145. Lincoln's reply to the Northerner's question regarding the treatment to southerners proves that :
- (a) The Northerners were in favour of the southerners.
(b) Lincoln did not like the southerner's act of breaking away from the Union with the North.
(c) Lincoln did not have revengeful attitude towards the southerners.
(d) the southerners were wicked in their dealings.
(e) Lincoln could control his anguish against the southerners while expressing himself.

Directions (Questions 146 to 148) :
Choose the word which is most nearly the same in meaning as the word or group of words given in bold as used in the passage.

146. PERPETUATING :

- (a) destroying (b) aggravating
(c) pioneering (d) criticising
(e) continuing

147. REVULSION :

- (a) avenge (b) violence
(c) feelings (d) disgust
(e) apathy

148. SUBDUED :

- (a) conquered (b) entangled
(c) submerged (d) overwhelmed
(e) drowned

Directions (Questions 149 to 150) :
Choose the word which is most opposite in meaning of the word or group of words given in bold as used in the passage.

149. COMPASSIONATE :

- (a) unlawful (b) indecisive
(c) untrustworthy (d) unsympathetic
(e) humanistic

150. GRADUAL :

- (a) rapid (b) dynamic
(c) energetic (d) unscrupulous
(e) enthusiastic

Directions (Questions 151 to 155) :
Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below.

As a result of economic liberalization and entry of a large number of multinational companies into India, the life of most middle class and upper middle class people in the last two decades of the present century has been characterized by artificiality in dress, manners and conversation and elaborate surface of formality and grace covering a certain amount of vice and a great deal of plain silliness.

151. The period discussed in the sentence is

- (a) from 1981 to 1990 A.D.
(b) from 1981 to 2000 A.D.
(c) from 1990 to 2000 A.D.
(d) from 1980 to 2000 A.D.
(e) from 1991 to 2000 A.D.

152. The sentence lays emphasis on the fact

- The most attractive and unique feature of crossword puzzle is that it is a game one can play alone. There are several kinds of crossword puzzles. One kind is the prize competition in which the 222 who finds the correct answer gets a big prize 223 the answers are very hard to find, since several 224 appear equally appropriate: bad, mad or sad, for 225 in the clue sentence, "people are seldom popular". Such 226 attract people who are fond of gambling, because by 227 a small entry fee, they can win big prizes. The 228 type of crossword puzzle is one in which 229 is only one possible answer to every clue. But 230 answer is elusive and calls for some detective work 231 our part. The clue gives only hints about the word. A 232 like 'mate changes to flesh for food' 233 elude you till you realise that by changing the 234 of 'mate' you get 'meat' your comprehension and your 235 knowledge are put to the test.
